THE TERRIBLE TED IN N. Y. CAMPAIGN

Attacks Tammany, Berates Dix and Boosts Henry L. Stimson.

STRENUOUS WEEK FOR HUNTER

Hearst Repudiates Him, But Also Goes After the Democratic Nominee—Roosevelt and Business—To Baltimore.

New York, Oct. 29.—An attack on Tammany Hall as the basest political organization we have seen since the days of Tweed, and on John A. Dix, Democratic nominee for Governor, as the candidate of Tammany, was the topic with which Theodore Roosevelt resumed in Brooklyn tonight his campaign in behalf of Henry L. Stimson.

Pleas were also made for business and political honesty during a series of six speeches. Incidentally he defended the attacks made upon him for his criticism of the United States Supreme Court. The colonel referred to this subject in the following words:

"He (Dix) has objected to me because I differ as to a decision; because I disagree, or criticise, I am not particular about words, I stand for facts, a decision of the Supreme Sourt. Now it is, to my mind, essential that we should have honest criticism of every public servant, be he judge, governor or President or anyone else."

Reparding the "accusation," as he termed it, that he stands against business prosperity, the colonel said that as a New Yorker he felt ashamed to say that there are some respectable business men who have permitted themselves to be so far misled by these baseless and wicked cry as to lend themselves to the effort to enthrone Tammany Hall in power at Albany.

Having finished his first up-State campaign, Col. Roosevelt returned to New York this afternoon ready to deliver speeches in the city and vicinity tonight. During the afternoon he held a two-hour conference with Lloyd C. Griscom, president of the New York County Committee and plans for his movements until election day were completed.

After a rest over Sunday at Oyster Bay he will resume his campaign in the State. On Monday he will make nine speeches in Manhattan. He is expected to make several speeches on Tuesday afternoon in the neigthborhood of Buffalo and will speak in that city in the evening. He will return at once to New York, reaching here at 9 A. M. Wednesday.

He will remain in New York less than three hours, leaving at 11:50 A. M. over the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad for Baltimore, where he is to arrive at 4:16 P. M. Bishop Cranston, of the M. E. church, will meet him in Baltimore, and will go with him to the First Methodist church, where Col. Roosevelt will speak to the faculty and students of Goucher College. In the evening he will make an address at a Methodist missionary meeting at the Lyric Theatre.

Leaving Baltimore at 8:55 P. M., Col. Roosevelt will go to Chicago over the Pennsylvania Railroad, arriving there at 8:55 P. M. on Thursday. He will leave over the Rock Island Railroad at 1 o'clock that night and is due in Davenport, Ia., at 2:45 A. M. After breakfast with the Tri-City Press Club, he will make a political speech in Davenport, leaving at noon for Des Moines. On the way the train will stop at Iowa City, West Liberty and Morengo, where Col. Roosevelt will talk politics from the platform of his car. He is due at Des Moines at 4:30 P. M. That afternoon he will speak to 2,100 high school students and in the evening he is to make an address to the Iowa State Teachers' Association and later a political speech. At 10:40 P. M., he will leave for Chicago, where he will arrive at 8 o'clock on Saturday morning.

A committee from the Ohio Republican State Committee will meet Col. Roosevelt in Chicago and will take him in a special car over the Lake Shore Railroad, across Ohio, to speak for the Republican State ticket. He will remain in Toledo from 1:40 P. M. to 2:50 P. M., and in Cleveland from 5:50 to 8 P. M., when he will leave for New York. It is expected that he will make several speeches from the train on the way across Ohio.

Col. Roosevelt is to reach New York at 9:45 A. M. on Sunday, November 6th, and will go at once to Oyster Bay. He expects to remain at home over election day.

Hearst Repudiates Him.

New York, Oct. 29.—The New York World will print tomorrow a letter from William Randolph Hearst, under date of October 28th, in part as follows:

"An editorial in your paper Wednesday referred to me as a supporter, or rather, a co-operator with Mr. Roosevelt.

"This is not in strict accordance with the facts. During my sojourn abroad this Summer your correspondent frequently interviewed me and often asked my opinion of Mr. Roosevelt's actions, utterances and inten-

THE CAMPAIGNING IN PENDER

Rivers D. Johnson, Esq., Meets Brooks Who Merely Asks Questions. Joint Debate Tuesday Between Faison and Butler.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Burgaw, N. C., Oct. 29.—"Little" Rivers Johnson, the Democratic nominee for the Senate from Duplin and Pender counties, met the "mighty" R. F. Brooks, who, according to report, is poet, artist, author and farmer at the Court House here this afternoon.

There were present at the opening of the meeting 40 Democrats and two Republicans. Mr. R. F. Brooks, who is now seeking office and Mr. J. B. Moore, an old-time Democratic and Republican office holder and several others came in later. Very much to the surprise of everyone and for reasons better known to himself, Mr. Brooks refused to answer Mr. Johnson, leaving Mr. Johnson all the speaking. At the close of Mr. Johnson's speech, which was a splendid arraignment of the Republican crimes, showing how they were a party of broken promises of bonds and bad government, of robbery, rascality, ruin, Russellism and race riot, Mr. Brooks arose to answer two statements made by Mr. Johnson. The first of these was in reference to our election law which Mr. Johnson said could be declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court. The second was with reference to the repudiated bonds which Mr. Johnson said a Republican Legislature could redeem by issuing new bonds in their place and by testing the legality of the original bonds before the Supreme Court of North Carolina and the Supreme Court of the United States where, according to the constitution which forbids any State to pass a law impairing any contract, these new bonds would be declared binding. This was evidently Butler's scheme when he advertised for these bonds to be placed in his hands for collection.

Mr. Johnson's speech made a splendid impression upon the Democrats here and a big majority is expected. They are scheduled to speak at Watha tonight and Currie Monday. It will be remembered that four years ago when Mr. Brooks ran for the house in Pender as an Indepeudent Democrat that he never received a single vote in Burgaw township and less than 100 in the whole county.

Mr. Henry Shaw, Democratic candidate for Solicitor to succeed the peerless Duffy, has just completed a canvass of the county and says that Democracy is safe. He spoke to good crowds at Maple Hill, Long Creek, Gum, Atkinson and Willard and his sound reasoning and good humor has taken with the people wherever he has gone. Those whom he cannot convert by his reasoning and logic, he brings down with side-splitting jokes to the fiddle and bow as an accompaniment.

The biggest crowd Burgaw has seen is expected Tuesday of the coming week when Dr. "Ben Tillman" Faison, Democratic nominee for Congress, and "Brother" George E. Butler, his Republican opponent, will enter the squared arena for one of their closing debates. Dr. Faison goes at it hammer and tongs, does not mince words and has the wily "George" on the run. The Republicans have given it out that their forces will be here in full force and no Democrat can afford to be missing when the fur begins to fly. Democracy is looking bright in this county and the Faison-Butler mill will attract the crowds for miles around.

TWO MET TRAGIC DEATH.

Children Victims of Strange Accidents Near Winston-Salem.

Greensboro, N. C., Oct. 29.—Fathers were the unwilling cause of two tragedies near Winston-Salem, today, in which their children were the victims.

At Raiffton, J. W. Bennett, while gathering his crop of potatoes, threw one toward the basket twenty feet away. The potato struck his four-year-old son over the heart. The child shrieked with pain and fell to the ground, dying before a physician could be summoned.

A few miles distant, the four-year-old daughter of J. H. Everhart was instantly killed when her head was caught between the hub of a wagon wheel and a barn. Her father, who was driving, had not noticed the child until he heard the grinding of bones as her skull was crushed.

THE COLD WAVE ENVELOPES SOUTH

Frosts Generally Yesterday Between Mississippi Valley and Atlantic Coast.

COLDEST IN NEW ORLEANS

Weather Bureau Record for 37 Years Broken.—Snow in Winchester, Va., and Flurry in Fayetteville, N. C.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 29.—Frost again is predicted to occur tonight in the Eastern section of the United States as far south as northern Florida. The temperature during the last 24 hours fell still further in these sections and frosts were reported this morning almost generally between the Mississippi Valley and the Atlantic coast, reaching southward to the Gulf and northern Florida.

Freezing temperatures with killing frosts were observed as far south as the central portions of Alabama, Mississippi and Georgia, the northern portion of Louisina and northeastern Texas.

The cold is moderating rapidly in the northwest. Fair weather is predicted for all districts east of the Mississippi. The temperature will rise in the central valleys tonight and Sunday and in the eastern sections Sunday.

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 29.—A Huntsville, Ala., dispatch says: A freeze this morning carried immense damage to the cotton crop in this section. Ice was half an inch thick. The freeze came before the killing frost, a condition never known here before.

New Orleans, Oct. 29.—Unusually cold weather and heavy killing frosts were this morning reported over practically the entire cotton belt in connection with the high pressure atmospheric area which is now centered over Louisiana. Freezing weather extended as far south as Shreveport, La. and Jackson, Miss. In nearly all sections of the cotton belt fair weather prevails.

The local weather bureau says the temperature will rise generally over this district today, but frost will occur again tonight in Arkansas and louisiana.

As long as the negro is prone to remain indoors when the first cold snap of the season arrives, cotton picking will be retarded in some sections.

Today New Orleans experienced the coldest weather she has had on any October day in 27 years. At 7 o'clock the thermometer registered 40 degress and throughout the day overcoats and and throughout the day overcoats and furs were in evidence in the streets.

Snow at Winchester.

Winchester, Va., Oct. 29.—Snow fell here today with the temperature hovering about the freezing point, threatening disaster to the fruit crop, much of which still is on the trees. Ice is reported from many places in the Shenandoah valley, an unusual condition for so early in the season. Unless there is moderation in the temperature immediately, orchards throughout the valley will suffer big losses.

Flurry in Fayetteville.

Fayetteville, N. C., Oct. 29.—The Observer this afternoon says: "There was a flurry of snow in the down-town district this afternoon and a phone message from Haymount at 3 o'clock, said snow was falling quite lively up there, despite the fact that the sun was shining."

BOOKER T. IN THE STATE.

Greeted Vice President Sherman at Salisbury—Greeted by Crowds.

Greensboro, N. C., Oct. 29.—"I too, am down here converting sinners," was the greeting of Vice President Sherman to Booker T. Washington when the two met today at Salisbury.

The Vice President in his campaign tour of the State reached Salisbury in his special train a few minutes before another special bearing the negro educator arrived. Dr. Washington, at Mr. Sherman's invitation, visited the Vice President in his private car and later both were driven in an automobile to Livingstone College, where they made short talks to the student body.

Dr. Washington is making a tour of the State to arouse educational interest and was greeted by enthusiastic audiences of negroes and white at Concord, Salisbury and High Point.

FORAKER ON STUMP AGAIN.

Former Senator will Discuss Issues As He Pleases.

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 29.—It was announced at Republican State headquarters that former Senator Joseph B. Foraker, who quit the stump this week because the State committee asked him to confine his speeches to such matters as are in dispute between Republicans and Democrats in the campaign will deliver an address at Dayton November 3rd. He also, according to the committee, will speak at such other places and on such dates as he may determine.

It was announced at headquarters that no censorship had been placed on what the former Senator should discuss. He was invited to return to the stump by the Montgomery county committee at Dayton and the State committee.

NEW YORK STRIKE BECOMES SERIOUS

Over 5,000 Men Join in Walk-Out Affecting Nine Express Companies.

RIOTS THROUGHOUT THE DAY

Whole Business District Affected by Strike—Street Disorder in New Jersey—Riots in Front of Morgan's Home.

New York, Oct. 29.—The Metropolitan District is still in the grip of the express strike. Nine companies are now affected; more than 5,000 men are out and rioting. A special was issued at police headquarters tonight holding practically the entire night police force of more than 9,000 men in reserve for an emergency.

In Jersey City, the police, battered by days of street disorder, are still trying to cope with the situation unaided except by private detective, but tonight Governor Fort instructed the Third Regiment N. G. N. J., to prepare for active duty at a moment's notice. Tomorrow determined effort will be made by the companies to distribute the vast amount of express matter that has accumulated, and upon the result of the day will depend whether the malitia is called out.

The nine companies, whose drivers and helpers are demanding increased pay and shorter hours are:

The American, United States, Wells, Fargo, Adams, National, Westcott, and Long Island Express companies, the Manhattan Delivery Company.

There were no fatalities during the day's rioting, but more than fifty strike-breakers and police were hurt, many of them seriously, in street clashes in New York and Jersey City. These riots occurred when wagons manned by strike-breakers were stormed in the face of police repulsion and notwithstanding that a detective with a rifle sat beside each driver. Shots were repeatedly fired over the heads of th besieging strikers, but no sooner was one crowd dispersed than another collected.

Traces were cut, packages scattered in the streets and in some cases destroyed. An appalling lot of perishable goods is collecting and unless the companies soon are able to meet the situation, they will lose thousands of dollars.

In front of J. Pierpont Morgan's home in Madison Avenue, the strikers made a determined demonstration late this afternoon and the police were forced to charge the mob and fire volleys in the air with their revolvers. The fight centered in two American Express Company wagons manned by strike breakers. There were many broken heads, but no fatal injuries. Another serious clash took the form of a running battle between strikers and strike sympathizers on one hand, and strike-breakers and police on the other. The battle started at 14th stret and Fifth Avenue, waged down the avenue, to 42nd street, swept across Broadway, thence south to the Hotel Albany, where the strikers and sympathizers made a final stand.

The American Express Company's wagon, said to have contained $50,000 in specie, was the object of the attack. Police finally drove off the besiegers.

Washington, Oct. 29.—The population of Minneapolis, Minn., as enumerated in the 13th census and announced tonight by the Census Bureau is 301,408, an increase of 98,690, or 48.7 per cent. over 202,718 in 1900.

New bargains will be added to the already large list at Rehder's this week. **

BENNETT CUP LOST TO GRAHAME-WHITE

English Aviator Lifts Coveted Trophy From the Custody of America.

FRENCHMAN IN AN ACCIDENT

Crashed Into Telephone Pole During Thrilling Flight.—Brookins Also Had Hard Luck—The Feature Day.

New York, Oct. 29.—Claude Grahame-White, flying for the Royal Aero Club of the United Kingdom, lifted the Gordon Bennett International Speed trophy from the custody of America today in the fastest time ever covered for the full distance of 100 kilometers, 62.14 miles, around a five kilometer course. His average speed was a fraction better than 61 miles an hour and his fastest lap was 2 minutes 55.77 seconds, but the captain of the French team, Alfred LeBlanc, flying in a similar machine a 100 horse power Bleriot monoplane, was making each lap on an average of 20 seconds faster than Grahame-White, and would have won the cup if he had not met with a disastrous accident in his last lap, when he had the race seemingly well in hand.

His first lap was a new world's record in itself for five kilometers—2 minutes 45.63 seconds, but he subsequently exceeded it with a lap done in two minutes, 44.32 seconds.

LeBlanc was running before the wind with full power at an estimated speed of 80 miles and hour, when the feed pipe from his gasoline tank to his motor loosened under incessant jarring of the engine and he suddenly found himself with nothing but momentum to carry him. LeBlanc was helpless and panic stricken. He tried to tilt his planes so that the last few drops of gasoline might filter down into the engine and lend him strength enough to make a landing. His steerage way was gone and when a puff of wind caught him he drifted sideways, still driving at tremendous speed and crashed foremost into a telegraph pole.

The pole was 14 inches thick, but he broke it in three pieces as if it had been a toothpick. The chassis and steel shield which incloses the motor was completely crumpled, but the solid steel of the motor itself withstood the shock. Had LeBlanc hit the pole in any other manner it is difficult to see how he sould have possibly escaped death.

His accident was accepted on every hand with the greatest regret.

Grahame-White, the winner, admitted that LeBlanc would have won the race and would have established a world's record even better than his own except for his mishap. Charles K. Hamilton, of the American team, was enthusiastic. "LeBlanc is the best track driver in the world," he said. "The way he took those turns was a marvel. Grahame-White would never have been in it except for LeBlanc's accident and no American machine had a chance with him. I am going to throw my machine into the scrap heap and buy a Bleriot before I leave this track. The biplane is out of date, and we might as well admit it."

Hamilton will challenge for the cup next year. The Wright brothers will also build a new racer and go after it. John B. Moisant will be a third challenge. "You bet," he said, "I'm going after it. If I don't bring it back some other American will."

Brookins in Accident.

In addition to LeBlanc's accident today, the meet was marred by a serious mishap to Walter Brookins, of the Wright team, who had taken up the new "Baby" Wright racer for the first time. Brookins was just coming around the turn into the home stretch for a trial circle, preparatory to entering in the Gordon Bennett race when four of his cylinders ceased firing. With only half power he tried first to sustain himself by mounting, then decided it was wiser to land and plunged to the earth. In the strict sense of the word, he did not fall, he dived. And it could almost be said that he made a perfect landing, that is, the angle in which he hit the earth from a height of 50 feet was almost normal. But driven by the wind and his engine he came hurling through the air at such tremendous speed that when he touched the earth his front wheels and forward frame collapsed under him. The machine stuck its nose into the dirt, slowly reared tail upward and finally collapsed, topside undermost, with a thud. Brookins was thrown from his seat in a somersault.

A great cloud of yellow dust and fragments of torn turf went showering into the air from the impact.

It seems impossible that any man alive could step out of that vortex, but when the cloud cleared Brookins was seen staggering about, his arms tightly clasped about his stomach.

While he was staggering for perhaps 20 paces, an ambulance rushed out to pick him up and hurried him to the field hospital. It was later announced that, though he had been painfully injured in the groin and severely bruis-

FREIGHT DEPOT IS DESTROYED

Norfolk & Southern Structure in Newbern Destroyed Early Last Night Loss Estimated at $125,000. Of Unknown Origin.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Newbern, N. C., Oct. 29.—One of the most disastrous fires of the present year occurred in this city tonight, when the Norfolk & Southern freight depot, which was located in the southern part of the city, was destroyed by a conflagration of an unknown origin shortly after 6 o'clock.

Fire was discovered in the upper story of the large building and the alarm was at once turned in, but before the fire company had arrived the whole top of the building was in a light blaze and it was seen that it would be impossible to save it. The building was built entirely of wood and filled as it was with various kinds of inflammable freight, such as cotton, oil, benzine, powder, etc., it was only a few minutes before the flames had spread to the first floor.

Several box cars that were standing on a siding near the structure became ignited and before an engine could be secured several of these were partially consumed. The eastbound passenger train attempted to cross over Trent river bridge. It was thought best not to attempt this and he train was delayed more than an hour.

The loss to the building including their freight and other articles destroyed, will aggregate $125,000.

UPROAR IN PARLIAMENT.

Certain Government Victory Changed to Possible Defeat in France.

Paris, Oct. 29.—The debate on the railway strike in which the government has been bitterly attacked in the Chamber of Deputies by the Socialists, took a new and dramatic turn tonight. During the session which was not only the most violent in the history of the French Parliament, but rivaled in disorder and turbulence the sessions of the National convention during the French revolution, Premier Briand himself was the pivot on which the drama turned and the general verdict tonight is that certain government victory has been changed into possible defeat.

Smarting under the repeated attacks of M. Jaures, the leader of the Socialists, and others, the Premier leaped to his feet and, defending the cabinet's suppression of the strike as revolutionary outbreak, exclaimed:

"If the actual laws had been insufficient we would not have hesitated to resort to even the illegality for the purpose of preserving the fatherland."

An uproar followed these words. The Socialists jumped up and were joined by a number of Radicals. With shouts of anger they moved towards the tribune, crying "resign! Dictator resign!" Desks were banged and the chamber was a perfect bedlam at the noise of shouts and cheers. One Socialist tried to fight his way to the tribune to strike Briand.

Throughout all the premier stood strong and dignified and for three-quarters of an hour waiting patiently but vainly to make himself heard. Finally M. Brissom, president of the chamber, amid cries and imprecations from the Socialists, adjourned the debate until Sunday afternoon.

M. Jaures charged that the mobilization of the strikers—the calling of them to the colors—was an illegal military coup d'etat which violated the most sacred rights of the wage earners. He asserted that the government had played itself into the service of the capitalists.

M. Briand throughout the tumult, hurled back the charges, affirming that he had saved the country from anarchy into which the Socialist deputies were trying to plunge it by opening the way for reaction and the disorganization of society.

The premier, in an interview later, declared that the tumult had been arranged by the Socialists, who seized upon a fragment of his speech to launch a movement of disorder and win over the Republicans who were nominally supporters of the government.

TORPEDO BOAT GIVEN CUP.

President to Roe as a Gift From Mrs. Henry C. Payne.

Washington, Oct. 29.—The new torpedo boat destroyer Roe, which was placed in commission recently at the Norfolk navy yard, received here today a silver loving cup and a portrait in oil of Rear Admiral Francis A. Roe, after whom the vessel is named. The cup was the gift of Mrs. Henry C. Payne, widow of late Postmaster General Payne, and a cousin of Rear Admiral Roe and the oil painting was given by the widow and son of the late rear admiral.

Lieut. Commander Ward, commander of the Roe, received the gifts in behalf of the vessel.

SURPLUS NAMES IN CENSUS.

Caused Statement From Durand Regarding Minneapolis, Minn.

Washington, Oct. 29.—In announcing tonight new census figures for Minneapolis, Minn., Census Director Durand issued a statement in which he said that 4,668 names had been eliminated from the original enumeration, but that there was no evidence of any concerted attempt on the part of the enumerators or the supervisors to fraudulently pad the returns. Most of the surplus names were in two districts.

A. & M. DEFEATS EASTERN

Harvard Wins From West Point and Princeton Beat Dartmouth—Other Results on Gridiron Yesterday.

Washington, Oct. 29.—Georgetown University today triumphed over the University of North Carolina football team, the score being 12 to 0. Though outweighed nearly ten pounds to the man, Georgetown's light, but faster, field proved too much for the Southerners.

Both teams resorted to the old style of football for ground gaining. Fumbling on both sides was frequent, North Carolina being the chief loser in this respect. The kicking of Walsh for Georgetown was the feature of the game. Line-up:

Raleigh, N. At no time during the game was the A. & M. goal in danger, the ball never staying in A. & M. territory long enough for Eastern to make first down. A. & M. scored a touchdown in each quarter, two tries at a goal being missed by Seifert. The forward pass worked successfully five times out of seven by A. & M. and twice out of four by Eastern. Harvard Trounces Army.

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 29.—A blocked kick and a 40-yard run to the goal line in the third period by Capt. Withington, of Harvard, and a goal following was the only score in the game with West Point today. The cadets, who two weeks ago trounced Yale 9 to 3 could make no headway against the Crimson and played entirely on the defensive. But the cadets did some great work in this line and as the last period drew to a close the cadets already beaten saved a second touchdown by a grand stand on their three-yard line and got the ball on downs.

The entire play was in West Point territory and the cadets never had the ball nearer the Crimson goal than the middle of the field.

Few spectacular plays were used and only four forward passes were tried. Harvard resorted to straight plunging football and did not uncover any trick plays except in the last half. Line-up:

Pony Has Arrived.

"Gentle Lad," the Shetland pony, has arrived and is quartered temporarily at the City Livery Company's quarters, where he is most comfortable and none the worse for his week's trip on the train. He is waiting patiently the announcement of who is to be his future mistress of whom he will be most delighted to make the acquaintance.

"Gentle Lad," is truly a most befitting name for him, as he is as gentle as can be, and very easy to make friends with, in fact, he is never so perfectly at ease as when he has someone to pet him. Anyone interested can call at the stable where the attendants will be glad to show him. He stands just 40 inches high.

One important characteristic of the Shetland is the absence of fear, or suspicion of harm. He does not become frightened at a train or any terrible object, even the first time he sees it. He will march innocently into the house (this is where he lives on his native land) and even try to get up or down the stairs.

It must not be supposed that he is only a plaything or ornament. Such a pony is a thing of rare usefulness about a place in many ways; in running errands, doing light work, hauling or carrying the children to school, driving stock, often taking the place of the family driving horse, and it requires but little care and costs next to nothing to keep him. When you call to see Gentle Lad, call him by name as he is particularly fond of it and will give you the most courteous attention when he sees that you know him.

MISS ALDINE BEST.

One of the Popular Workers in District No. 4.

MISS LENA SIMMONS.

Bright Little Miss Who is a Favorite in City.

Count of the Final Vote.

Every contestant is advised to make a special effort to secure as many subscriptions for this final week of the contest as possible. Now is the time for the friends of the various contestants to make good their promises of support, as the time will pass very quickly by, and when the last minute comes, every contestant and her friend wants to be ready and waiting.

The votes will be published daily in the paper up to the Sunday before the closing night. These are the votes that are cast each day up to that time. The reserve votes will be counted by the representatives of the contestants themselves, and need not be cast until almost the last minute.

"Every contestant in the State outside of Wilmington wants to make sure that his or her votes for the last count are mailed so as to reach the contest office before the final hour of closing so they will be in the ballot box in time for the judges, when they open the box.

Notice.

Get your five-vote coupons in before noon of Friday, November 5th, as after that date no five-vote coupons will be counted. The standing of the contestants up to the last count was as follows:

If a woman is strong and healthy in a womanly way, motherhood means to her but little suffering. The trouble lies in the fact that the many women suffer from weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organism and are unfitted for motherhood. This can be remedied.

NATIONAL LEAGUE TANGLE.

Trouble Between Cincinnati and Philadelphia—Lynch Takes Action.

New York, Oct. 29.—President Lynch, of the National League, today promulgated the following:

Contract: With Chicago—Leonard L. Cole, 1911, 1912, 1913. Releases: by Cincinnati to Philadelphia, Philadelphia National League, Fred L. Beebe, John R. Lobert, George Paskerland, John A. Rowan.

Philadelphia, Oct. 29.—President Fogel, of the Philadelphia National League Baseball Club, when informed that President Lynch had promulgated the release of the four Cincinnati players to the Philadelphia Club, said:

"We will be glad to accept those players if they want to give them to us as a gift. No order has been made releasing Philadelphia players to Cincinnati and none will be made until I notify President Lynch over my signature to do so. I have not agreed to an exchange, nor have I acted on Manager Dooin's resignation."

The players released by Cincinnatti were to be accepted by Philadelphia in exchange for four Philadelphia players, according to an agreement by Manager Dooin, of the Philadelphia Club with Manager Griffith, of Cincinnati. President Fogel refused to sanction the deal and Dooin tendered his resignation as manager.

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

De Forest, Wis.—"After an operation four years ago I had pains downward in both sides, backache, and a weakness. The doctor wanted me to have another operation. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am entirely cured of my troubles."—Mrs. AUGUSTE VESPERMANN, De Forest, Wisconsin.

Another Operation Avoided.

New Orleans, La.—"For years I suffered from severe female troubles. Finally I was confined to my bed and the doctor said an operation was necessary. I gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial first, and was saved from an operation."—Mrs. LILY PEYROUX, 1111 Kerlerec St., New Orleans, La.

Thirty years of unparalleled success confirms the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases. The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a remarkable remedy for those distressing feminine ills from which so many women suffer.

If you want special advice about your case write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

COLUMBUS NEWS.

Godwin-Meares Debate—Heavy Frost Reported—Democratic Outlook.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Whiteville, N. C., Oct. 29.—After the speaking yesterday, the Star's correspondent interviewed both the candidates. In his introduction of Mr. Godwin, Mr. H. L. Lyon stated that the Republican party had disintegrated in Columbus county and there was but a corporal's guard left. Mr. Godwin took the 4:30 train for his home. He was in fine spirits, and said he was entirely satisfied with the outlook and would be re-elected by a largely increased Democratic majority. Mr. Meares remained over until the 11:30 night train and mingled with his Democratic friends. He said very small crowds had greeted Mr. Godwin and himself, which he thought showed an indifference on the part of the voters, or that they had this year been surfeited on politics. He said their audiences were generally about equally divided between Dmocrats and Republicans. Mr. Meares stated that of course neither himself nor Mr. Godwin could foretell the result of the election, but he was hopeful of winning. He said a great many Democrats were dissatisfied with the way things are run, and they would either remain away from the polls or vote for him (Meares). But the general impression among observing Democrats is that Mr. Godwin will be re-elected to Congress by an increased majority. Mr. Meares said the Democratic leaders all over the State were badly frightened, and he thought the fight made on Marion Butler would drive many voters into the Republican party, as Butler was a private citizen and not a candidate for any office.

This week ends campaigning, and the Democratic party in Columbus county was never in finer trim. We are going to poll a full vote, and which will show that the Republicans have lost heavily. Many of the old Populists are returning to the party of their fathers and will vote with us next month.

Whiteville is arranging to have a great county fair next Spring or Fall, to hold one week. Our citizens are very much enthused over the proposition, and all the merchants seen say thy will contribute liberally to that end. It is especially designed to have an exhibit of poultry and fine stock, both of which industries are making great headway in our county.

Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Tucker are spending their honeymoon in New York, but are expected home daily. A warm welcome awaits them.

Frost was reported this morning in several localities in Columbus county, and the prediction is that cotton will advance in price by leaps and bounds. It is generally accepted by conservative farmers that our county will not make this year more than two-thirds of an average cotton crop.

FOR TIMES' DYNAMITING.

Five Suspects Arrested Yesterday in Mexico—Put in Port.

Acapulco, Mexico, Oct. 29.—Five men, who put in this port today in a power boat from San Francisco, were arrested and are being held pending investigation into their possible connection with the Los Angeles dynamiting.

The men arrived in the power boat Kate, having been obliged to make this port to replenish their supplies of gasoline. They said that their destination was the Galapagos Island, off the coast of Ecuador.

Mexico City, Oct. 29.—News of the arrest at Acapulco of five men suspected of being implicated in the dynamiting of the Times building in Los Angeles was confirmed at the foreign office here tonight. A telegram to the attorney general concerning the arrests failed to give the names of the suspects or their nationality.

Y. M. C. A. MEETING ENDS.

Evangelical Basis of Association Will Not be Changed.

Toronto, Ont., Oct. 29.—After two hours of strenuous debate at its closing session this afternoon the 37th annual convention of the Y. M. C. A. decided that there shall be no change in the present evangelical basis of the association, which provides that only members of the evangelical churches shall have a vote in the association's government. The question of whether any change is desired was referred to a committee of fifteen.

The discussion followed the report of the committee appointed three years ago to investigate the desirability of re-phrasing the definition and the recommendation by Bishop William F. McDowell, of the committee that the definition of "evangelical" be that adopted by the Federal Council of the churches in America.

Judge Spencer moved as an amendment that the historic basis adopted at Portland, Maine, in 1860 be adopted. The amendement was seconded by Fred B. Smith, of New York. The discussion continued for two hours, after the association voted against any change in the present status.

MRS. HARRIMAN'S GIFT.

Presented 10,000 Acres to State for Interstate Palisades Park.

Newburg, N. Y., Oct. 29.—In accordance with cherished plan outlined by her husband, the late E. H. Harriman, Mrs. Mary W. Harriman presented to the State of New York today 10,000 acres of land, a part of the Arden estate, to be incorporated in the Inter-State Palisades park. At the same time a gift of $1,000,000 was made by Mrs. Harriman for the development of the park and the preserve was further increased by the transfer to the park commission of 700 acres, which had been intended for the new State prison on Bear Mountain, but which by act of the last Legislature was ceded to the park.

When the park is completed it will be the largest recreation park in the world located near a great city. It will extend from Fort Lee directly opposite New York, to Newburg, including the historic and famed palisades on the Hudson river.

In addition to today's gifts more than $1,500,000 in individual donations has been promised conditional on the authorization of the $2,500,000 State bond issue. John D. Rockefeller and J. Pierpont Morgan head the list of donors with gifts of $500,000 each. An appropriation of $500,000 has also been authorized by the Legislature of New Jersey, within whose borders part of the park lies, provided New York makes its proposed grant.

PILOTAGE RATE REDUCTION.

Charleston to Cheapen Charges for Coastwise Vessels.

(Special to N. Y. Journal of Commerce.)

Charleston, S. C., Oct. 27.—At a meeting of the Board of Pilot Commissioners the following resolution was adopted with regard to coastwise vessels, which, when it becomes operative on January 1, 1911, will put Charleston on an equality in this respect with those competing ports at which the lowest pilotage rates obtain:

"That on and after January 1, 1911, vessels running coastwise under the United States license shall pay (after paying inward pilotage for that trip) an annual license fee of fifty cents per registered ton, which belong to the pilot entitled to the inward pilotage fee, and the payment of said license fee shall exempt at this port said vessel for twelve months thereafter from compulsory employment of a pilot, either inward or outward, or payment therefor, unless services of a pilot are accepted. Licenses shall be renewed to vessels after having arrived in port, and if they approach the port after the expiration of a former license the license shall be granted only after they have paid the inward pilotage for that trip, if service has been tendered outside the bar."

There was likewise adopted a resolution declaring that it is the intention of the board to further reduce these rates as soon as the income from vessels justifies or the reduction of pilots by natural causes makes the net annual income per pilot at least $1,500, below which it would be difficult to maintain a competent pilotage service.

BIG FIRE AT WARRENTON.

Part of Business Section of Town Destroyed—Panic Among People.

Warrenton, Va., Oct. 29.—Fire which originated late tonight in Hilbert's Carriage and Paint shop destroyed a portion of the business section of the town, St. James' Episcopal Church and rectory and threatened to spread to the residence section, causing a panic among the residents, many of whom fled from their homes.

At mid-night the fire was under control after the fire department and citizens had made a hard fight, handicapped by a low water supply. Before the flames were checked a large house near the burning church was dynamited to prevent spread of the fire to residences.

The loss is estimated at $40,000, partly covered by insurance. St. James' church which was valued at $20,000 is a total ruin. The cause of the fire is believed to have been spontaneous combustion. Other buildings destroyed were Martin's Plumbing shop, Kirby's Meat Market and a small hotel. No persons were injured.

ALL HONOR FOR BARRY.

Various tokens of appreciation were presented to him and speeches were made by prominent citizens including Mayor Thomas L. Reilly.

THE TERRIBLE TED IN N. Y. YORK CAMPAIGN

tions.

"You must know perfectly well from the opinions I expressed in those interviews, which were published in your columns, that I am not in any sense a supporter of Mr. Roosevelt.

"I know him to be astonishingly inconsistent and I cannot reconcile so great inconsistency with sincerity or with high purpose.

"I know him to be ambitious, vain and selfish, reckless and erratic, and I do not consider these qualities compatible with a sound policy or a safe conduct of public affairs.

"The air is now full of denunciation of Mr. Roosevelt, some of it wholly deserved and some of it entirely unjust and undeserved. I am not a 'co-operator with Mr. Roosevelt,' yet I am not so prejudiced or so partisan that I would not co-operate with Mr. Roosevelt or any other man should he be, or at any time become, sincerely engaged in some worthy and commendable undertaking.

"When, for instance, Mr. Roosevelt declared that it was his intention to drive the corrupt bosses out of the Republican party in New York, I expressed a willingness to aid him in that particular praiseworthy purpose.

"But Mr. Roosevelt's opposition to bosses is too personal, too limited, too restricted: In his own State Mr. Roosevelt did no more than to depose Boss Barnes, who was his personal enemy, and install as boss of the State Republican party Mr. Root, who is his personal friend.

"I am and have been heartily in favor of the Independence League ticket as constituted in this campaign.

"Your editorial finally refers to the amply substantial statements that I have made in regard to Mr. Dix's boss ridden record, trust record, high tariff record and sweat shop labor record as 'exploded campaign slanders'. This editorial reference is not in accordance with the facts.

"The charges that Mr. Dix is Mr. Murphy's 'political puppet' that he is 'associated with one trust and supported by all the other trusts upon the criminal calendar;' that he is on record as an 'advocate of high tariff and high prices', and that he is actually engaged at present 'shamefully and shamelessly in working his employes 13 hours a day for the pitiful wage of $1.75 a day' are absolutely established."

Censured Col. Roosevelt.

President Nicholas Murray Butler, of Columbia University, during his address at the formal opening of Kent Hall, the new law school of the University, took occasion this afternoon to censure Theodore Roosevelt for his criticism of judges and courts. President Butler referred to Senator Root's defense of Mr. Roosevelt's utterance on this subject last night and said:

"On yesterday the junior Senator from the State of New York made an important political speech in which he stated in terms of precision and in a spirit of wisdom the function and the integrity of the courts in our American system of government. But I fear that in the enthusiasm of the moment he under-estimated the persistency, the greatness of the malice and the cunning of those who war against them. It is one thing to analyze and to discuss in a scientific and judicial spirit the opinion of a great court; it is another thing to pour ridicule upon its membership and bring discredit upon the capacity and intelligence of its personnel in the presence o the shouting mob.

"The day that Kent Hall ceases to harbor the men who will teach and stand for the teachings of fundamentals of our American civil liberty and its judicial interpretation and protection that day let us tourn the splendid halls into a morgue."

President Taft sent a letter congratulating the University on the completion of the new building.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 29.—Unparalled in the annals of medicine is what local doctors are saying of the case of Johnnie Green, eleven years old, of this city, who has a hole straight through his head from temple to temple, behind the eye balls, made by a bullet fired Thursday by his chum Burley Paine while tney were playing Indian. Such a wound ordinarily causes almost instant death.

I wish I were able to go from the East to the Tennessee line and tell this message to all the people. I have not long to live, I have children and grandchildren; but I say to you that no stroke of this right hand shall aid in putting the Republican party over these children and grandchildren. I say it because I have tried it in the past and, having tried it in the past and having found nothing but ruin and disgrace, I cannot help but fight it now.—C. B. Watson.

King George, of England, has dismissed his old barber and secured another. The only importance attached to this anouncement is that it will bring on more talk.

In spite of successful refutation of absurd asservations, Republican spellbinders continue to reiterate their fallacious declaration that the tariff is responsible for good wages and good price for farm products. Although you are "from Missiouri" you are entitled to vote in North Carolina against Republicans who make claims like that in violation of the law of supply and demand. Lots of folks haven't got any job at any kind of wages and the majority haven't got anything to sell even at high prices.

Marion Butler can now recognize the propriety and prescience which dictated the refusal of reputable Democrats to enter into a joint wrangle with him. Just think of chewing the political and personal rag with a man who denies things vehemently, while the truth with his own signature attached to it was dangling over his head, liable at any moment to be flaunted in his face with a great and triumphant flaunt, going to prove that a spieler all wool and a yard wide had been up against a man of straw!

A Republican writes to the Chattanooga Times to denounce the "Sanders-Evans-Raulston gang with a big S, a lesser E and a little R," who are behind the Hooper fusion movement Hooper because of the character and reputation of the Republican leaders who are behind him. Verily, opposition to Democracy seems to be the same disreputable article in Tenessee as it is in North Carolina. When you hear of opposition to the Democratic party in any Southern State it is repellant force which has about it "gang" characteristics.

The United States Treasury Department is issuing 75,000,000 new one-dollar bills. None of them will come your way on account of the tariff but if you earn any of them you will have to pay them right out for the high-price necessaries of life. One of these new dollars will only buy three pounds of breakfast strip! Indeed there is no wonder that the Baltimore Sun remarks that "if this cost of living keeps on, they will be giving bacon banquets." First thing you know we may boast that we had bacon for our Thanksgiving dinner.

A Philadelphia woman has been granted a divorce on the ground of cruel treatment, the facts being that for weeks and weeks at a time covering a period of about three and a half years her husband gave her "the silent treatment," persistently refusing to speak to her even when company was present. In all probability the poor fellow wanted to give her a chance to do all the talking and really may not have been able to get in a word edgeways. However, this will do him no good now, as the nuptial knot has been severed.

NOTABLE IMPROVEMENT.

Few of the citizens of Wilmington realize that, in the southern part of our city, during the past few months, there has been inaugurated a great undertaking, which, in a short time, will make available for factory and wharf purposes a large area up to this time hardly considered a part of the city proper. We refer to the new anchorage basin now being dredged by the United States government under the plans for the improvement of the river and harbor. This basin will extend from opposite Church street to a point below the southern limits of the city and it will be dredged to a depth of 28 feet at mean low water, while the average width of the anchorage basin dredged to that depth will be 800 feet.

Such a commodious anchorage would be a credit to a much larger city than Wilmington, but owing to the stupendous advances the port has recently made, in both imports and exports, the government has pursued the wise course of providing for the flattering commercial future of the port as well as its present needs. Some conception of the magnitude of this work can be had, when it is made known that over three hundred thousand cubic yards of sand must be removed from the bed of the river, the three government dredges now being busily engaged on this work. When the basin is completed it will afford a safe and commodious anchorage for all ships entering the port, and also will bring into prominence and enhance the value of the harbor frontage and all property in the southern section of our city.

This brings us to the second important improvement that will be of interest to our entire community. In order to economically handle such a vast quantity of dredged material, Captain Earl I. Brown, of the Engineer Corps, made an arrangement with the Kidder Lumber Company to place this sand on the latter's property. This is a great advantage to both parties, for it not only means a distinct saving to the government, but will increase the city's available water frontage by nearly half a mile.

The lower timber pens of the Kidder Lumber Company already have been filled with clean sharp sand, the best possible foundation for factories and warehouses, and the low lying fields adjoining, once the home of the coot and the rice-bird, are being rapidly filled in, making firm land suitable for any kind of buildings. By the time this work is completed, the entire tract will be covered with sand to an average depth of three or four feet above high water mark, making it higher and safer than any other water frontage in the city, thus insuring a great saving in construction expense to the prospective builder, as expensive piling will, in a large measure, be unnecessary.

This water frontage, which is virtually being added to our city, extends along the river for a distance equal to that between Market and Red Cross streets, almost a city in itself. It is the object of the owners to divide this vast tract into factory and warehouse sites, and as a branch of the railroad belt line runs through the property and will be extended so as to afford rail facilities for the entire tract, there is no reason why this section should not shortly witness a great development.

The interest being taken by the Commercial Club and other organizations of our business men in bringing new enterprises to Wilmington, in order to make it a manufacturing city as well as a great distributing center, deserves the hearty support of our entire community, and as suitable sites at reasonable prices are among the most essential points in securing new factories, the improvements now being made by the government assume an importance of great interest to the general public.

Before marrying your soul mate appoint a guardian for yourself and a trustee for your mate.

Some married men hate cold weather because they feel like they ought to get up in the morning and make the fire. Winter seems to add to the burdens of the married man who doesn't shirk his part of the work.

Republican spielers might be able to dilate upon the policies of Republicanism, but what's the use when they can't defend the records of their party while possessing personal records which disqualify them from appearing as creditable witnesses for the defense. Joint debates with lame ducks from a befouled puddle have all the apeparance of an inanimate fizzle.

Confederate veterans stood on the firing line and were true to their colors in war times are about the last men in North Carolina to dip their flag to Mary Ann Butler and Mott Morehead. It takes men like Butler and Morehead to sneak up North and apologize for, if not renounce, the principle for which Confederate soldiers fought and won the victory of undying fame. That record cannot be sullied by keeping step to the whangdoodleism of the brazen bondster.

SHERMAN THE SPIELER.

We see no use of frawning on or slopping over a man because he is either a President or a Vice President, but dignified respect for these high offices of our Republic is due to the President and Vice President, so it was quite proper that Charlotte, Greensboro and Asheville should have shown courtesies to Vice President Sherman while he was in those cities a few days ago. However, the Vice President came into North Carolina as a Republican partisan making campaign speeches, and while we doubt the propriety of it, it cannot be denied that he has a right to take to the stump as a politician spieler. In taat capacity, Mr. Sherman is not entitled to any more respect than any other reputable campaigner.

Because Mr. Sherman is Vice-President it must not be assumed that he knows it all and that he can tell the South in a patronizing way what kind of politics it should have, because the South has had the same opportunity as Mr. Sherman to study political questions, comprehend party principles and watch the records of the political parties. The fact is, Vice President Sherman is only one of the political bosses of New York, recently put out of business by Theodore Roosevelt. We do not attach as much importance to what he says from a political-standpoint, as we do to the most humble Democratic spieler in North Carolina. Mr. Sherman speaks from the standpoint of a Northerner, a hidebound Republican, and a standpatter, only interested in the securing as many votes as possible for his party in the South.

The Vice President, in his Charlotte speech, compared the records of the National parties, making it greatly to the advantage of his own party, taking it for granted that Southerners are ignorant of the fact that the National Democratic party has never had much of an opportunity to make a record at Washington, whereas, the Republican party has been in power nearly 50 years and is responsible for reconstruction, fusion, high tariffs, numerous panics and ruinous fianacial legislation that had to be undone by Grover Cleveland's administration. Talking about wild-cat money, free silver heresy, etc., his party has never given this coutnry a safe financial system, and is right now issuing $75,000,000 in "Greenbacks" under authority of the act of March 4, 1907. Uneasiness is felt in financial circles in New York that this means only the beginning of an inflation of the currency without a basis at allequal to "free silver." The New York Journal of Commerce calls this proposition to issue $75,000,000 in one dollar "greenbacks" "an act of financial heresy that ought to be stopped."

Mr. Sherman will learn perhaps that the South understands his party very well and knows that it is not at all safe for the South. There is also every evidence from its wild-cat financial legislation at different times, its numerous panics, and legislation in behalf of favored interests, that it is not as safe as the Democratic party under which this Union flourished till 1860. The South has every reason, forits own safety as well as the safety and honor of the Nation, to trust the Democratic party.

A Wilmington woman calls her husband "Teddy" because he pretends to know how everything about the house ought to be done and won't even bring in the wood to show how easy it is to do so.

The Washington Post exclaims: "Muzzle Foraker! Sidetrack Roosevelt!" The Post should be suppressed for rashly advocating action that would eliminate the endmen of political minstrelsy. Dare not remove the role from an already too serious "play to the galleries."

The Confederate veteran is a glorious relic of the "Lost Cause." That North Carolina Republicanism, branded with reconstruction and fusion infamies, should make the unholy attempt to induce the followers of Lee and Jackson to join its lost cause, is the limit. The unmitigatedness of gall like that is utterly overwhelming.

Lovely portraits of Mrs. Bellamy Storer have appeared in the Boston Globe and other Northern papers. There is a question of veracity between that handsome woman and Col. Roosevelt. After having seen the lady's picture, and being perfectly familiar with the cartoons of the Colonel, we do not hesitate to say that the Colonel's pictures give him away. They furnish ocular evidence that it isn't Mrs. Storer who has made statements that are impossible of substantiation, whether those statements have been made knowingly and deliberately or whether they were the hasty utterances of a distinguished individual who has more things to think of than he can remember correctly. Then, again, the inherency of the inconsistency and a somewhat reckless inaccuracy on the part of the Rough Rider logically lead to the presumption that the lady's recollection is more to be depended upon.

HIGH HONOR FOR NEGRO.

The so-called "respectable Republican party of North Carolina" which is "lily white" in management but piebald in comparison, will not thank President Taft for making announcement a few days ago that he has paid a negro lawyer almost the highest honor within his gift. The Richmond Virginian says the Presidents appointment of William H. Lewis', a native negro of Virginia, to be Assistant Attorney General of the United States, "marks the highest office to which any negro has yet attained in this country."

The white Republican party in North Carolina and the "lily white" Republican party organied in South Carolina a few days ago by John C. Capers will be somewhat set back, inasmuch as North Carolina Republicans especially have been boasting that the Republican party is not a negro party either State or National. However, now comes the President, whom they all endorsed, appointing a negro to a great government position scarcely less important than that of a member of the Cabinet. The appointment carries with it the entree of Assistant Attorney General Lewis into all State entertainments and receptions. Socially, as well as officially it places the negro lawyer on a par with the most eminent officials of the government.

The Richmond Virginian says "Lewis is a man of high education and undoubted legal ability already proven in government service in Boston," but that paper thinks the President "tempts fate" in so elevating a negro that it will be more injurious to the race than it will do good. There is also political significance to be attached to the appointment of Lewis, for the President at first ignored the negro, but seing that he would be of use to him politically two years from now, he has made up his mind to recognize the negro. The "lily white" Republicans in North and South Carolina will also hasten to use the negro whenever they need him in their business. Yet, right now, while North Carolina Republicans are boasting of having a white man's party it was mighty bad in the President to drop a fly in their ointment.

CURRENT COMMENT.

Mr. Foraker is driven from the stump in Ohio because he would not subscribe to Mr. Roosevelt's New Nationalism. Yet there are Republicans who profess to ridicule the idea of a third term or a dictatorship.—New York World.

There was not the slightest attempt to conceal the fact that Mr. Sherman's visit to Charlotte was in the interest of the candidacy of Mr. S. S. McNinch, the Republican candidate for Congress. It is in order for Mr. Webb's friends to govern themselves accordingly.—Charlotte Chronicle.

"How come" the Hon. E. A. Holton has quit making speeches? He was a-shellin' of the woods for some time, but all at once the firing ceased. He had Blair in tow at first but Settle cabbaged him and ran away with him. Is this the reason Holton quit? Did he get mad, or did Morehead pull him off.—Greensboro Record.

The Colonel certainly owns the butter knife. He told the Massachusetts politicians that he thought their platform ought to be adopted into the national platform; then he went to New Hampshire and told the politicians there the same thing. If he keeps this up long enough, he may run into an inconsistency—not that such a hapening would disturb the Colonel! —Boston Daily Globe.

Vice President Sherman will do some political spieling in North Carolina this week. Will he please state for the benefit of the natives whether he "et" with Senator Lorrimer to spite Roosevelt or merely to show that he did so to line-up with the colonel as "men not worth their salt."—Wilmington Star. It doesn't matter whether Sherman explains it or not, the public long ago made up its mind about it.—Durham Sun.

Colonel Roosevelt refused to attend the banquet at the Hamilton Club, in Chicago, unless the invitation of Senator Lorrimer was recalled. The invitation was recalled and the Senator eliminated. The other day ex-Secretary Garfield refused to speak for his party in Ohio unless the invitation to Senator Foraker was recalled. The invitation was recalled and another Senator eliminated. Garfield evidently learned at school that game of "follow your leader" to some purpose.—Baltimore Sun.

It is something new in the annals of this country for a woman to be awarded damages for the killing of her husband, but it has been done in both South Carolina and Alabama, and there are few States whose example might be better followed than that of those two. It would make murder a heap less common if the juries of the country would make all men who take the lives of their fellowmen pay the widow and the orphans, or the parents or the brothers and sisters, or the State whenever a life is taken. If it is worth while killing a man it is certainly worth while paying somebody for it.—Florence Times.

A party paper needs to be careful how it editorializes these days, lest it tread on somebody's toes. It recalls the predicament of the new preacher who was warned by his deacons that he needed to avoid some subjects in hi preaching. "Don't touch on progressive euchre," said one deacon, "for it will offend Col. Blank, who is a liberal contributor." "I advise you against bearing down on whiskey too hard," said another," "for Mr. Jones, the distiller, atends our church and he, too is a good payer." And so it went on through the catalogue, till the new preacher asked in desperation, "What shall I preach about. "Oh," put in another deacon, "just roast old Judas Iscariot; he ain't got a friend in the congregation."—Webster's Weekly.

The Rockingham Post this week carries the advertisement of the second sale of the Blewett's Falls Power plant. The Post says the sale this time is sure to be a go. It says that the upset price is $750,000 and this breaks the trouble, for at the previous sale, the upset price was $1,000,000. "At the reduced figure," says The Post, "a purchaser is certain. Most likely it will be the Southern Power Company. If so, all right. The Southern Power Company is good enough for Rockingham and big enough for us to do business with." We hope The Post's expectations will be realized. The best thing that could happen for Rockingham and all the territory between Charlotte and Wilmington, would be the purcahse of Blewett's Falls by the Charlotte company.—Charlotte Chronicle.

BOOKER WASHINGTON.

Coming of Distinguished Negro Educator to Wilmington Next Week.

(By Rev. Geo. D. Carnes.)

The committee on arrangements for the Booker T. Washington visit the 3rd of November has completed all arrangements for the occasion. The party will arrive over the A. C. L. road from Newbern at 6:50 and will be taken immediately to lunch and proceed to the Opera House where the speaking will take place. The Princess street side of the Opera House is for white people, and tickets have been sent all who helped to make the occasion possible, and if any should fail to receive a ticket please call 'phone 1202 and tickets will be sent. The ticket idea obtains only to facilitate matters on the lower floor, no charges are being made at all. The entire arrangements have been made possible by a generous public, or will be made so before the occasion is finally ushered in. All the colored churches are asked to take a special collection today for that purpose. A self-supporting banquet will be tendered the party at the True Reformers' Hall on Seventh street immediately after the speaking, tickets for the banquet can be had from the committee for 75 cents each.

The committee has endeavored to operate this affair on the most economical basis, consistent with the occasion; as Dr. Washington has a message for all classes of our people, the committee desires the owners and operators of mills, factories, etc., to call the attention of our people to the time and place and occasion; 8 P. M., Opera House, Thursday, November 3rd. The party entered the State Thursday at Charlotte and began the tour of the State. There will be many distinguished negroes in the party who have won success in every walk of life, and it is easily the most distinguished party of colored men that ever toured the State, and the committee is trying to do justice to the well earned reputation of the citizens generally. The committee will meet in a final session Monday night at 7 o'clock in the office of O. H. Lennon, Sixth and Red Cross streets.

COMMERCIAL CLUB ACTIVE.

Committees Appointed to Advance Certain Public Acairs.

Committees were appointed yesterday by Mr. C. N. Evans, president of the Commercial Club, to advance various public interests and make report at the various meetings of the club during the Fall and Winter. The matters directly named are the proposed bridge over the Northeast river to connect New Hanover and Pender county; a free ferry on the Cape Fear river between New Hanover and Brunswick and wharf and storage facilities at the port. For the bridge matter are Messrs. J. H. Rehder, chairman; C. E. Taylor, Jr., and Thos. H. Wright; the free ferry committee, Messrs. J. M. Solky, chairman; W. E. Perdew, J. O. Reilly; wharves and storage facilities, Messrs. C. C. Covington, chairman; M. W. Jacobi, L. B. Rogers. The committees will confer with the authorities in an effort to devise ways and means to secure these public improvements.

MR. J. D. BATTS DEAD.

Passed Away at His Residence at Holly Ridge Friday Evening.

Friends in this city will learn with much regret of the death of Mr. J. D. Batts, who passed away at his home at Holly Ridge, Friday evening at 6:50 o'clock. He was in the 55th year of his age and was one of the best known and most prominent citizens of that section and his passing is generally regretted. He is survived by a wife and four children who have the sympathy of a great many friends. The funeral will be held from the late residence at 11 o'clock this morning, and the interment will be in the family burying ground nearby.

RURAL SCHOOL TEACHERS

Regular Monthly Meeting Held at the Court House Yesterday Morning. Pleased to Learn of Offer of Dental Association.

The rural school teachers of the county in the second monthly meeting of the Fall at the Court House yesterday morning learned from Prof. Washington Catlett, superintendent of public instruction, the offer of the Wilmington Dental Association to examine free of charge the mouths of the rural school children who desire it.

The teachers were very glad indeed to learn that the dentists had extended their oner to the city school children so as to include those of the rural districts and felt sure that the results would be very beneficial. The main purpose in presenting the matter to the teachers yesterday was to secure their views as to whether it would be practicable to carry out the offer of the dentists and without exception they agreed that it could easily be done.

The plan is for one of the dentists to accompany Superintendent Catlett on his regular visits to the schools and there examine the mouths of the children, ascertain the condition and make suggestions to remedy any defects that may be found. Most of the schools are located in a short distance of Wilmington and the dentists will not be absent from the city no afternoon more than a few hours at most. This plan is the one most likely to be adopted.

The association then proceeded to the regular programme, McMurray's "How to Study," being taken up and two chapters were read by Superintendent Catlett, at the conclusion of which Prof. Catlett said that he wanted to have some practical teaching by the teachers during the remainder of the school year and appointed Miss Sallie O. Edwards, of Masonboro school, district No. 4, to have charge of the "school" at the November meeting of the association. She will be expected to give a class recitation and some points as to the best method that may be used to teach reading, after which there will be a general discussion. This is expected to prove a great feature of the meetings during the remainder of the school year.

Recently Prof. Catlett secured from the County Board of Education authority to have a quantity of report blanks printed and place copies of the same in each school so that the teachers could give the parents a report of the work of the children at the end of each month. This had never been done before except in a few schools where it was undertaken by the teachers themselves. Yesterday Prof. Catlett asked the teachers as to the result of the report blanks, and each stated that the monthly reports to the parents had stirred up deepest interest and better attendance on the part of the pupils, all of whom want to make as good a showing as possible. They were well pleased with the results in this regard.

Mr. O. A. Hamilton, principal of Hemenway School, and Mr. J. D. Boushall, of the High School faculty, were visitors at the meeting yesterday, being present by invitation of Prof. Catlett.

That the teachers of the county take a great interest in the association and strive to be present at every meeting no matter what difficulties have to be surmounted, was clearly illustrated yesterday. Mr. R. F. Lewis, teacher in the Carolina Beach school, was unable to attend the first meeting of the Fall, but was determined to be present yesterday at any sacrifice. There being no convenient means of transportation from the lower edge of the county, he set out afoot and walked the entire distance of 18 miles and it is needless to say that he arrived on time. Mr. Lewis is considered one of the best teachers in the county and his school shows up splendidly. According to the school census there are 26 children in the district; 22 of this number are on the school roll and the average attendance for the month is 20.

A new school house will shortly be erected near Greenville Station, and bids for the work are now being received at the office of Prof. Catlett. The building will be very much like the one at Castle Haynes. Work of constructing the building begins within the next two weeks, it is thought.

EXPERT ON ILLUMINATION.

Lecture and Demonstration at Tidewater Offices Tuesday Night.

Mr. H. W. Karstens, illuminating engineer of the Holophane Company, will arrive in Wilmington tomorrow to arrange for his exhibition of scientific illumination and lecture at the offices of the Tidewater Power Company, No. 223 Princess street, Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. The lecturer will show the correct way to light any particular space and at the close of the lecture he will make appointments with those interested to help them solve their lighting problems. He will remain in Wilmington four days and will be available for individual work Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

The lecture will be given in the vacant store which opens into the offices of the Tidewater Power Company, and is for the benefit of those already using electricity or gas as well as those who are still using oil.

Will Be Married This Morning.

Mr. Blicker B. Sornsen, son of Mr. Oscar Sornsen, of Brunswick county, and Miss Mollie Jones, of this city, daughter of Mr. Wm. Jones, of Lake Waccamaw, will be maried in this city this morning at 9 o'clock. The ceremony will be performed at No. 721 South Eighth street by Rev. J. W. S. Harvey. Friends will extend to the couple their best wishes. Licence was also issued yesterday for the marriage of Mr. Walter Julius Tompkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Tompkins, of Scott's Hill, and Miss Mary Elizabeth Ramsey, daughter of Mrs. Mary Ramsey, of Brunswick county.

New bargains will be added to the already large list at Rehder's this week. **

GODWIN MEARES TOMORROW

Candidates for Congress Will Have Joint Discussion in This City at Night—Senator Simmons on Tuesday Night.

The first Democratic speech in New Hanover county during the present campaign will be made in this city tomorrow night by Congressman Hannibal L. Godwin, of Dunn, candidate for re-election, when he meets in joint debate Iredell Meares, Esq., of this city, the Republican nominee. This will be next to the last joint discussion between these opposing candidates, the present schedule of appointments concluding at Southport Tuesday.

The speakers will doubtless be greeted by an overflow audience in this city. There is perhaps greatest interest here in the joint discussion than at any other place in the district and hundreds will want to hear them. Official announcement of the joint debate Monday night was made yesterday in an official card signed by J. W. Brooks, chairman Republican Executive Committee, and Marsden Bellamy, chairman Democratic Executive Committee:

Congressman Godwin will be introduced by Woodus Kellum, Esq., who will represent this county in the Lower House of the next General Assembly. Some prominent local Republican will introduce Mr. Meares, but the committee had not announced last night who it would be. The speaking will formally launch the campaign so far as the Democrats are concerned.

On Tuesday night Senator F. M. Simmons, North Carolina's senior representative in the United States Senate, will address the voters at the Court House. He will be introduced by A. G. Ricaud, Esq., a prominent member of the local bar. Senator Simmons will arrive in the city Tuesday afternoon from Newbern, and will be met at the train by a delegation of prominent citizens. He is very popular with a wide circle of personal friends in Wilmington, and he will be given a most cordial welcome. Senator Simmons did much for this section of the State in the last Congress, his influence securing a splendid appropriation for the waterways projects, as well as lending his aid in other matters of concern to the people of Eastern Carolina. He will doubtless be heard by a large audience. Immediately after the speaking Tuesday night a Young Men's Democratic Club will be organized and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance of the young men of the city and county. The organization of such a club is in line with what is being done in other sections and towns of the State, where the young men are rallying to the great party of their fathers.

Friday night, November 4th, Attorney General T. W. Bickett comes to make a speech. It is planned to have the speaking take place at corner of Third and Market streets. Hon. John D. Bellamy will introduce the speaker. Attorney General Bickett is one of the best campaign speakers in the State and there will be hundreds to hear him on the occasion of his visit to this city. No other Democratic speaking is scheduled, but others may be arranged later. This, however, is not probable.

The registration books for the election in November closed at sunset yesterday. The registration of new names in New Hanover county will probably not exceed 300, if quite that large a number. In the Second Ward, Mr. W. W. Hodges, registrar, there were added 36 new names. The book shows 626 old names, but as the list has not yet been revised there will probably not be more than 600 to vote in this ward. In the Third Ward, Mr. A. G. Hankins, registrar, 39 new names were added, making a total registration of 746, who are entitled to vote in this ward in November, the list having been revised and those who have died or removed since the last election not being counted in the figures given. The other precincts in the city and county were not heard from last night, but it is not thought that the registration in proportion was any greater. The young men who become of age between the time of the closing of the books and November 8th will be permitted to register and vote on election day.

GUARANTEE OF BANK DEPOSITS.

Elysian Dream of Politicians Not Realized, But They're Safe.

Both the "financial" and "political" editors of the Star came in yesterday for much good-natured twitting on a statement appearing in the write-up of the Contest Department, which is offering a great deal just now but nothing quite so ephemeral as the Elysian dreams of some of the politicians for a guarantee of bank deposits, of which so much was heard a time ago. It was in connection with the savings accounts to be presented by the Contest Manager and in elaborating on just how desirable these prizes are, the verbose press agent knowing nothing of banking, very naturally dropped into the error of saying that Uncle Sam was guaranteeing these bank deposits. Now, neither the Contest Manager nor the Star wishes to impose on the shoulders of Uncle Sam, however broad, more than he ought to bear, for we have not yet reached the days of guaranteed bank deposits, but the bank accounts are just as good anyway and a good savings account in any Wilmington bank, with the men behind either or all of them, is just as valuable as if your Uncle Samuel were right there with the guarantee and no prizes will be given that will be more valuable, either intrinsically or as an incentive, than these accounts, which are "all wool and a yard wide," the guarantee of Uncle Sam to the contrary notwithstanding.

MR. PUNKE TAKES AN APPEAL.

Not Satisfied With Decision in Civil Action Against Him.

Mr. F. G. Punke, through his attorney Herbert McClammy, Esq., has taken an appeal to Superior Court in the civil action brought against him by J. G. Wright & Son, real estate agents, the case being heard before Justice Harriss a few days ago and judgment and execution for the amount asked for, $90, given by the Magistrate.

It will be recalled that the contention of the plaintiff was that they were due $90 as commission on a piece of wharf property though sold by Mr. Punke through another agency because the property had been placed in their hands for sale and had not been withdrawn. The defendant contended that Mr. J. A. Montgomery, of the firm of J. G. Wright & Son, asked him to sell his store at No. 110 North Water street, offering $2,750 for the property, but that he did not accept the offer. The property was later sold by the James Owen Reilly Real Estate Agency to Mr. Sigmond Bear for $3,825. The Wright Agency wanted to secure the property for Mr. C. J. Mitchell, to whom it was later sold by Mr. Bear. Herbert McClammy, Esq., for the defendant, while Kellum & Loughlin represented the plaintiff. After reserving his decision for a day Justice Harriss announced judgment in favor of the plaintiff. An execution was issued and served on Mr. Punke, who claimed his homestead exemption as allowed by law. The board of appraisers failed to find sufficient property of Mr. Punke to cover the amount of the homestead exemption and his store, closed under execution, was turned back over to him. Yesterday supplementary proceedings were instituted citing Mr. Punke, Mr. Reilly and Mr. Bear to appear before the Clerk of Superior Court and answer any and all questions that might be asked them relative to funds in the hands of Mr. Punke, with particular reference to the money from the sale of the wharf property. It is understood that the appeal by Mr. Punke to Superior Court stops the supplementary proceedings.

VERY COLD SNAP THIS.

Heavy Frosts All Over District Yesterday—Record for the District.

The heavy frost, warnings of which were issued by the Weather Bureau, materialized yesterday in fine shape in the Wilmington section and although no damage was done, an even heavier manifestation of the "beautiful" is expected this morning. According to the cotton region bulletin Charlotte had a killing frost yesterday morning, Greensboro and Raleigh, killing; Goldsboro, heavy, also frosts at Newbern, Cheraw, Lumberton and Weldon all of the Wilmington district. The minimum temperature yesterday morning at Wilmington was 35 degrees, maximum during the day 51 degrees and mean 43 degrees. Charlotte reported a minimum up to 8 o'clock yesterday morning of 32, Cheraw 33, Florence, 34, Goldsboro 31, Greensboro 29, Lumberton 30, Newbern 29, Raleigh 32 and Weldon 33, this city having the highest minimum. Asheville reported a minimum of 28, which was doubtless the lowest in the State.

RAISING COTTON IN OHIO.

Staple May be Profitably Grown That Far North.

Mr. L. B. Rogers, vice president of the D. L. Gore Company, this city, has received a letter from Mr. W. E. Bettridge, manager of the Toledo, Ohio, Biscuit Company, inclosing a clipping from a Toledo paper giving an account of successful experiments at growing cotton near that city. The article is accompanied by a photograph of a stalk of the staple grown on the farm where the experiment was made. The seed was obtaind in Virginia. The experimentor did not order any particular seed, however, his main object being to determine whether or not cotton could be grown in that climate and on that soil. Mr. Bettridge in his letter to Mr. Rogers says: "After reading the clipping you will be convinced that you Carolinians and Virginians won't be in it after while when it comes to raising cotton, providing it keeps warm long enough up North and get no frost."

Attorney Wires Houston Will Not Require Extradition Papers.

Pat Houston, the young man arrested here Friday on a bench warrant from Darlington, S. C., to answer charges of assault with intent to kill and carrying concealed weapons, will return to South Carolina without extradition papers. This was definitely decided yesterday morning and Geo. L. Peschau, Esq., attorney for the defendant, immediately wired the Darlington authorities that his client would not resist an effort to take him back to the Palmetto State for trial. No answer to the telegram had been received late yesterday afternoon. It is presumed, however, that an officer will be sent here within the next few days to take the young man to Darlington.

Sunday, October 30, 1910.

I wish I were able to go from the East to the Tennessee line and tell this message to all the people. I have not long to live. I have children and grandchildren; but I say to you that no stroke of this right hand shall aid in putting the Republican party over these children and grandchildren. I say it because I have tried it in the past and, having tried it in the past and having found nothing but ruin and disgrace, I cannot help but fight it now.—C. B. Watson.

King George, of England, has dismissed his old barber and secured another. The only importance attached to this announcement is that it will bring on more talk.

In spite of successful refutation of absurd asservations, Republican spellbinders continue to reiterate their fallacious declaration that the tariff is responsible for good wages and good price for farm products. Although you are "from Missiouri" you are entitled to vote in North Carolina against Republicans who make claims like that in violation of the law of supply and demand. Lots of folks haven't got any job at any kind of wages and the majority haven't got anything to sell even at high prices.

Marion Butler can now recognize the propriety and prescience which dictated the refusal of reputable Democrats to enter into a joint wrangle with him. Just think of chewing the political and personal rag with a man who denies things vehemently, while the truth with his own signature attached to it was dangling over his head, liable at any moment to be flaunted in his face with a great and triumphant flaunt, going to prove that a spieler all wool and a yard wide had been up against a man of straw!

A Republican writes to the Chattanooga Times to denounce the "Sanders-Evans-Raulston gang with a big S, a lesser E and a little R," who are behind the Hooper fusion movement Hooper because of the character and reputation of the Republican leaders who are behind him. Verily, opposition to Democracy seems to be the same disreputable article in Tenessee as it is in North Carolina. When you hear of opposition to the Democratic party in any Southern State it is repellant force which has about it "gang" characteristics.

The United States Treasury Department is issuing 75,000,000 new one-dollar bills. None of them will come your way on account of the tariff but if you earn any of them you will have to pay them right out for the high-price necessaries of life. One of these new dollars will only buy three pounds of breakfast strip! Indeed there is no wonder that the Baltimore Sun remarks that "if this cost of living keeps on, they will be giving bacon banquets." First thing you know we may boast that we had bacon for our Thanksgiving dinner.

A Philadelphia woman has been granted a divorce on the ground of cruel treatment, the facts being that for weeks and weeks at a time covering a period of about three and a half years her husband gave her "the silent treatment," persistently refusing to speak to her even when company was present. In all probability the poor fellow wanted to give her a chance to do all the talking and really may not have been able to get in a word edgeways. However, this will do him no good now, as the nuptial knot has been severed.

NOTABLE IMPROVEMENT.

Few of the citizens of Wilmington realize that, in the southern part of our city, during the past few months, there has been inaugurated a great undertaking, which, in a short time, will make available for factory and wharf purposes a large area up to this time hardly considered a part of the city proper. We refer to the new anchorage basin now being dredged by the United States government under the plans for the improvement of the river and harbor. This basin will extend from opposite Church street to a point below the southern limits of the city and it will be dredged to a depth of 28 feet at mean low water, while the average width of the anchorage basin dredged to that depth will be 800 feet.

Such a commodious anchorage would be a credit to a much larger city than Wilmington, but owing to the stupendous advances the port has recently made, in both imports and exports, the government has pursued the wise course of providing for the flattering commercial future of the port as well as its present needs. Some conception of the magnitude of this work can be had, when it is made known that over three hundred thousand cubic yards of sand must be removed from the bed of the river, the three government dredges now being busily engaged on this work. When the basin is completed it will afford a safe and commodious anchorage for all ships entering the port, and also will bring into prominence and enhance the value of the harbor frontage and all property in the southern section of our city.

This brings us to the second important improvement that will be of interest to our entire community. In order to economically handle such a vast quantity of dredged material, Captain Earl I. Brown, of the Engineer Corps, made an arrangement with the Kidder Lumber Company to place this sand on the latter's property. This is a great advantage to both parties, for it not only means a distinct saving to the government, but will increase the city's available water frontage by nearly half a mile.

The lower timber pens of the Kidder Lumber Company already have been filled with clean sharp sand, the best possible foundation for factories and warehouses, and the low lying fields adjoining, once the home of the coot and the rice-bird, are being rapidly filled in, making firm land suitable for any kind of buildings. By the time this work is completed, the entire tract will be covered with sand to an average depth of three or four feet above high water mark, making it higher and safer than any other water frontage in the city, thus insuring a great saving in construction expense to the prospective builder, as expensive piling will, in a large measure, be unnecessary.

This water frontage, which is virtually being added to our city, extends along the river for a distance equal to that between Market and Red Cross streets, almost a city in itself. It is the object of the owners to divide this vast tract into factory and warehouse sites, and as a branch of the railroad belt line runs through the property and will be extended so as to afford rail facilities for the entire tract, there is no reason why this section should not shortly witness a great development.

The interest being taken by the Commercial Club and other organizations of our business men in bringing new enterprises to Wilmington, in order to make it a manufacturing city as well as a great distributing center, deserves the hearty support of our entire community, and as suitable sites at reasonable prices are among the most essential points in securing new factories, the improvements now being made by the government assume an importance of great interest to the general public.

Before marrying your soul mate appoint a guardian for yourself and a trustee for your mate.

Some married men hate cold weather because they feel like they ought to get up in the morning and make the fire. Winter seems to add to the burdens of the married man who doesn't shirk his part of the work.

Republican spielers might be able to dilate upon the policies of Republicanism, but what's the use when they can't defend the records of their party while possessing personal records which disqualify them from appearing as creditable witnesses for the defense. Joint debates with lame ducks from a befouled puddle have all the apeparance of an inanimate fizzle.

Confederate veterans stood on the firing line and were true to their colors in war times are about the last men in North Carolina to dip their flag to Mary Ann Butler and Mott Morehead. It takes men like Butler and Morehead to sneak up North and apologize for, if not renounce, the principle for which Confederate soldiers fought and won the victory of undying fame. That record cannot be sullied by keeping step to the whangdoodleism of the brazen bondster.

SHERMAN THE SPIELER.

We see no use of frawning on or slopping over a man because he is either a President or a Vice President, but dignified respect for these high offices of our Republic is due to the President and Vice President, so it was quite proper that Charlotte, Greensboro and Asheville should have shown courtesies to Vice President Sherman while he was in those cities a few days ago. However, the Vice President came into North Carolina as a Republican partisan making campaign speeches, and while we doubt the propriety of it, it cannot be denied that he has a right to take to the stump as a politician spieler. In that capacity, Mr. Sherman is not entitled to any more respect than any other reputable campaigner.

Because Mr. Sherman is Vice-President it must not be assumed that he knows it all and that he can tell the South in a patronizing way what kind of politics it should have, because the South has had the same opportunity as Mr. Sherman to study political questions, comprehend party principles and watch the records of the political parties. The fact is, Vice President Sherman is only one of the political bosses of New York, recently put out of business by Theodore Roosevelt. We do not attach as much importance to what he says from a political-standpoint, as we do to the most humble Democratic spieler in North Carolina. Mr. Sherman speaks from the standpoint of a Northerner, a hidebound Republican, and a standpatter, only interested in the securing as many votes as possible for his party in the South.

The Vice President, in his Charlotte speech, compared the records of the National parties, making it greatly to the advantage of his own party, taking it for granted that Southerners are ignorant of the fact that the National Democratic party has never had much of an opportunity to make a record at Washington, whereas, the Republican party has been in power nearly 50 years and is responsible for reconstruction, fusion, high tariffs, numerous panics and ruinous fianacial legislation that had to be undone by Grover Cleveland's administration. Talking about wild-cat money, free silver heresy, etc., his party has never given this coutnry a safe financial system, and is right now issuing $75,000,000 in "Greenbacks" under authority of the act of March 4, 1907. Uneasiness is felt in financial circles in New York that this means only the beginning of an inflation of the currency without a basis at allequal to "free silver." The New York Journal of Commerce calls this proposition to issue $75,000,000 in one dollar "greenbacks" "an act of financial heresy that ought to be stopped."

Mr. Sherman will learn perhaps that the South understands his party very well and knows that it is not at all safe for the South. There is also every evidence from its wild-cat financial legislation at different times, its numerous panics, and legislation in behalf of favored interests, that it is not as safe as the Democratic party under which this Union flourished till 1860. The South has every reason, forits own safety as well as the safety and honor of the Nation, to trust the Democratic party.

A Wilmington woman calls her husband "Teddy" because he pretends to know how everything about the house ought to be done and won't even bring in the wood to show how easy it is to do so.

The Washington Post exclaims: "Muzzle Foraker! Sidetrack Roosevelt!" The Post should be suppressed for rashly advocating action that would eliminate the endmen of political minstrelsy. Dare not remove the role from an already too serious "play to the galleries."

The Confederate veteran is a glorious relic of the "Lost Cause." That North Carolina Republicanism, branded with reconstruction and fusion infamies, should make the unholy attempt to induce the followers of Lee and Jackson to join its lost cause, is the limit. The unmitigatedness of gall like that is utterly overwhelming.

Lovely portraits of Mrs. Bellamy Storer have appeared in the Boston Globe and other Northern papers. There is a question of veracity between that handsome woman and Col. Roosevelt. After having seen the lady's picture, and being perfectly familiar with the cartoons of the Colonel, we do not hesitate to say that the Colonel's pictures give him away. They furnish ocular evidence that it isn't Mrs. Storer who has made statements that are impossible of substantiation, whether those statements have been made knowingly and deliberately or whether they were the hasty utterances of a distinguished individual who has more things to think of than he can remember correctly. Then, again, the inherency of the inconsistency and a somewhat reckless inaccuracy on the part of the Rough Rider logically lead to the presumption that the lady's recollection is more to be depended upon.

HIGH HONOR FOR NEGRO.

The so-called "respectable Republican party of North Carolina" which is "lily white" in management but piebald in comparison, will not thank President Taft for making announcement a few days ago that he has paid a negro lawyer almost the highest honor within his gift. The Richmond Virginian says the Presidents appointment of William H. Lewis', a native negro of Virginia, to be Assistant Attorney General of the United States, "marks the highest office to which any negro has yet attained in this country."

The white Republican party in North Carolina and the "lily white" Republican party organied in South Carolina a few days ago by John C. Capers will be somewhat set back, inasmuch as North Carolina Republicans especially have been boasting that the Republican party is not a negro party either State or National. However, now comes the President, whom they all endorsed, appointing a negro to a great government position scarcely less important than that of a member of the Cabinet. The appointment carries with it the entree of Assistant Attorney General Lewis into all State entertainments and receptions. Socially, as well as officially it places the negro lawyer on a par with the most eminent officials of the government.

The Richmond Virginian says "Lewis is a man of high education and undoubted legal ability already proven in government service in Boston," but that paper thinks the President "tempts fate" in so elevating a negro that it will be more injurious to the race than it will do good. There is also political significance to be attached to the appointment of Lewis, for the President at first ignored the negro, but seing that he would be of use to him politically two years from now, he has made up his mind to recognize the negro. The "lily white" Republicans in North and South Carolina will also hasten to use the negro whenever they need him in their business. Yet, right now, while North Carolina Republicans are boasting of having a white man's party it was mighty bad in the President to drop a fly in their ointment.

CURRENT COMMENT.

Mr. Foraker is driven from the stump in Ohio because he would not subscribe to Mr. Roosevelt's New Nationalism. Yet there are Republicans who profess to ridicule the idea of a third term or a dictatorship.—New York World.

There was not the slightest attempt to conceal the fact that Mr. Sherman's visit to Charlotte was in the interest of the candidacy of Mr. S. S. McNinch, the Republican candidate for Congress. It is in order for Mr. Webb's friends to govern themselves accordingly.—Charlotte Chronicle.

"How come" the Hon. E. A. Holton has quit making speeches? He was a-shellin' of the woods for some time, but all at once the firing ceased. He had Blair in tow at first but Settle cabbaged him and ran away with him. Is this the reason Holton quit? Did he get mad, or did Morehead pull him off.—Greensboro Record.

The Colonel certainly owns the butter knife. He told the Massachusetts politicians that he thought their platform ought to be adopted into the national platform; then he went to New Hampshire and told the politicians there the same thing. If he keeps this up long enough, he may run into an inconsistency—not that such a hapening would disturb the Colonel! —Boston Daily Globe.

Vice President Sherman will do some political spieling in North Carolina this week. Will he please state for the benefit of the natives whether he "et" with Senator Lorrimer to spite Roosevelt or merely to show that he did so to line-up with the colonel as "men not worth their salt."—Wilmington Star. It doesn't matter whether Sherman explains it or not, the public long ago made up its mind about it.—Durham Sun.

Colonel Roosevelt refused to attend the banquet at the Hamilton Club, in Chicago, unless the invitation of Senator Lorrimer was recalled. The invitation was recalled and the Senator eliminated. The other day ex-Secretary Garfield refused to speak for his party in Ohio unless the invitation to Senator Foraker was recalled. The invitation was recalled and another Senator eliminated. Garfield evidently learned at school that game of "follow your leader" to some purpose.—Baltimore Sun.

It is something new in the annals of this country for a woman to be awarded damages for the killing of her husband, but it has been done in both South Carolina and Alabama, and there are few States whose example might be better followed than that of those two. It would make murder a heap less common if the juries of the country would make all men who take the lives of their fellowmen pay the widow and the orphans, or the parents or the brothers and sisters, or the State whenever a life is taken. If it is worth while killing a man it is certainly worth while paying somebody for it.—Florence Times.

A party paper needs to be careful how it editorializes these days, lest it tread on somebody's toes. It recalls the predicament of the new preacher who was warned by his deacons that he needed to avoid some subjects in hi preaching. "Don't touch on progressive euchre," said one deacon, "for it will offend Col. Blank, who is a liberal contributor." "I advise you against bearing down on whiskey too hard," said another," "for Mr. Jones, the distiller, atends our church and he, too is a good payer." And so it went on through the catalogue, till the new preacher asked in desperation, "What shall I preach about. "Oh," put in another deacon, "just roast old Judas Iscariot; he ain't got a friend in the congregation."—Webster's Weekly.

The Rockingham Post this week carries the advertisement of the second sale of the Blewett's Falls Power plant. The Post says the sale this time is sure to be a go. It says that the upset price is $750,000 and this breaks the trouble, for at the previous sale, the upset price was $1,000,000. "At the reduced figure," says The Post, "a purchaser is certain. Most likely it will be the Southern Power Company. If so, all right. The Southern Power Company is good enough for Rockingham and big enough for us to do business with." We hope The Post's expectations will be realized. The best thing that could happen for Rockingham and all the territory between Charlotte and Wilmington, would be the purcahse of Blewett's Falls by the Charlotte company.—Charlotte Chronicle.

BOOKER WASHINGTON.

Coming of Distinguished Negro Educator to Wilmington Next Week.

(By Rev. Geo. D. Carnes.)

The committee on arrangements for the Booker T. Washington visit the 3rd of November has completed all arrangements for the occasion. The party will arrive over the A. C. L. road from Newbern at 6:50 and will be taken immediately to lunch and proceed to the Opera House where the speaking will take place. The Princess street side of the Opera House is for white people, and tickets have been sent all who helped to make the occasion possible, and if any should fail to receive a ticket please call 'phone 1202 and tickets will be sent. The ticket idea obtains only to facilitate matters on the lower floor, no charges are being made at all. The entire arrangements have been made possible by a generous public, or will be made so before the occasion is finally ushered in. All the colored churches are asked to take a special collection today for that purpose. A self-supporting banquet will be tendered the party at the True Reformers' Hall on Seventh street immediately after the speaking, tickets for the banquet can be had from the committee for 75 cents each.

The committee has endeavored to operate this affair on the most economical basis, consistent with the occasion; as Dr. Washington has a message for all classes of our people, the committee desires the owners and operators of mills, factories, etc., to call the attention of our people to the time and place and occasion; 8 P. M., Opera House, Thursday, November 3rd. The party entered the State Thursday at Charlotte and began the tour of the State. There will be many distinguished negroes in the party who have won success in every walk of life, and it is easily the most distinguished party of colored men that ever toured the State, and the committee is trying to do justice to the well earned reputation of the citizens generally. The committee will meet in a final session Monday night at 7 o'clock in the office of O. H. Lennon, Sixth and Red Cross streets.

COMMERCIAL CLUB ACTIVE.

Committees Appointed to Advance Certain Public Acairs.

Committees were appointed yesterday by Mr. C. N. Evans, president of the Commercial Club, to advance various public interests and make report at the various meetings of the club during the Fall and Winter. The matters directly named are the proposed bridge over the Northeast river to connect New Hanover and Pender county; a free ferry on the Cape Fear river between New Hanover and Brunswick and wharf and storage facilities at the port. For the bridge matter are Messrs. J. H. Rehder, chairman; C. E. Taylor, Jr., and Thos. H. Wright; the free ferry committee, Messrs. J. M. Solky, chairman; W. E Perdew, J. O. Reilly; wharves and storage facilities, Messrs. C. C. Covington, chairman; M. W. Jacobi, L. B. Rogers. The committees will confer with the authorities in an effort to devise ways and means to secure these public improvements.

MR. J. D. BATTS DEAD.

Passed Away at His Residence at Holly Ridge Friday Evening.

Friends in this city will learn with much regret of the death of Mr. J. D. Batts, who passed away at his home at Holly Ridge, Friday evening at 6:50 o'clock. He was in the 55th year of his age and was one of the best known and most prominent citizens of that section and his passing is generally regretted. He is survived by a wife and four children who have the sympathy of a great many friends. The funeral will be held from the late residence at 11 o'clock this morning, and the interment will be in the family burying ground nearby.

Regular Monthly Meeting Held at the Court House Yesterday Morning. Pleased to Learn of Offer of Dental Association.

The rural school teachers of the county in the second monthly meeting of the Fall at the Court House yesterday morning learned from Prof. Washington Catlett, superintendent of public instruction, the offer of the Wilmington Dental Association to examine free of charge the mouths of the rural school children who desire it.

The teachers were very glad indeed to learn that the dentists had extended their offer to the city school children so as to include those of the rural districts and felt sure that the results would be very beneficial. The main purpose in presenting the matter to the teachers yesterday was to secure their views as to whether it would be practicable to carry out the offer of the dentists and without exception they agreed that it could easily be done.

The plan is for one of the dentists to accompany Superintendent Catlett on his regular visits to the schools and there examine the mouths of the children, ascertain the condition and make suggestions to remedy any defects that may be found. Most of the schools are located in a short distance of Wilmington and the dentists will not be absent from the city no afternoon more than a few hours at most. This plan is the one most likely to be adopted.

The association then proceeded to the regular programme, McMurray's "How to Study," being taken up and two chapters were read by Superintendent Catlett, at the conclusion of which Prof. Catlett said that he wanted to have some practical teaching by the teachers during the remainder of the school year and appointed Miss Sallie O. Edwards, of Masonboro school, district No. 4, to have charge of the "school" at the November meeting of the association. She will be expected to give a class recitation and some points as to the best method that may be used to teach reading, after which there will be a general discussion. This is expected to prove a great feature of the meetings during the remainder of the school year.

Recently Prof. Catlett secured from the County Board of Education authority to have a quantity of report blanks printed and place copies of the same in each school so that the teachers could give the parents a report of the work of the children at the end of each month. This had never been done before except in a few schools where it was undertaken by the teachers themselves. Yesterday Prof. Catlett asked the teachers as to the result of the report blanks, and each stated that the monthly reports to the parents had stirred up deepest interest and better attendance on the part of the pupils, all of whom want to make as good a showing as possible. They were well pleased with the results in this regard.

Mr. O. A. Hamilton, principal of Hemenway School, and Mr. J. D. Boushall, of the High School faculty, were visitors at the meeting yesterday, being present by invitation of Prof. Catlett.

That the teachers of the county take a great interest in the association and strive to be present at every meeting no matter what difficulties have to be surmounted, was clearly illustrated yesterday. Mr. R. F. Lewis, teacher in the Carolina Beach school, was unable to attend the first meeting of the Fall, but was determined to be present yesterday at any sacrifice. There being no convenient means of transportation from the lower edge of the county, he set out afoot and walked the entire distance of 18 miles and it is needless to say that he arrived on time. Mr. Lewis is considered one of the best teachers in the county and his school shows up splendidly. According to the school census there are 26 children in the district; 22 of this number are on the school roll and the average attendance for the month is 20.

A new school house will shortly be erected near Greenville Station, and bids for the work are now being received at the office of Prof. Catlett. The building will be very much like the one at Castle Haynes. Work of constructing the building begins within the next two weeks, it is thought.

EXPERT ON ILLUMINATION.

Lecture and Demonstration at Tidewater Offices Tuesday Night.

Mr. H. W. Karstens, illuminating engineer of the Holophane Company, will arrive in Wilmington tomorrow to arrange for his exhibition of scientific illumination and lecture at the offices of the Tidewater Power Company, No. 223 Princess street, Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. The lecturer will show the correct way to light any particular space and at the close of the lecture he will make appointments with those interested to help them solve their lighting problems. He will remain in Wilmington four days and will be available for individual work Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

The lecture will be given in the vacant store which opens into the offices of the Tidewater Power Company, and is for the benefit of those already using electricity or gas as well as those who are still using oil.

Will Be Married This Morning.

Mr. Blicker B. Sornsen, son of Mr. Oscar Sornsen, of Brunswick county, and Miss Mollie Jones, of this city, daughter of Mr. Wm. Jones, of Lake Waccamaw, will be maried in this city this morning at 9 o'clock. The ceremony will be performed at No. 721 South Eighth street by Rev. J. W. S. Harvey. Friends will extend to the couple their best wishes. Licence was also issued yesterday for the marriage of Mr. Walter Julius Tompkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Tompkins, of Scott's Hill, and Miss Mary Elizabeth Ramsey, daughter of Mrs. Mary Ramsey, of Brunswick county.

New bargains will be added to the already large list at Rehder's this week. **

GODWIN MEARES TOMORROW

Candidates for Congress Will Have Joint Discussion in This City at Night—Senator Simmons on Tuesday Night.

The first Democratic speech in New Hanover county during the present campaign will be made in this city tomorrow night by Congressman Hannibal L. Godwin, of Dunn, candidate for re-election, when he meets in joint debate Iredell Meares, Esq., of this city, the Republican nominee. This will be next to the last joint discussion between these opposing candidates, the present schedule of appointments concluding at Southport Tuesday.

The speakers will doubtless be greeted by an overflow audience in this city. There is perhaps greatest interest here in the joint discussion than at any other place in the district and hundreds will want to hear them. Official announcement of the joint debate Monday night was made yesterday in an official card signed by J. W. Brooks, chairman Republican Executive Committee, and Marsden Bellamy, chairman Democratic Executive Committee:

Congressman Godwin will be introduced by Woodus Kellum, Esq., who will represent this county in the Lower House of the next General Assembly. Some prominent local Republican will introduce Mr. Meares, but the committee had not announced last night who it would be. The speaking will formally launch the campaign so far as the Democrats are concerned.

On Tuesday night Senator F. M. Simmons, North Carolina's senior representative in the United States Senate, will address the voters at the Court House. He will be introduced by A. G. Ricaud, Esq., a prominent member of the local bar. Senator Simmons will arrive in the city Tuesday afternoon from Newbern, and will be met at the train by a delegation of prominent citizens. He is very popular with a wide circle of personal friends in Wilmington, and he will be given a most cordial welcome. Senator Simmons did much for this section of the State in the last Congress, his influence securing a splendid appropriation for the waterways projects, as well as lending his aid in other matters of concern to the people of Eastern Carolina. He will doubtless be heard by a large audience. Immediately after the speaking Tuesday night a Young Men's Democratic Club will be organized and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance of the young men of the city and county. The organization of such a club is in line with what is being done in other sections and towns of the State, where the young men are rallying to the great party of their fathers.

Friday night, November 4th, Attorney General T. W. Bickett comes to make a speech. It is planned to have the speaking take place at corner of Third and Market streets. Hon. John D. Bellamy will introduce the speaker. Attorney General Bickett is one of the best campaign speakers in the State and there will be hundreds to hear him on the occasion of his visit to this city. No other Democratic speaking is scheduled, but others may be arranged later. This, however, is not probable.

The registration books for the election in November closed at sunset yesterday. The registration of new names in New Hanover county will probably not exceed 300, if quite that large a number. In the Second Ward, Mr. W. W. Hodges, registrar, there were added 36 new names. The book shows 626 old names, but as the list has not yet been revised there will probably not be more than 600 to vote in this ward. In the Third Ward, Mr. A. G. Hankins, registrar, 39 new names were added, making a total registration of 746, who are entitled to vote in this ward in November, the list having been revised and those who have died or removed since the last election not being counted in the figures given. The other precincts in the city and county were not heard from last night, but it is not thought that the registration in proportion was any greater. The young men who become of age between the time of the closing of the books and November 8th will be permitted to register and vote on election day.

GUARANTEE OF BANK DEPOSITS.

Elysian Dream of Politicians Not Realized, But They're Safe.

Both the "financial" and "political" editors of the Star came in yesterday for much good-natured twitting on a statement appearing in the write-up of the Contest Department, which is offering a great deal just now but nothing quite so ephemeral as the Elysian dreams of some of the politicians for a guarantee of bank deposits, of which so much was heard a time ago. It was in connection with the savings accounts to be presented by the Contest Manager and in elaborating on just how desirable these prizes are, the verbose press agent knowing nothing of banking, very naturally dropped into the error of saying that Uncle Sam was guaranteeing these bank deposits. Now, neither the Contest Manager nor the Star wishes to impose on the shoulders of Uncle Sam, however broad, more than he ought to bear, for we have not yet reached the days of guaranteed bank deposits, but the bank accounts are just as good anyway and a good savings account in any Wilmington bank, with the men behind either or all of them, is just as valuable as if your Uncle Samuel were right there with the guarantee and no prizes will be given that will be more valuable, either intrinsically or as an incentive, than these accounts, which are "all wool and a yard wide," the guarantee of Uncle Sam to the contrary notwithstanding.

Washington, Oct. 29.—The Argentine training ship Presidente Sarmiento weighed anchor at the Washington navy yard today and began her voyage to Portsmouth, Eng. She will stop at Norfolk, Va., to take on coal.

MR. PUNKE TAKES AN APPEAL.

Not Satisfied With Decision in Civil Action Against Him.

Mr. F. G. Punke, through his attorney Herbert McClammy, Esq., has taken an appeal to Superior Court in the civil action brought against him by J. G. Wright & Son, real estate agents, the case being heard before Justice Harriss a few days ago and judgment and execution for the amount asked for, $90, given by the Magistrate.

It will be recalled that the contention of the plaintiff was that they were due $90 as commission on a piece of wharf property though sold by Mr. Punke through another agency because the property had been placed in their hands for sale and had not been withdrawn. The defendant contended that Mr. J. A. Montgomery, of the firm of J. G. Wright & Son, asked him to sell his store at No. 110 North Water street, offering $3,750 for the property, but that he did not accept the offer. The property was later sold by the James Owen Reilly Real Estate Agency to Mr. Sigmond Bear for $3,825. The Wright Agency wanted to secure the property for Mr. C. J. Mitchell, to whom it was later sold by Mr. Bear. Herbert McClammy, Esq., for the defendant, while Kellum & Loughlin represented the plaintiff. After reserving his decision for a day Justice Harriss announced judgment in favor of the plaintiff. An execution was issued and served on Mr. Punke, who claimed his homestead exemption as allowed by law. The board of appraisers failed to find sufficient property of Mr. Punke to cover the amount of the homestead exemption and his store, closed under execution, was turned back over to him. Yesterday supplementary proceedings were instituted citing Mr. Punke, Mr. Reilly and Mr. Bear to appear before the Clerk of Superior Court and answer any and all questions that might be asked them relative to funds in the hands of Mr. Punke, with particular reference to the money from the sale of the wharf property. It is understood that the appeal by Mr. Punke to Superior Court stops the supplementary proceedings.

RAISING COTTON IN OHIO.

Staple May be Profitably Grown That Far North.

Mr. L. B. Rogers, vice president of the D. L. Gore Company, this city, has received a letter from Mr. W. E. Bettridge, manager of the Toledo, Ohio, Biscuit Company, inclosing a clipping from a Toledo paper giving an account of successful experiments at growing cotton near that city. The article is accompanied by a photograph of a stalk of the staple grown on the farm where the experiment was made. The seed was obtaind in Virginia. The experimentor did not order any particular seed, however, his main object being to determine whether or not cotton could be grown in that climate and on that soil. Mr. Bettridge in his letter to Mr. Rogers says: "After reading the clipping you will be convinced that you Carolinians and Virginians won't be in it after while when it comes to raising cotton, providing it keeps warm long enough up North and get no frost."

HALLOWE'EN ENTERTAINMENT AT ST. ANDREW'S MANSE.

One of the most delightful events of the Hallowe'en—that night of all the year that belongs to beings supernatural, when they can come out from their mysterious places of hiding for a breath of fresh air,

And banshees on the terrace walk;"

The significance of Hallowe'en night, and the many customs that have come to us from the people of Scotland and Ireland, which lands are the home of this peculiar observance, will be carried out in the decorative scheme, and games sacred to the night, and methods of predicting the future destiny which lose their significance on any occasion, will be indulged in by the young people for whose especial benefit it has been arranged. The gathering will be strictly an informal and social one, and all members of the society will be glad for their friends to be present.

CHARGED WITH LARCENY.

Negro Took Too Many Things From Stores Last Night.

In the arrest about 8:30 o'clock last night of Chas. Jones, colored, the police believe they have rounded up one responsible for much of the stealing from stores recently. Jones, who has been in court before to answer the charge of larceny, was noticed about 8 o'clock last night by Patrolman W. F. Craig with a quantity of dress goods, jewelry, etc., and the officer proceeded to make an investigation, feeling reasonably certain that the negro did not secure the things legitimately. His investigations lead him to believe that the articles of jewelry were stolen from the Kress store and the dress goods and other things from some of the other stores. Jones was in the store of Mr. J. W. H. Fuchs, on South Front street, when arrested and the police think that he probably had designs on something in that store. He was lodged in the city prison and will be given an opportunity to tell the Recorder all about it tomorrow.

ed, there were no bones broken and he was not in danger of his life.

LeBlanc got a black eye, a deep cut under the chin and a broad scratch across the right temple, but was able to hobble about and join in cheerful conversation at the club house cafe before the day was over. Allowing for the good luck which tossed the race into Grahame-White's lap, he still won from the American team by superior preparedness.

The Three Americans.

Of the three Americans selected to defend the cup by the Aero Club of America, only two started and those two barely before the time limit allowed elapsed. Grahame-White chose an early morning hour when the wind was most favorable and stole a march on the defenders. After his record breaking time had been noted the Americans waited until the last moment for good air. Hamilton had trouble with his carburetter and never got off the ground until the bomb had sounded to declare the event closed. Brookins had been disabled. Drexel had only a fifty horse power, Belriot to compete against Grahame-White's 100.

Latham, in a 100 horse power Antoinette, never showed speed enough to be dangerous and left the course when an ugly gust almost blew him into the crowd.

He seemed not more than ten feet above the heads of the spectators and the tip of one wing was almost grazing the club house fence. That was enough for him and he sought the kindly earth in his 15th round.

Moisant, named as a substitute on the American team, was only notified that he should defend the cup in place of Brookins half an hour before he got away. And his mechanics were so hurried in making ready his 50 horse power Blerjot, that they forgot to attach one of the heavy rubber bands which helps to control the elevating planes at the rear and he found himself equal to maneuver it by sheer strength. As he turned into the seventh lap he lost control, flew wide over the grand stand, turned back into the field and settled.

Moisant Still Game.

But Moisant was not done. The cup and $5,000 were Grahame-White's beyond recall, but there was still a chance to win second place for America, even though the honor brought no prize. Moisant attached his rubber band and went up again.

Under the rules governing the Gordon Bennett race, an aviator is allowed only one stop and any time he spends on the earth for fuel or other necessaries is counted against him and included in his total elapsed time. It had been blowing half a gale between the hour when Latham quit and the closing hour. When the wind finally moderated Latham had nearly five hours against him and Moisant saw a chance for second place. By sheer pluck he won it. Latham also finished, but Ogilvie, of the British team, managed for the English Wright Company, was ahead of him and when the last contestant had finished the race stood: Grahame-White, first Moisant, second; Ogilvie, third, and Latham, fourth.

Drexel, the only other American starter, came down in the seventh lap after he had found the wind too dangerous at the turns.

Allan Ryan, chairman of the committee on arrangements, jumped onto the field when Moisant finished and dragged him into the club house. Champagne was served and as Mr. Ryan raised his glass, he threw one arm around Moisant's neck and shouted: "Here's to Moisant and America! Give him three cheers!"

The crowd answered with a volume of voice that almost shattered the windows.

Moisant, smiling and diffident, lifted his glass to reply: "Here's to America next year!" he proposed.

In two special events for altitude those indefatigable rivals, Hoxsey and Johnstone, tried once more to outdo each other. This time it was Hoxsey who brought down the laurels with two first prizes, though the American record is still with Johnstone.

LODGE LICENSE SUSPENDED.

Action Taken Against Colored Organization in Virginia.

Washington, Oct. 29.—Insurance officials of the District of Columbia have suspended the license of the United Order of True Reformers, a colored fraternal insurance organization, pending the restoration of its license by the Virginia authorities. A notice to this effect was sent to the association headquarters at Richmond today by Washington insurance officials.

The association has been doing business in this city for a number of years. It has 78 lodges in the district with 1,818 members, it is said, and, according to a statement filed with officials here, owns property valued at $80,000.

Jackson, Miss., Oct. 29.—Bell Haven College, one of the oldest femal colleges in this State, was destroyed by fire here today. The loss is estimated at $50,000 with $20,000 insurance.

New System of Fat Reduction

The saying that "there is nothing new under the sun" does not now apply to fat people. Here is something new for them—a new sensation, a new pleasure, a new and graceful figure, easily found by anyone who is passing beyond the limits of slimness. Everyone has heard of the Marmola Prescription; that harmless combination of fat-defying elements discovered by one of our foremost physicians. Now from the same high authority there comes another idea—the idea of condensing these same pure, harmless ingredients into a pleasant little tablet. Taken after eating and at bedtime they help the stomach to dispose of all the fatty foods, converting them into compact, solid flesh, muscle and energy, without dieting or exercise. Marmola Prescription Tablets regulate the entire system—do for you what bodily exertion and self-denial can not do and the fat, once routed, is gone for good. You can prove all this at a trifling cost. Marmola Prescription Tablets are sold by all druggists or sent postpaid by the Marmola Company, 696 Monroe Ave., Detroit, Mich. A large case—sufficient to bring lasting results—is but 75c.

Closed One of the Shows.

Upon complaint of several citizens, Chief of Ponce N. J. Williams yesterday morning ordered that one of the shows of the Sassman collection, exhibiting the past week at Fourth and Castle streets, be closed. The show was one in which there was a questionable dance. The proprietor immediately complied with the order of Chief Williams. Those making the complaint said that at times when police officers would enter the tent the dance in question would be eliminated, but would be put on again immediately upon their departure. The carnival closed last night and will go from here to Columbia. There were several fights on the grounds last night and much drinking, but no one was seriously hurt.

A VIOLENT BREAK IN COTTON

Resulted From Increasing Crop Estimates—Market Closed Quiet 30 Points Decline—Good Demand at Opening.

New York, Oct. 29.—The cotton market today was dominated by increasing crop estimates and there was a violent break in prices with the close easy at a net decline of five points on October and of 21 to 33 points on other months.

The market opened steady at a decline of 3 to 9 points under liquidation and bear pressure following reports that a prominent Southern crop expert who has been traveling throught the belt during the entire growing season, estimated the yield at 12,000,000 bales. At first there was a good demand. Cables were better than due, the weather in the South proved quite as wintry as had been forecasted yesterday, the completed week-end figures justified yesterday's bullish views of immediate statistics and reports from manufacturing circles showed that mills were rapidly resuming full time. These factors probably inspired bull support and right after the opening the market rallied to about the closing figures of last night. Offerings continued very heavy however, and while leading bulls were credited with buying fully 30,000 bales of March around 14.40 in an effort to hold prices the market soon broke wide open becoming almost demoralized after 11 o'clock when January contracts sold off at 14.05 and March to 14.13 or 32 to 37 points under the closing figures of last night. Last prices were a little up from the lowest on covering but it seemed evident that the large estimates of the crop were completely overshadowing bullish considerations for the time being and sentiment after the close was extremely nervous. It is said in local circles that the authority making the estimate of 12,600,000 bales was very close to the crop last year, and has made fairly accurate estimates for the past several seasons. The estimate of 12,600,000 bales is about 2,000,000 bales above estimates circulating a month ago and probably reflects a considerable change in average views of the crop during the past two or three weeks.

Receipts at the ports today 58,443 against 56,523 last week and 69,119 last year. For the week 400,000 bales against 391,188 last week and 402,640 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 8,627 bales against 17,254 last year.

Spot closed quiet 35 points decline; middling uplands 14.40; middling gulf 14.65; no sales.

MONEY MARKET WAS FEATURE

Was Affected by the Attitude of Banks Toward Borrowers—Drain on Cash Holdings to Meet Demands—Conditions.

New York, Oct. 29.—The tone of the market was affected today by the attitude of the banks toward borrowers. The show of ease in the call money market is thought to be deceptive and due to the desire of lenders to keep resources available for prompt recall in expectation of higher sales. The supplies offered to lend on time are scanty and the market for commercial paper is thin.

The drain on the cash holdings of the banks to meet interior demands causes a more rapid rate of shrinkage in deposits than in loans and broadens the excess of loans over deposits. The placing of $10,000,000 of one year 4 1-2 per cent. Michigan Central notes in Paris had an unfavorable influence on sentiment although indicating a possible resource for urgent credit needs of the railroads. The re-appearance of the short term railroad note and the exchange excess of bank loans over deposits make a combination distasteful to financial sentiment.

The approach of last week's political canvas makes for speculative restraint and depression, through fears of sudden and sensational developments which might threaten a violent shift in the probabilities of the results.

There was less than the estimated decrease in cash traceable in the bank statement, but it cut the reduction in the reserve requirements secured by the loan contraction and the scaling down of deposits and resulted in an inrond of over a million dollars on the surplus item.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales par value $709,000. United States bonds are unchanged on call from last week. Total sales for the day 178,800 shares.

THE GRAIN MARKET.

Chicago, Oct. 29.—Lowest prices of the year were reached in the wheat market today just before the close, although the Monday showing of world shipments promised to be somewhat less burdensome than had previously been counted upon, the dead weight of the expected total badly discouraged holders. The final quotations were 1 1-8 to 1 1-2c lower than last night. Other grain suffered in sympathy—corn being pulled down 3-4 to 7-8 and oats 3-8 to 1-2. Provisions at the finish ranged from the advance to 12 1-2c decline.

Wheat—No. 2 hard, 92 3-8 to 94 1-2; No. 3 red, 90 to 93; No. 2 hard, 93 3-8 to 96; No. 3 hard, 92 to 94; No. 1 northern, 1.05 to 1.06; No. 2 northern, 1.01 to 1.03 1-2; No. 3 northern 1.00 to 1.02; No. 2 spring, 98 to 1.02; No. 3 spring, 96 to 1.01; velvet chaff 90 to 98; durum 82 to 91.

KILLING FROSTS OCCURRED.

Practically Covered Cotton Belt—Private Estimate Beared Market.

(Special Star Telegram.)

New York, Oct. 29.—A killing frost covered practically the cotton belt this morning, bringing about an advance in Liverpool but brought few buying orders here. The controlling factor was the crop estimate of a yield of 12,600,000 bales made by Mr. Cordell, who has been remarkably correct in his estimates for several years, based on his careful inspection of the cotton fields for months past. This estimate was recognized as increased to these figures by the remarkable growing weather since the middle of August and is followed on the same lines by the reports of the Journal of Commerce. There was an early demand to hold the market buying March around 14.40 but the flood of long selling broke prices some 30 points last evening. We hardly expect Liverpool to break so badly on Monday.

INCREASE YOUR WEIGHT QUICKLY.

Simple Way for the Thin and Pale to Be Plump and Rosy.

Samose can hardly be termed a medicine, it is in reality a flesh forming food. Taken before or after meals, it mingles with the food you eat, enables it to assimilate and readily digest, so as to make rich blood and pleasing plumpness.

After Samose has been used a week or ten days a noticeable gain in weight is seen. The sallow complexion will become rosy, the sunken cheeks will have a ruddy glow, the eyes will be bright, the breath sweet and the step elastic.

J. Hicks Bunting's customers have told him of the remarkable results following the use of Samose, the great flesh forming food, that he is so thoroughly convinced of its reliability that he is selling it under his personal guarantee to refund the money if it does not do all that is claimed for it.

Sent postpaid on receipt of price, 50c.

THE DRY GOODS MARKET.

New York, Oct. 29.—The dry goods markets are quiet with values holding very steady. Linens are in good call for Spring delivery and producers have large orders on the books. Fine and fancy cottons rule quiet. Burlaps are firm.

"We, the young men of Rocky Point, being of sound mind and body and knowing our right hand from our left, not forgetful of the principles for which our fathers fought and died, viz: 'Pure Undefiled Democracy,' and not desiring to stray off into strange folds and after strange gods, do hereby affix our signatures as members of the Rocky Point Democratic Club, whose emblem and motto is 'Democracy, First, Last and Always.' Our slogan: 'The Dollars and Democracy of Our Daddies'."

GEORGETOWN WINS FROM TAR HEELS

point of their gridiron battle here today and won by the score of 23 to 0. The game was played in a cold wind with occasional flurries of snow. Captain Hodgson, of V. P. I., was the star of the occasion. Time and again he bucked the line, plunging through it almost every time. Legge, for the Techs, punted for every goal but once and then he had to kick on a wide angle in a hard wind. The Techs worked the forward pass twice.

Carolina Freshmen.

Chapel Hill, N. C., Oct. 29.—In a rather one-sided football game here today the University freshmen defeated the Bingham-Mebane team 30 to 0. The Freshmen scored most of their points by fast straight football. The forward pass and on side kick being used successfully. Bingham didn't have a chance to score during the bame. The old Wilmington High School men played on the freshmen team, Clark starring at left end, Hardin playing well at full back. Lord played a good quarter when he went in. Captain Worth for the freshmen also played a good game at left half. The weather was typical football weather, a real light snow having fallen during the game.

Kentucky Defeats Tulane.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 29.—Tulane lost a hard fought football game to the State University of Kentucky here today 3 to 10. The visitors gave the local enthusiasts the first sight of the new substitute rules calling a drop-kicker from the sidelines to make their field goal and then replacing him by the man whose position he took in the next period.

Pennsylvania Defeated.

Ithaca, N. Y., Oct. 29.—Cornell easily defeated Pennsylvania 11 to 46 in the first cross-country duel race of the Fall here today over a five and one quarter mile course that was familiar to Cornell men.

The race was a walk-away for Coach Moakley's runners, who won the first three places. Wall, of Pennsylvania, came in fourth and then six Cornellians ramped across the line of succession, the Pennsylvania men following.

J. P. Jones, Cornell's recruit from last year's freshmen defeated Tell Berna, the inter-collegiate two mile championship by 45 yards. His time was 29.04.

Sewanee Defeats Louisiana.

New Orleans, Oct. 29.—In a very one-sided game Sewanee defeated Louisiana State University 31 to 5 here this afternoon. Sewanee netted four touchdowns, a safety and two field goals, both kicked by Gillen from the 30 yard line. Sewanee's back field was much the superior, but Louisiana's line held well. Browne, Sewanee's little quarterback, did sensational work.

Georgia Wins from Mercer.

Athens, Ga., Oct. 29.—Georgia defeated Mercer here today by the score of 21 to 0. In the first quarter neither side was able to do any damage. In the second and third quarters Georgia scored one touchdown each, goal being kicked in each instance. In the last quarter a field goal and another touchdown and goal brought the score to 21 to 0. Both sides worked the forward pass several times.

Vanderbilt Won Good Game.

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 29.—A spectacular run of 90 yards by Quarterback ADD GEORGETOWN. ... ... Morris, of Vanderbilt, was the main factor in Mississippi's defeat by the Commodores here today—the final count being 9 to 2. Vanderbilt scored a touchdown and goal with a field goal by Capt. Keely while Mississippi's score was a safety that resulted when Capt. Neely fumbled and then booted the ball behind his own goal line, falling upon it.

Blues Defeat Franklin Squad.

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 29.—By the score of 15 to 6, the Norfolk Light Artillery Blues today defeated the strong eleven from the United States receiving ship Franklin. The sailors played a steady uphill game, and the Blues had the hardest battle of the season to defeat them.

Inter-Scholastic Declamation Contest. Campus Visitors—Other News.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Trinity College, Durham, N. C., Oct. 29.—The announcements of the inter-Scholastir derlamation contest to be held here in November has met with an especially favorable reply from the larger high schools of the State. Many schools have already indicated their intention to send contestants, although the list of competitors is to remain open until November 11th. Rutherford College and Wilmington High Schol were the first to reply after the announcement of conditions was made in September. Then a great many others followed. Schools at Lancaster, S. C., and Norfolk and Danville, Va., and two or three others of good standing, not definitely heard from, will send declaimers. Enthusiasm seems to be running high in the various schools, for in one school there are 25 students competing for the honor. Final designs for the medal to be awarded the winner are already in the hands of the jeweler.

Mr. H. G. Foard, of Wilmington, has been spending some time on the campus. Besides being a very popular man while here in college, Mr. Foard was the first editor of the Chronicle, the college weekly paper. He was a member of the class of 1905.

The annual Junior jollification will be observed by the present class on the night of Tuesday, November 1st. A varied programme of toasts, class yells, songs, quartettes, class poems, etc., has been arranged with the corners filled with good things to eat and a general good time.

All arrangements for inauguration day are now complete. Invitations to the various functions that will mark the day have been mailed and responses that are pouring in with every mail indicate that the inauguration will be one of the most brilliant events that have taken place in the Southern college world since the inauguration of President Alderman of the University of Virginia, several years ago. The attendance of visiting alumni is expected to be unusually large.

Bishop John C. Kilgo, who has been attending a meeting of the Board of Missions of the Methodist church in Nashivlle, Tenn., and a meeting of the College of Bishops in session at New Orleans, has returned to the Park for a few days.

BLEACHERS COLLAPSED.

Score Injured Among Two Thousand Witnessing Boxing Bout.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct .29.—A score of men were hurt tonight when a huge bleacher stand collapsed on the second floor of the old City Hall here, now usd as a market house. Three hundred spectators at a boxing exhibition were precipitated into a tangled mass of bodies and splintered wood. The stand is said to have been sufficiently supported by braces, and that the collapse was due to the vibrations causd by the boxers during the mills.

Two thousand men in the hall were in a panic when the collapse came and scores of police restrained spectators from jumping down stairways and from the windows. Hospital ambulances and police patrol wagons rushed many to local hospitals where injuries were dressed.

Police official and Sheriff Judd Bruff, of the county, jumped into the ring and after strenuous efforts succeeded in reassuring the frightened crowd. None of the injured are seriously hurt.

Only one more week of The Star's Great Contest.

INDUSTIAL DEVELOPMENTS

Many New Enterprises for the South Reported this Week—Revival in Several Lines of Activity—Mining and Lands.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Baltimore, Oct. 27.—Reports from all parts of the South to the Manufacturers' Record show considerable activity in the organization of new industrial and mining enterprises, as well as in the improvements of existing plants.

There is at the same time an increasing tendency on the part of outside people to invest in Southern mineral and timber properties for development, as well as in agricultural lands for colonization purposes. Throughout the South is marked activity in the erection of costly church and school buildings, this feature of Southern life being more noticeable at present than ever before. Indicative of the business conditions prevailing throughout the South are the announcements made during the week of industrial and mining developments, which include coal mining and lumber manufacturing operations, the opening up of new land for sugar cultivation and building of sugar mills, quarrying, iron ore mining, the building of new cotton mills and the enlargement of existing plants, the construction of waterworks, electric light plants and the ing and other municipal work. Among some of the leading industrial operations reported for the week were the following:

LaFeria Sugar Company, La. Feria, Tex., incorporated with a capital stock of $2,000,000 to establish a 6,000 acre sugar plantation and to build a mill with an initial daily capacity of 1,000 tons of sugar which will be increased to 2,000 tons.

Righter Coal & Coke Co., Lost Creek, W. Va., has awarded contracts for machinery, erection of houses, construction of tipples, etc., for developing 700 acres of coal land and plans a daily capacity of 2,000 to 2,500 tons of coal.

NATIONAL WASTE IN FORESTS

Damage by Fire in Montana and Northern Idaho, Subject of Interesting Study by U. S. Forestry Service.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Washington, D. C., Oct. 29.—A rough estimate of the fire loss upon the National Forests in Montana and northern Idaho, upon which the Forest officers of the U. S. Department of Agriculture have been engaged since the fires were put out, puts the total amount of timber killed or destroyed in this one district at over 6 billion board feet, while the area burned over is put at over 1 1-4 million acres.

The heaviest losses were in two Idaho Forests, the Coeur d'Alene, where over 3 billion feet of timber are reported killed or destroyed and over 450 thousands acres burned over, and the Clearwater, where 1 billion feet of timber were killed or destroyed and 300 thousand acres burned over. On the Helena National Forest, in Montana, the loss in timber is believed to have been 500 million feet, on the Cabinet Forest 400 million, and on the Lolo Forest 300 million.

A large part of the losses on the Coeur d'Alene, Clearwater, and Lolo were due to what became practically one great fire. The burn is shown on the Forest Service maps as extending in a northwesterly and southeasterly direction from north of Wallace, Idaho, to a point some 30 miles southwest of Missoula, Mont., or nearly 100 miles. At its widest point this burn has a width of about 40 miles, but its shape is very irregular.

It was realy a union of a number of separate fires, driven to fury by the fierce hurricane of August 26. To the west of the Idaho-Montana boundary in the region of this fire lies a very inaccessible mountainous country, into which, on account of the absence of trails and of forage, it was almost impossible for forces of fire fighters to penetrate. When the hurricane arose it drove the fires upon the parties which were hewing a way towards them, forced these parties to seek refuge wherever it could be found, and swept down upon the forests where the fires were up to that time generally well in hand. The extensive losses are ascribed to the combination of hurricane and lack of means to get to the fires and put them out before the storm came. On the Forests which were best equipped for controlling fires the results achieved are regarded as a demonstration of the efficiency of the fire-fighting methods employed, even under highly adverse natural conditions.

Forester Graves believes that, as usually happens in the case of big fires, there will be found to be considerable areas of living timber within the regions now mapped as entirely burned over. Of necessity, the figures given are tentative, for it has been impossible to examine all the burned areas thoroughly. As fast as possible, however, the forest officers are locating and estimating the bodies of timber killed but capable of being lumbered, if taken in time. There will be an enormous quantity of fire-killed timber, both on the National Forests and on private lands, to be disposed of as soon as possible, since if not marketed quickly it will not be worth cutting at all.

The Department of Agriculture will push vigorously to dispose of this fire-killed timber. As with all other National Forest timber, it will be sold on the stump, to millmen who will lumber the land, paying a set price per thousand board feet for the timber, and conforming to whatever regulations are stipulated in the interest of the forest. Pending the disposal of this fire-killed timber, future sales of green timber from the National Forests which were badly burned last summer will probably be greatly restricted, if not entirely suspended.

Since the amount to be disposed of is doubtless greater than can be marketed in any event, and since it is better for the country that the timber should be utilized than that it should go to waste in the woods, the price at which it will be sold will be lower than would be asked for the timber under ordinary circumstances. Generally speaking, Secretary Wilson does not regard it as a wise public policy to sell off the National Forest timber except when it is in reasonably good demand, for the country is sure to need the supply later on. But with the fire-killed timber it is a case of now or never. Consequently there is an unusual opening for lumbermen who are ready to buy National Forest stumpage at bargain prices.

How much of the 6 billion feet which was either killed or burned up in Montana and northern Idaho can eventually be salvaged it is of course impossible to predict. If it were all a total loss, and if its stumpage value were put at the average price at which National Forest timber was sold last year, it would be the equivalent of a money loss of about fifteen million dollars.

It is believed that last Summer's fires either burned up or killed between one and two per cent. of the total stand of National Forest timber. At the present rate of cutting from the National Forests, 6 billion feet is equal to 12 year's supply; but it is less than one-sixth of a single year's cut in the entire country, or enough to keep all our lumber mills busy for something under two months.

A MUNICIPAL BAND.

San Antonio to Have Something Brand New—Civics.

San Antonio, Tex., Oct. 29.—San Antonio is to have a municipal band supported half by the city and half by the citizens and which it is proposed to have as efficient as the famous police band, known all over the world, of the City of Mexico. The City Council has named a committee of four and the citizens a committee of five to form a joint committee of nine to work out the details. The band will consist of 40 pieces and concerts will be given every other day in the plazas and parks of the city during the Autumn, Winter and Spring months. The Civic Improvement League started the idea which was endorsed by the entire citizenship and a large subsidy will be devoted to carry out the plan of maintaining a famous band. The balmy Winter weather permits of open air concerts under skies that have been compared to those of the Italian Riviera. It is believed these municipal concerts will be the means of attracting thousands of additional Winter tourists to San Antonio. The band will also play on different civic occasions. Each plaza has its own park, green the year round, and bright even in mid-Winter with roses and brilliant beds of flowers. It is a pleasant experience when blizzards are howling in the North for the visitor to sit in the fragrance of flowers listening to concert music in the warm sunshine of an ideal day.

NEW, POWERFUL GERMICIDE

Prof. H. C. Carel, of University of Minnesota, Claims Wonderful Discovery of Great Value to Medical Science.

Minneapolis, Oct. 29—To a Minnesota seat of learning, belongs the honor of giving to the world the most wonderful discovery for the physical benefit of mankind that has been known, since medical science discovered the germ theory.

Prof. H. C. Carel of the University of Minnesota, for many years head of the department of medical chemistry and toxicology and chemist to the Minnesota state board of health has discovered a chemical, which will revolutionize the warfare upon germ life that has been the enemy of the human system, and bring success in cases where the paysician and surgeon has been heretofore baffled because of the lack of a proper agent with which to wage the warfare.

Before giving out the result of his research, Prof. Carel has had exhaustive tests made by several of the leading state and university bacteriologists, and their reports having more than born out his own, he comes before the world of medical science with his discovery, which he has fancifully styled Benetol, (Benetum Naptholum) in spite of the desire of many of his friends that he give the chemical his own name:

To the public mind. it is enough to know that the new chemical is eight times as strong as carbolic acid, and yet is not a poison. That is to say, that by his discovery, physicians will be enabled to attack the deadly germs where they are lodged and living, within human beings,exactly as they have been attacking them externally. Never before, have the guardians of the public health been able to give doses of any of the disinfectants in sufficient strength to kill germs.

It is now claimed for the first time, science has a weapon with which to attack the germs that have hitherto been within the human frame.

It is claimed by some of the enthusiastic scientists who have tested benetol, that it will mean the ending of the terror which has attended typhus, cholera and all germ diseases. How far it may prove successful it is admitted will depend upon careful tests, but so far actual tests upon people in hospitals in various states have brought reports of even greater success than had been expected by Prof. Carel and his co-workers.

"I dislike discussing the success of my work until it has been proved beyond a doubt by medical science," said Prof. Carel, speakingof the new chemical. "As for my faith in it, I can only say that I am so confident, that I am willing to submit myself to cholera infection, to prove that it can be successfully treated with my discovery. I firmly believe, that if Benetol had been known, and in use in Russia during this last terrible epidemic, it would have been arrested.

"It may be difficult for the lay mind to realize the great benefits of a powerful germicide, which can be taken internally. In plain language it means that internal infection can be arrested just as effectually by its use, as external infection has been in the past by the old agents. As a further illustration in another way, suppose a soldier, parched with thirst after a battle, came upon a pool of stagnant water, in which the deadly typhus germ was present by millions. He might dip his cup full of that germ poison, and by adding one drop of this new chemical, that water would become harmless, and would instantly change from a germ poison, to a beneficial medicated drink."

It is probable that the medical journals will very shortly be full of discussions regarding the practicability of the use of the new chemical in thousands of different ways. First tests, it is claimed,will probably be made upon animals for new uses.

The first result of the discovery however, will be to displace in time, the use of the carbolic acid, which is so generally used for self destruction. it is even possible that now a more powerful substitute that is harmless, has been found, the sale of carbolic acid may in time be prohibited by law, and the use of lysol and peroxide be practically done away with. Morover Benetol can be produced so cheaply that it can be used among the very poor, as well as the rich.

READY FOR GRAND PRIZE RACES

Entry List of More Than 38 of Greatest Automobiles Ever Constructed—Making the Course and Patrolling It.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Savannah, Ga., Oct. 29.—With an entry list of more than 38 of the greatest automobiles ever constructed specially for a long race at lightning speed, including the following cars: Three Benz, three Fiat, one Renault, one Roeblin-Blanche, three Marmon-Nordyke, three Buick, two Mercer, three Maxwell, one Alco, one Lancia, three Fal, two Cole, two Lozier, three National, two Pope-Hertford, two Oldsmobile, one Stoddard-Dayton, one Chadwick and one Simplex, and possibly a dozen more entries that will be added to this list next week, the International Light Car and Grand Prize Races will be pulled off promptly at 9 o'clock Friday and Saturday mornings, November 11th and 12th, over the greatest course in the world and directly under the supervision of military authority.

That there will be excitement of a variety not seen in this country before goes without saying, when such speed kings as Wagner, Hemery, Nazzaro, DePalma, the Chevrolets, Burman, Mulford, Knipper, Bruce-Brown, Haupt and a score of other dare-devils are at the wheels of the fastest motive power traveling on earth.

The course is even faster than the cars strange as it may seem, but the drivers have admitted this, and have said time and again that they could pull the throttle wide open and advance the spark to the limit, feeling safe all the while and not fearing that a tire or anything else will give way, in such perfect condition are the roads.

But just think how much better will be the conditions during the races, when every inch of the course will be oiled, which work was started Thursday, and the perfect military patrol, which will not even permit a chicken to poke its bill beyond the dead line. An animal would be shot down immediately if the military man thought it liable to get in the way, otherwise the accident following might mean the death of several or both drivers and machinists.

The course being only 17 miles long, there will be a car passing the grandstand or any other point along the course every 42 seconds.

Sacramento Cal., October 28.—True to his racial trait, Wilbur Benjamin, an indian murderer of Violet Gilmore today met death stoically on the gallows at Folsom penitenary. Benjamin smoked while the warden Reilly read the death warrant to him.

GEN. BIXBY ON WATERWAYS

Chief of Engineers of United States Army Talks Interestingly of River and Harbors Congress in December.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Washington, D. C. Oct. 29—The Chief of Engineers of the Army, General William H. Bixby, looks forward with hopefulness to the next meeting of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, which will assemble in Washington December 7th, 8th, and 9th.

This great organization of business and public spirited men, it is expected will so conduct its deliberations as to give greater strength and prestige to the movement for an annualappropriation for American waterway improvments.

"Something I said on the subject of the important part the press could play in the work of education along this line," said General Bixby, "has been somewhat expanded, but that the press can do much good, is, of course, to be recognized, and will be recognized."

The friends of a great national system of waterway improvement as members of the Rivers and Harbors Congress, in his opinion, should work with a common purpose to promote legislation for the projects of the largest scope and of national importance, projects such as have the undisputed approval of the engineer officers as well as of the commercial interests immediately concerned.

The reports of the engineers offic ers upon their work for the year are now in the office of the Secretary of War for his consideration and will be ready for transmission to Congress at its opening.

In response to a suggestion as to what in the concrete, if he were a member of the organization, he would recommend to the Rivers and Harbors Congress, General Bixby said the thing of greatest importance to be achieved was an established system of annual appropriations which should embrace the largest and most important projects, such as are of recognized general and national scope, and such as are approved by the engineers officers of the army, subordinating minor projects had been completed.

Among important incidental problems to be considered were those devolving upon localities and the states to do their share in the expediting of these great public works, such as providing terminals for loading and unloading craft. The general government's work is to take care of the navigation of rivers and harbors and it ends at thepoint where local and individual business interests begin.

"The Corps of Engineers," said General Bixby, "are ready to help all they know how to bring about the consummation of an approved, economical and practical system of waterway improvement, assured and sustained by annual appropriations. Whether our sympathy and our convictions on this line will amount to a material help will, of course, depend largely upon the temper and the work of the Rivers and Harbors Congress. We certainly want to help all we can."

Braine Le Comte, Belgium, Oct., 28—After having flown approximately 150 miles as easy as the crow flies in his attempt to reach Brussels from Paris, in an aeroplane, M. Mathieu landed here this evening and owing to darkness was unable to proceed further. The aviator therefore failed of his purpose by 20 miles.

point of their gridiron battle here today and won by the score of 23 to 9. The game was played in a cold wind with occasional flurries of snow. Captain Hodgson, of V. P. I., was the star of the occasion. Time and again he hucked the line, plunging through it almost every time. Legge, for the Techs, punted for every goal but once and then he had to kick on a wide angle in a hard wind. The Techs worked the forward pass twice.

Carolina Freshmen.

Chapel Hill, N. C., Oct. 29.—In a rather one-sided football game here today the University freshmen defeated the Bingham-Mebane team 30 to 0. The Freshmen scored most of their points by fast straight football. The forward pass and on side kick being used successfully. Bingham didn't have a chance to score during the bame. The old Wilmington High School men played on the freshmen team, Clark starring at left end, Hardin playing well at full back. Lord played a good quarter when he went in. Captain Worth for the freshmen also played a good game at left half. The weather was typical football weather, a real light snow having fallen during the game.

Kentucky Defeats Tulane.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 29.—Tulane lost a hard fought football game to the State University of Kentucky here today 3 to 10. The visitors gave the local enthusiasts the first sight of the new substitute rules calling a drop-kicker from the sidelines to make their field goal and then replacing him by the man whose position he took in the next period.

Pennsylvania Defeated.

Ithaca, N. Y., Oct. 29.—Cornell easily defeated Pennsylvania 11 to 46 in the first cross-country duel race of the Fall here today over a five and one quarter mile course that was familiar to Cornell men.

The race was a walk-away for Coach Moakley's runners, who won the first three places. Wall, of Pennsylvania, came in fourth and then six Cornellians ramped across the line of succession, the Pennsylvania men following.

J. P. Jones, Cornell's recruit from last year's freshmen defeated Tell Berna, the inter-collegiate two mile championship by 45 yards. His time was 29.04.

Sewanee Defeats Louisiana.

New Orleans, Oct. 29.—In a very one-sided game Sewanee defeated Louisiana State University 31 to 5 here this afternoon. Sewanee netted four touchdowns, a safety and two field goals, both kicked by Gillen from the 30 yard line. Sewanee's back field was much the superior, but Louisiana's line held well. Browne, Sewanee's little quarterback, did sensational work.

Georgia Wins from Mercer.

Athens, Ga., Oct. 29.—Georgia defeated Mercer here today by the score of 21 to 0. In the first quarter neither side was able to do any damage. In the second and third quarters Georgia scored one touchdown each, goal being kicked in each instance. In the last quarter a field goal and another touchdown and goal brought the score to 21 to 0. Both sides worked the forward pass several times.

Vanderbilt Won Good Game.

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 29.—A spectacular run of 90 yards by Quarterback Morris, of Vanderbilt, was the main factor in Mississippi's defeat by the Commodores here today—the final count being 9 to 2. Vanderbilt scored a touchdown and goal with a field goal by Capt. Keely while Mississippi's score was a safety that resulted when Capt. Neely fumbled and then booted the ball behind his own goal line, falling upon it.

Blues Defeat Franklin Squad.

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 29.—By the score of 15 to 6, the Norfolk Light Artillery Blues today defeated the strong eleven from the United States receiving ship Franklin. The sailors played a steady uphill game, and the Blues had the hardest battle of the season to defeat them.

Inter-Scholastic Declamation Contest. Campus Visitors—Other News.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Trinity College, Durham, N. C., Oct. 29.—The announcements of the inter-Scholastir declamation contest to be held here in November has met with an especially favorable reply from the larger high schools of the State. Many schools have already indicated their intention to send contestants, although the list of competitors is to remain open until November 11th. Rutherford College and Wilmington High Schol were the first to reply after the announcement of conditions was made in September. Then a great many others followed. Schools at Lancaster, S. C., and Norfolk and Danville, Va., and two or three others of good standing, not definitely heard from, will send declaimers. Enthusiasm seems to be running high in the various schools, for in one school there are 25 students competing for the honor. Final designs for the medal to be awarded the winner are already in the hands of the jeweler.

Mr. H. G. Foard, of Wilmington, has been spending some time on the campus. Besides being a very popular man while here in college, Mr. Foard was the first editor of the Chronicle, the college weekly paper. He was a member of the class of 1905.

The annual Junior jollification will be observed by the present class on the night of Tuesday, November 1st. A varied programme of toasts, class yells, songs, quartettes, class poems, etc., has been arranged with the corners filled with good things to eat and a general good time.

All arrangements for inauguration day are now complete. Invitations to the various functions that will mark the day have been mailed and responses that are pouring in with every mail indicate that the inauguration will be one of the most brilliant events that have taken place in the Southern college world since the inauguration of President Alderman of the University of Virginia, several years ago. The attendance of visiting alumni is expected to be unusually large.

Bishop John C. Kilgo, who has been attending a meeting of the Board of Missions of the Methodist church in Nashiville, Tenn., and a meeting of the College of Bishops in session at New Orleans, has returned to the Park for a few days.

BLEACHERS COLLAPSED.

Score Injured Among Two Thousand Witnessing Boxing Bout.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct .29.—A score of men were hurt tonight when a huge bleacher stand collapsed on the second floor of the old City Hall here, now usd as a market house. Three hundred spectators at a boxing exhibition were precipitated into a tangled mass of bodies and splintered wood. The stand is said to have been sufficiently supported by braces, and that the collapse was due to the vibrations causd by the boxers during the mills.

Two thousand men in the hall were in a panic when the collapse came and scores of police restrained spectators from jumping down stairways and from the windows. Hospital ambulances and police patrol wagons rushed many to local hospitals where injuries were dressed.

Police official and Sheriff Judd Bruff, of the county, jumped into the ring and after strenuous efforts succeeded in reassuring the frightened crowd. None of the injured are seriously hurt.

Only one more week of The Star's Great Contest.

INDUSTIAL DEVELOPMENTS

Many New Enterprises for the South Reported this Week—Revival in Several Lines of Activity—Mining and Lands.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Baltimore, Oct. 27.—Reports from all parts of the South to the Manufacturers' Record show considerable activity in the organization of new industrial and mining enterprises, as well as in the improvements of existing plants.

There is at the same time an increasing tendency on the part of outside people to invest in Southern mineral and timber properties for development, as well as in agricultural lands for colonization purposes. Throughout the South is marked activity in the erection of costly church and school buildings, this feature of Southern life being more noticeable at present than ever before. Indicative of the business conditions prevailing throughout the South are the announcements made during the week of industrial and mining developments, which include coal mining and lumber manufacturing operations, the opening up of new land for sugar cultivation and building of sugar mills, quarrying, iron ore mining, the building of new cotton mills and the enlargement of existing plants, the construction of waterworks, electric light plants and the ing and other municipal work. Among some of the leading industrial operations reported for the week were the following:

LaFeria Sugar Company, La. Feria, Tex., incorporated with a capital stock of $2,000,000 to establish a 6,000 acre sugar plantation and to build a mill with an initial daily capacity of 1,000 tons of sugar which will be increased to 2,000 tons.

Del Carbo Coal and Coke Co., Logan, W. Va., will develop 3,000 acres of coal land and plans a daily output of 3,000 tons of coal.

Dauphin Island Railway & Harbor Co., Dauphin Island, Ala., is understood to be planning an expenditure of several million dollars for construction docks, coaling station and a bridge to connect Dauphin Island with the mainland.

Benedum-Trees Oil Co., Shreveport, La., plans an expenditure of $200,000 for a 20-mile pipe line to convey oil from the Caddo field and $300,000 to build a refinery with a daily capacity of 5,000 barrels of oil.

Righter Coal & Coke Co., Lost Creek, W. Va., has awarded contracts for machinery, erection of houses, construction of tipples, etc., for developing 700 acres of coal land and plans a daily capacity of 2,000 to 2,500 tons of coal.

Braxton Splint Coal Co., Gassaway, W. Va., incorporated with a capital stock of $5,000 by Ohio capitalists to develop West Virginia coal lands.

Dunson Mills, LaGrange, Ga., incorporated with a capital stock of $2,500,000 to build a cotton factory.

Giant Furniture Co., High Point, N. C., incorporated with a capital stock of $150,000 to manufacture furniture.

Woodside Cotton Mills, Greenville, S. C., will hold a director's meeting on Nov. 15, to vote on increasing capital stock from $800,000 to $1,200,000.

G. B. Worthen, Tuscaloosa, Ala., plans establishing a creosoting plant with daily capacity of 25,000 feet of timber.

Nolte-Selway Coal Co., Wheeling, W. Va., incorporated with a capital stock of $150,000 to develop coal lands.

Ben Franklin Coal Co., Freeport, Pa., will develop 700 acres of coal land near Moundsville, W. Va., and plans a daily capacity of 1,000 tons of coal.

Union Foundry Co., Anniston, Ala., will build a 250 foot addition and increase annual capacity from 18,000 to 24,000 tons of pipe.

White Lake Flooring and Lumber Co., Houston, Tex., incorporated with a capital stock of $200,000 to operate flooring and lumber mills.

Silver Hill Mill & Mining Co., Larfa, Tex., incorporated with a capital stock of $250,000.

Baren River Stone Co., Bowling Green, Ky., incorporated with a capital stock of $30,000 to quarry stone.

Simpson & Doeller Co., Baltimore, Md., is having plans prepared for a printing plant, the building and machinery to cost $150,000.

National Lumber Co., Concord, N. C., incorporated with a capital stock of $100,000.

Savannah Brick Works, Savannah, Ga., incorporated with capital stock of $50,000.

Among the many building reported as to be erected were the following:

$3,650,000 Commerce and Labor building, $2,200,000 State Department building and $1,900,000 Department of Justice building at Washington.

$1,000,000 Masonic Temple at Washington; $54,000 Court House at Tifton, Ga.; $100,000 theatre at Baltimore; $60,000 freight warehouse and station at Frederick, Md.; $20,000 hotel at Camden, Ten.; $75,000 hotel at LaPorte, Texas; $33,000 store building at Dallas, Texas; $10,000 warehouse at Luray, Va.; $50,000 police station at Norfolk, Va.; $250,000 hotel at Wrightsville Beach, near Wilmington, N. NATIONAL WASTE IN FORESTS

Damage by Fire in Montana and Northern Idaho, Subject of Interesting Study by U. S. Forestry Service.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Washington, D. C., Oct. 29.—A rough estimate of the fire loss upon the National Forests in Montana and northern Idaho, upon which the Forest officers of the U. S. Department of Agriculture have been engaged since the fires were put out, puts the total amount of timber killed or destroyed in this one district at over 6 billion board feet, while the area burned over is put at over 1 1-4 million acres.

The heaviest losses were in two Idaho Forests, the Coeur d'Alene, where over 3 billion feet of timber are reported killed or destroyed and over 450 thousands acres burned over, and the Clearwater, where 1 billion feet of timber were killed or destroyed and 300 thousand acres burned over. On the Helena National Forest, in Montana, the loss in timber is believed to have been 500 million feet, on the Cabinet Forest 400 million, and on the Lolo Forest 300 million.

A large part of the losses on the Coeur d'Alene, Clearwater, and Lolo were due to what became practically one great fire. The burn is shown on the Forest Service maps as extending in a northwesterly and southeasterly direction from north of Wallace, Idaho, to a point some 30 miles southwest of Missoula, Mont., or nearly 100 miles. At its widest point this burn has a width of about 40 miles, but its shape is very irregular.

It was realy a union of a number of separate fires, driven to fury by the fierce hurricane of August 26. To the west of the Idaho-Montana boundary in the region of this fire lies a very inaccessible mountainous country, into which, on account of the absence of trails and of forage, it was almost impossible for forces of fire fighters to penetrate. When the hurricane arose it drove the fires upon the parties which were hewing a way towards them, forced these parties to seek refuge wherever it could be found, and swept down upon the forests where the fires were up to that time generally well in hand. The extensive losses are ascribed to the combination of hurricane and lack of means to get to the fires and put them out before the storm came. On the Forests which were best equipped for controlling fires the results achieved are regarded as a demonstration of the efficiency of the fire-fighting methods employed, even under highly adverse natural conditions.

Forester Graves believes that, as usually happens in the case of big fires, there will be found to be considerable areas of living timber within the regions now mapped as entirely burned over. Of necessity, the figures given are tentative, for it has been impossible to examine all the burned areas thoroughly. As fast as possible, however, the forest officers are locating and estimating the bodies of timber killed but capable of being lumbered, if taken in time. There will be an enormous quantity of fire-killed timber, both on the National Forests and on private lands, to be disposed of as soon as possible, since if not marketed quickly it will not be worth cutting at all.

The Department of Agriculture will push vigorously to dispose of this fire-killed timber. As with all other National Forest timber, it will be sold on the stump, to millmen who will lumber the land, paying a set price per thousand board feet for the timber, and conforming to whatever regulations are stipulated in the interest of the forest. Pending the disposal of this fire-killed timber, future sales of green timber from the National Forests which were badly burned last summer will probably be greatly restricted, if not entirely suspended.

Since the amount to be disposed of is doubtless greater than can be marketed in any event, and since it is better for the country that the timber should be utilized than that it should go to waste in the woods, the price at which it will be sold will be lower than would be asked for the timber under ordinary circumstances. Generally speaking, Secretary Wilson does not regard it as a wise public policy to sell off the National Forest timber except when it is in reasonably good demand, for the country is sure to need the supply later on. But with the fire-killed timber it is a case of now or never. Consequently there is an unusual opening for lumbermen who are ready to buy National Forest stumpage at bargain prices.

How much of the 6 billion feet which was either killed or burned up in Montana and northern Idaho can eventually be salvaged it is of course impossible to predict. If it were all a total loss, and if its stumpage value were put at the average price at which National Forest timber was sold last year, it would be the equivalent of a money loss of about fifteen million dollars.

It is believed that last Summer's fires either burned up or killed between one and two per cent. of the total stand of National Forest timber. At the present rate of cutting from the National Forests, 6 billion feet is equal to 12 year's supply; but it is less than one-sixth of a single year's cut in the entire country, or enough to keep all our lumber mills busy for something under two months.

A MUNICIPAL BAND.

San Antonio to Have Something Brand New—Civics.

San Antonio, Tex., Oct. 29.—San Antonio is to have a municipal band supported half by the city and half by the citizens and which it is proposed to have as efficient as the famous police band, known all over the world, of the City of Mexico. The City Council has named a committee of four and the citizens a committee of five to form a joint committee of nine to work out the details. The band will consist of 40 pieces and concerts will be given every other day in the plazas and parks of the city during the Autumn, Winter and Spring months. The Civic Improvement League started the idea which was endorsed by the entire citizenship and a large subsidy will be devoted to carry out the plan of maintaining a famous band. The balmy Winter weather permits of open air concerts under skies that have been compared to those of the Italian Riviera. It is believed these municipal concerts will be the means of attracting thousands of additional Winter tourists to San Antonio. The band will also play on different civic occasions. Each plaza has its own park, green the year round, and bright even in mid-Winter with roses and brilliant beds of flowers. It is a pleasant experience when blizzards are howling in the North for the visitor to sit in the fragrance of flowers listening to concert music in the warm sunshine of an ideal day.

CUMBERLAND FAIR.

Races Yesterday Best of the Week—The Winners.

Fayetteville, N. C., Oct. 28.—The third and last day's racing of the Fayetteville Fair meet furnished the classiest race in North Carolina this year; it was one of the last that will be held on the southern circuits this season, the free for all, won by, Lucius Todd, 2:03 1-2. The famous grand circuit pacer, who took three heats after Alto Clark waltzed away with the first.

Also Clark took second money, Sanday Hal, by trailing purposely at start of fourth heat and hanging to Todd took second place and third coin. Marguerite, winner of last year's free for all, took fourth money.

NEW, POWERFUL GERMICIDE

Prof. H. C. Carel, of University of Minnesota, Claims Wonderful Discovery of Great Value to Medical Science.

Minneapolis, Oct. 29—To a Minnesota seat of learning, belongs the honor of giving to the world the most wonderful discovery for the physical benefit of mankind that has been known, since medical science discovered the germ theory.

Prof. H. C. Carel of the University of Minnesota, for many years head of the department of medical chemistry and toxicology and chemist to the Minnesota state board of health has discovered a chemical, which will revolutionize the warfare upon germ life that has been the enemy of the human system, and bring success in cases where the paysician and surgeon has been heretofore baffled because of the lack of a proper agent with which to wage the warfare.

Before giving out the result of his research, Prof. Carel has had exhaustive tests made by several of the leading state and university bacteriologists, and their reports having more than born out his own, he comes before the world of medical science with his discovery, which he has fancifully styled Benetol, (Benetum Naptholum) in spite of the desire of many of his friends that he give the chemical his own name:

To the public mind it is enough to know that the new chemical is eight times as strong as carbolic acid, and yet is not a poison. That is to say, that by his discovery, physicians will be enabled to attack the deadly germs where they are lodged and living, within human beings,exactly as they have been attacking them externally. Never before, have the guardians of the public health been able to give doses of any of the disinfectants in sufficient strength to kill germs.

It is now claimed for the first time, science has a weapon with which to attack the germs that have hitherto been within the human frame.

It is claimed by some of the enthusiastic scientists who have tested benetol, that it will mean the ending of the terror which has attended typhus, cholera and all germ diseases. How far it may prove successful it is admitted will depend upon careful tests, but so far actual tests upon people in hospitals in various states have brought reports of even greater success than had been expected by Prof. Carel and his co-workers.

"I dislike discussing the success of my work until it has been proved beyond a doubt by medical science," said Prof. Carel, speakingof the new chemical. "As for my faith in it, I can only say that I am so confident, that I am willing to submit myself to cholera infection, to prove that it can be successfully treated with my discovery. I firmly believe, that if Benetol had been known, and in use in Russia during this last terrible epidemic, it would have been arrested.

"It may be difficult for the lay mind to realize the great benefits of a powerful germicide, which can be taken internally. In plain language it means that internal infection can be arrested just as effectually by its use, as external infection has been in the past by the old agents. As a further illustration in another way, suppose a soldier, parched with thirst after a battle, came upon a pool of stagnant water, in which the deadly typhus germ was present by millions. He might dip his cup full of that germ poison, and by adding one drop of this new chemical, that water would become harmless, and would instantly change from a germ poison, to a beneficial medicated drink."

It is probable that the medical journals will very shortly be full of discussions regarding the practicability of the use of the new chemical in thousands of different ways. First tests, it is claimed,will probably be made upon animals for new uses.

The first result of the discovery however, will be to displace in time, the use of the carbolic acid, which is so generally used for self destruction. It is even possible that now a more powerful substitute that is harmless, has been found, the sale of carbolic acid may in time be prohibited by law, and the use of lysol and peroxide be practically done away with. Morover Benetol can be produced so cheaply that it can be used among the very poor, as well as the rich.

READY FOR GRAND PRIZE RACES

Entry List of More Than 38 of Greatest Automobiles Ever Constructed—Making the Course and Patrolling It.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Savannah, Ga., Oct. 29.—With an entry list of more than 38 of the greatest automobiles ever constructed specially for a long race at lightning speed, including the following cars: Three Benz, three Fiat, one Renault, one Roeblin-Blanche, three Marmon-Nordyke, three Buick, two Mercer, three Maxwell, one Alco, one Lancia, three Fal, two Cole, two Lozier, three National, two Pope-Hertford, two Oldsmobile, one Stoddard-Dayton, one Chadwick and one Simplex, and possibly a dozen more entries that will be added to this list next week, the International Light Car and Grand Prize Races will be pulled off promptly at 9 o'clock Friday and Saturday mornings, November 11th and 12th, over the greatest course in the world and directly under the supervision of military authority.

That there will be excitement of a variety not seen in this country before goes without saying, when such speed kings as Wagner, Hemery, Nazzaro, DePalma, the Chevrelts, Burman, Mulford, Knipper, Bruce-Brown, Haupt and a score of other dare-devils are at the wheels of the fastest motive power traveling on earth.

The course is even faster than the cars strange as it may seem, but the drivers have admitted this, and have said time and again that they could pull the throttle wide open and advance the spark to the limit, feeling safe all the while and not fearing that a tire or anything else will give way, in such perfect condition are the roads.

But just think how much better will be the conditions during the races, when every inch of the course will be oiled, which work was started Thursday, and the perfect military patrol, which will not even permit a chicken to poke its bill beyond the dead line. An animal would be shot down immediately if the military man thought it liable to get in the way, otherwise the accident following might mean the death of several or both drivers and machinists.

The course being only 17 miles long, there will be a car passing the grandstand or any other point along the course every 42 seconds.

GEN. BIXBY ON WATERWAYS

Chief of Engineers of United States Army Talks Interestingly of River and Harbors Congress in December.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Washington, D. C. Oct. 29—The Chief of Engineers of the Army, General William H. Bixby, looks forward with hopefulness to the next meeting of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, which will assemble in Washington December 7th, 8th, and 9th.

This great organization of business and public spirited men, it is expected will so conduct its deliberations as to give greater strength and prestige to the movement for an annualappropriation for American waterway improvments.

"Something I said on the subject of the important part the press could play in the work of education along this line," said General Bixby, "has been somewhat expanded, but that the press can do much good, is, of course, to be recognized, and will be recognized."

The friends of a great national system of waterway improvement as members of the Rivers and Harbors Congress, in his opinion, should work with a common purpose to promote legislation for the projects of the largest scope and of national importance, projects such as have the undisputed approval of the engineer officers as well as of the commercial interests immediately concerned.

The reports of the engineers offic ers upon their work for the year are now in the office of the Secretary of War for his consideration and will be ready for transmission to Congress at its opening.

In response to a suggestion as to what in the concrete, if he were a member of the organization, he would recommend to the Rivers and Harbors Congress, General Bixby said the thing of greatest importance to be achieved was an established system of annual appropriations which should embrace the largest and most important projects, such as are of recognized general and national scope, and such as are approved by the engineers officers of the army, subordinating minor projects had been completed.

Among important incidental problems to be considered were those devolving upon localities and the states to do their share in the expediting of these great public works, such as providing terminals for loading and unloading craft. The general government's work is to take care of the navigation of rivers and harbors and it ends at thepoint where local and individual business interests begin.

"The Corps of Engineers," said General Bixby, "are ready to help all they know how to bring about the consummation of an approved, economical and practical system of waterway improvement, assured and sustained by annual appropriations. Whether our sympathy and our convictions on this line will amount to a material help will, of course, depend largely upon the temper and the work of the Rivers and Harbors Congress. We certainly want to help all we can."

FRUIT GROWING IN THE WEST

Farmer Who Uses Oil Heaters to Protect Trees and Strawberries Fields From Damage by Cold—Varieties.

(By T. W. C.)

Wadesboro, N. C., Oct. 29.—Down here in this balmy climate it does not seem to us that artificial means of warming the ground would ever become necessary and in fact a story of oil heaters used to keep the chill from plants sounds very much like a fairy tale. However, it has been done and is being done in the colder climate of the West. The story illustrates the truth that successful farming depends more on the "man behind the farm" than on quality of land or climatic conditions.

"The man behind the farm" who wins these days regardless of the surroundings wins because he has learned the needs of both land and climate and has mastered the art of culture and fertilization.

This is the story of a Kansas fruit farmer who for years has taken premiums at fairs at Hutchison, Wichita, Topeka, Winfield and other places in the Sunflower State and people have marveled at his fruit and wondered how he produced such results.

George W. Brown lives near Winfield, Kans., and when the buds on the fruit begin to swell in the Spring and the weather forecast is for a killing frost as frequently happens, he does not worry or fret, but goes out into the orchard and berry patches and lights 1,500 crude oil burners that are scattered judiciously over his 15 acres of fruit. Then he returns to the house and rests peacefully knowing that a protecting covering of heat hovers over his fruit farm throughout the chilly night.

What do you think of that?

Mr. Brown went to Kansas in 1856 and his father erected one of the first houses in the town of Leavenworth. From Leavenworth Mr. Brown moved to the farm where he now resides in the Fall of 1870. Ten years later he commenced experiments with fruit, and has been at it ever since.

Talking one day of his experiences, Mr. Brown said: "When I try an experiment I do not give up the first time. I always give the particular variety a second chance. If it does not make good then, I throw it away and forget it.

"I tried 17 different kinds of pears, setting out 390 trees. As years went by my success narrowed itself down to the Kiefer pear with a few Garber pears as a fertilizer. And I have found that my pears must not be cultivated; that I must let weeds and rank growth develop among them, cutting down the growth in the Fall. This for some unaccountable reason, keeps away the blight. I now have 85 pear trees. Three years ago I gathred 550 bushels of pears from the trees. This year nine pears from the trees laid side by side measured a yard.

"The most interesting thing about my fruit farm at present is the fact that I have a red raspberry which will consistently produce fruit in this section. The plant was developed in Ohio. I have tried it and found, after years of failure in other varieties, that it is the long-looked for producer, and I expect to plant five acres in this variety, which has been named the Haymaker.

I have several acres in black raspberries. My experiments have satisfied me that the Black Cap variety, developed by a man near Lawrence, Kans., whose name I have forgotten, is the best for this section. My ground is now all in this variety.

I tried 11 different kinds of Japanese plums and found the Burbank, the Red June, the Wickson, and the High Tanka all good. In cherries I prefer the Dye House and the Early Richmond for early varieties, and the Mt. Morency for a late cherry.

"I have 35 different varieties of strawberries on seven acres of ground. I consider a number of those varieties good, but the Senator Dunlap is, to my mind, the best.

"I have tried seven different kinds of apricots and have found the Early Golden best of all.

"In peaches experience has proven to my satisfaction that the Elberta, Champion and Crosby are good in the soil of this part of Kansas at least."

The oil heating proposition is certainly a feature of the story of Mr. Brown, and when he was asked of this he frankly said that a big feature in the matter of his success was this crude oil heater. It is possible to understand that heat can be held under trees in an orchard but the proposition to retain heat in the open and close enough to the ground to save strawberries seemed a difficult proposition and this was put thus to Mr. Brown.

"That is where you are mistaken," said Mr. Brown, "I had a fine illustration of the efficiency of the orchard heater last Spring. I had three different results in my strawberry patch. That part of the patch where I did not burn the oil heater yielded no berries. In a second section of the patch I burned the oil heaters, but ran out of oil during a portion of one night. In that section I had a fair yield of berries. In another section of the patch I burned the oil heater all night and had a fine yield of berries. Very few strawberry patches in this country hereabouts yielded strawberries last season. I used orchard heaters and had the field almost to myself, selling the berries at $3.75 per crate.

My method of using the orchard heater is simple. I make an open place several feet square in which to put each heater. As previously stated I try to have 80 heaters to the acre, with a double row along the outer edges of the patch. I try to light the crude oil in the heater between midinght and 1 o'clock in the morning. The gallon and a half of crude oil will burn eight hours.

"Of course, I burn the oil in the heater only when the weather conditions threaten to kill the bloom of the fruit. I keep the orchard heaters filled with a gallon and a half of crude oil ready for use and then light them when the thermometer shows it to be necessary. I expect to have about 1,500 orchard heaters ready for use next Spring practically covering my fruit farm of 15 acres with them."

OUR VANISHING DESERT.

Sage Brush Wastes Replaced by Waving Fields.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 29.—A quarter of a century ago any attention of the Great American desert called up visions of region of limitless extent, sunbaked, parched and desolate. A cuntry associated always with tales of suffering and death, of unfriendly savages, and deadly reptiles, for years it was passed over by Congress as worthless. The marvelous transformation which has been wrought in two decades in this land of silence and sunshine furnishes one of the most interesting and inspiring pages in the annals of our republic's development. The Great American desert is vanishing from the map. Its boundaries have shrunken and it no longer presents a formidable barier to the growth and progress of the far West. Twelve million acres of this rainless country have been subdued by means of agriculture and irrigation and are producing bountiful and assured harvests every year. A quarter of a million families are residing on farms and as many more have found homes and occupations in the cities, towns, and villages which have sprung up in the midst of the agricultural areas. Great dams have been constructed to impound the floods and through 70,000 miles of canals and ditches the life-giving water has been turned upon the dusty desert. The streams have been harnessed for power and an era of manufacturing is drawing in which all of the raw products of the farm, the forests and the mines will be prepared for the markets of the world. The comforts and luxuries heretofore unknown in agricultural regions already are obtainable in many of the western valleys. The farmer lights and heats his home with electricity and his heavy work is done cheaply by the same potent force. The trolley lines bring the farm and town close together. In a majority of the irrigated districts the farms are small—not more than 40 acres each. With 16 to 60 farm families to the square mile, isolation is eliminated and life in the country becomes more nearly urban than rural. While pioneering in this new country calls for a good deal of grit and not a little hard work the compensation it sure and abundant. Carving out a home in the desert is no child's play, it is a man's work, but there are few places where nature responds more quickly to intelligent industry than the irrigated coutnry. On the Government projects the past year has been a conspiciously prosperous one. The success of the average farmer in many instances has been remarkable. On several of the projects the crops on individual farms this year have yielded enough to enable the owners to repay to the Government every dollar of their obligations if they were so inclined. As the payments to the Government extend over a period of ten years without interest there is no object in meeting the same in advance and most of the farmers therefore are devoting their revenue to improving thir homes and in purchasing live stock and implements. One of the most interesting features of the upbuilding of thes new communities is the large number of settlers who have come from the cities and towns. Their cause they had little or no previous experience in farming, especially farming by irrigation. Under these circumstances the call of the open country is likely to appeal to others who have grown tired of the stress and fume of city life and the never ending struggle to make income and outgo balance.

The West is filling up so rapidly and the really choice locations are so few that it is only a question of time now when the increase of land values there will make it as difficult for the poor man to get a foothold as it is today in the East. Leters are pouring in to the Statistician of the Reclamation Service at Washington, D. C., for information about the lands which are ready for settlers on the several Reclamation projects. Approximately 500 farms are now open to entry under the ho estead act, with water ready for irrigating in Montana, Wyoming, South Dakota and Oregon. Are you looking for a home of your own.

SAVANNAH AUTO RACES.

International Light Car and Grand Prize Meet in November.

Savannah, Ga., Oct. 29.—Thousands thronged the course yesterday to see the great preparations that are being made for the International Light Car and Grand Prize Races, and they were well rewarded for their time and trouble, because all the foreign drivers were out for practice spins and the sharp "brushes" between De Palma and the Cyclone Fiat and Bruce in the 200 horse-power Benz made it almost as interesting as if a real race were going on.

The new addition to the foreign entries is a 100 horse-power Renault car, entered by G. L. Waggoner, of Fort Worth, Texas, which car holds the world's record in this country. Mr. Waggoner wired that the car had been shipped from Fort Worth and was billed through to reach Savannah next Sunday, the driver of which has not yet been named.

Today Willie Haupt, the third and last driver for the Benz car, blew into town and he was delighted to get back again. He says with the eleven turns eliminated from the old course, that there is no doubt but what his car will average 72 miles per hour, allowing for gasoline, oil and tires to be replaced.

The preparations are going on exceedingly fast; all the turns having been put in except two and these will be completed by Thursday.

ONE OF SOUTH'S BUILDERS.

Reclaimer of Vast Tracts of Swamp Land Visits Baltimore.

(Baltimore Sun.)

Mr. John A. Wilkinson, of North Carolina, the builder of Bethaven, N. C., where is located the largest cooperage plant in the world, and the pioneer in reclaiming swamp areas in his State, was a visitor to Baltimore yesterday.

Men like Mr. Wilkinson are laying the foundations for the great future of the South. Many years ago he saw millions of wealth in vast tracts of lands that were of no economical value and because of the disease they produced were a constant menace to the health of the communities in their vicinity. He secured the financial aid of large interests, while accumulating a fortune for himself in the lumber business, and induced the Norfolk Southern Railway to construct a railroad through a desolate section of his State in which only the eyes of a seer could discover any future.

He persuaded the Standard Oil Company to invest many hundreds of thousands of dollars in his town, having demonstrated to it that gum timber, in which the Southern swamps abound, and hitherto considered worthless because of the impossibility of drying it, was of great commercial value, a new process having been discovered for making it marketable.

Upon his success in these two instances Mr. Wilkinson laid the basis fro reclaimnig the swamp-cursed areas of his State. He raised his fortune in the venture, undertaking the reclamation work on a giant basis. Within three years he has reclaimed 20,000 acres, and his achievement attracted the attention of the entire South.

Every acre is of virgin fertility, producing without plowing or the application of fertilizers, but only by punching holes in the ground and dropping grain into them, between 50 and 75 bushels of corn to the acre. These reclaimed lands are regarded as the best for trucking in the South.

Mr. Wilkinson has begun the reclamation of 400,000 acres. His remarkable achievement, with his success in the lumber industry, has netted him more than $1,000,000.

Mr. Wilkinson has always had faith in the South. Twenty-six years ago his only assets were brain and brawn, but he is regarded as one of the foremost constructive men of his State and is winning a splendid reputation throughout the outh.

RADIANT REFLECTIONS.

Henry Blount Writes of Popular A. C. L. Conductor.

(Henry Blount in Greensboro News.)

This world is indeed made up with sad farewells to the living, and tear-dripping mournings for the dead. The fondest associations are only formed to be broken, the sweetest ties are so soon saddened, and the gulf of separation rolls its bitter waves of silence between loved ones and the cheery greetings are hushed, the cordial grasp is withdrawn, and its thrill is felt no more. These thought have been suggested by the transfer of our highly esteemed friend, Capt. Thad Garvey, one of the cleverest and most popular conductors on the Atlantic Coast Line, from his run between Wilmington and Norfolk to Wilmington and Chadbourn, which transfer will deprive his hosts of friends on this line of the great pleasure of seeing every day or two one of the most accommodating conductors that ever pulled the bell cord. And while his beaming face, so ful of the glad sunshine of good cheer, will be mst sadly missed, his "run" has been most delightfully supplied by that splendid specimen of splendid manhood, the courtly and knightly Capt. Warren L. Jones, the embodiment of those gentle graces and winsome manners that make the Atlantic Coast Line conductors such affable and delightful officials. And the genial Captain Jones, in addition to his own fine qualities, has another claim upon the people on this line for their esteem, for he married that magnificent type of magnificent womanhood, the very attractive daughter of that crowned prince of all conductors, the deeply lamented Captain Fillyaw, in whose memory a tear is now glistening.

Saves Health of Old People—Trial Free

A healthy old couple who have lived a long life together make an ideal picture. But unfortunately so many old people have a dismal life. Even if they are otherwise in good health they seem to suffer from constipation and indigestion. It is the penalty of old age. To old people, the best advice is—Be careful of your food. But even that is not all. The stomach and bowel muscles are no longer as active as they used to be and on that account movement of the bowels is more difficult. To aid nature take a mild laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, whenever you find yourself becoming constipated or when you have any difficulty digesting your food. It is not strong like salts or purgatives, but is mild, gentle and non-griping—just what elderly people need. It is the best laxative for old people, as it is for women and children. Many men and women far beyond seventy have been able to discard all medicines after a brief use of Syrup Pepsin. The regular bottles can be obtained of any druggist at fifty cents or one dollar, but we suggest that you make a free trial of it first, as so many others have done. Send your address to Dr. Caldwell and he will send you a free sample bottle.

Look for This Picture on Pkg.

Dr. Caldwell does not feel that the purchase of his remedy ends his obligation. He has specialized in stomach, liver and bowel diseases for over forty years and will be pleased to give the reader any advice on the subject free of charge. All are welcome to write him. Whether for the medical advice or the free sample address him Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 541 Caldwell Building, Monticello, Ill.

The following are some extracts from letters Dr. Caldwell has received:

"Your free sample bottle came in due time and I was so gratified with results that I bought a larger bottle and am so in favor of its effects that I am putting others on the track to get relief. I am 70 years old and have been troubled with a torpid liver, but feel that I now have the right remedy and will no longer have the trouble. Also it acts without inconvenience."—Mrs. W. H. Carter, Maywood, Ill.

"I am 73 years old; have been seriously afflicted with heart trouble for over 15 years, unable to do anything during that time; have spent all I had doctoring with several local doctors and many specialists, all to no purpose. My case is a very hard one and incurable; constipation of a very serious nature. I would, for years, go from three to five days without a movement; would take pills, salts, etc., until I was entirely tired of life. Have tried everything. I saw your ad; sent for free sample of Syrup Pepsin, received it and it did me so much good that I got a 50c bottle and have taken it as per directions regularly; shall get another bottle today. It has done me a world of good. It is the nicest to take and the most effective of any remedy I have ever used. It is simply a god-send to me."—A. A. Lewis, R. 2, Box 51, Bentonville, Ark.

"I received your free sample of Syrup Pepsin and have taken it and am now taking a $1.00 bottle. It is doing me a great deal of good. I have had trouble more or less with my stomach ever since I left the army, but have never taken very much medicine for it, but the sample you sent me did me so much good I thought I would give it a trial. It is helping me and I shall continue to take it. I can recommend it to any one having stomach trouble and heart trouble."—Geo. S. Spaulding, Nat. Soldiers' Home, Kansas.

"I have tried your Syrup Pepsin and found it all that you claim. I am recommending it to the old veterans and they are buying it on my word. I shall use it as long as I live. I cannot praise it enough."—Enos Gilpin, National Soldiers' Home, Danville, Ill.

Pink Pajamas Favorite Night Wear of Small Girls

MOTHERS of small girls are finding out that their little daughters prefer for their night apparel pajamas like those worn by the boys rather than the more usual lingerie garments.

The just before bedtime romp, the hour of all hours beloved by the young folk, is "lots more fun," said a small girl recently, if you're not bothered with flappy skirts. "It's goodby to the nightie for me," finished this very up to date maiden.

The pajamas for girls are cut exactly like those which brother wears, but the materials are daintier in coloring and often in weave. And they're much more comfortable, too, in cold weather, for the restless youth in its sleeping hours is apt to live over some of the exciting sports of the day, and in these dreams the bed covers are tossed about with the probable result of bad colds from exposure. Now, when the pajamas are worn there is much less chance of the wearer catching cold in this way.

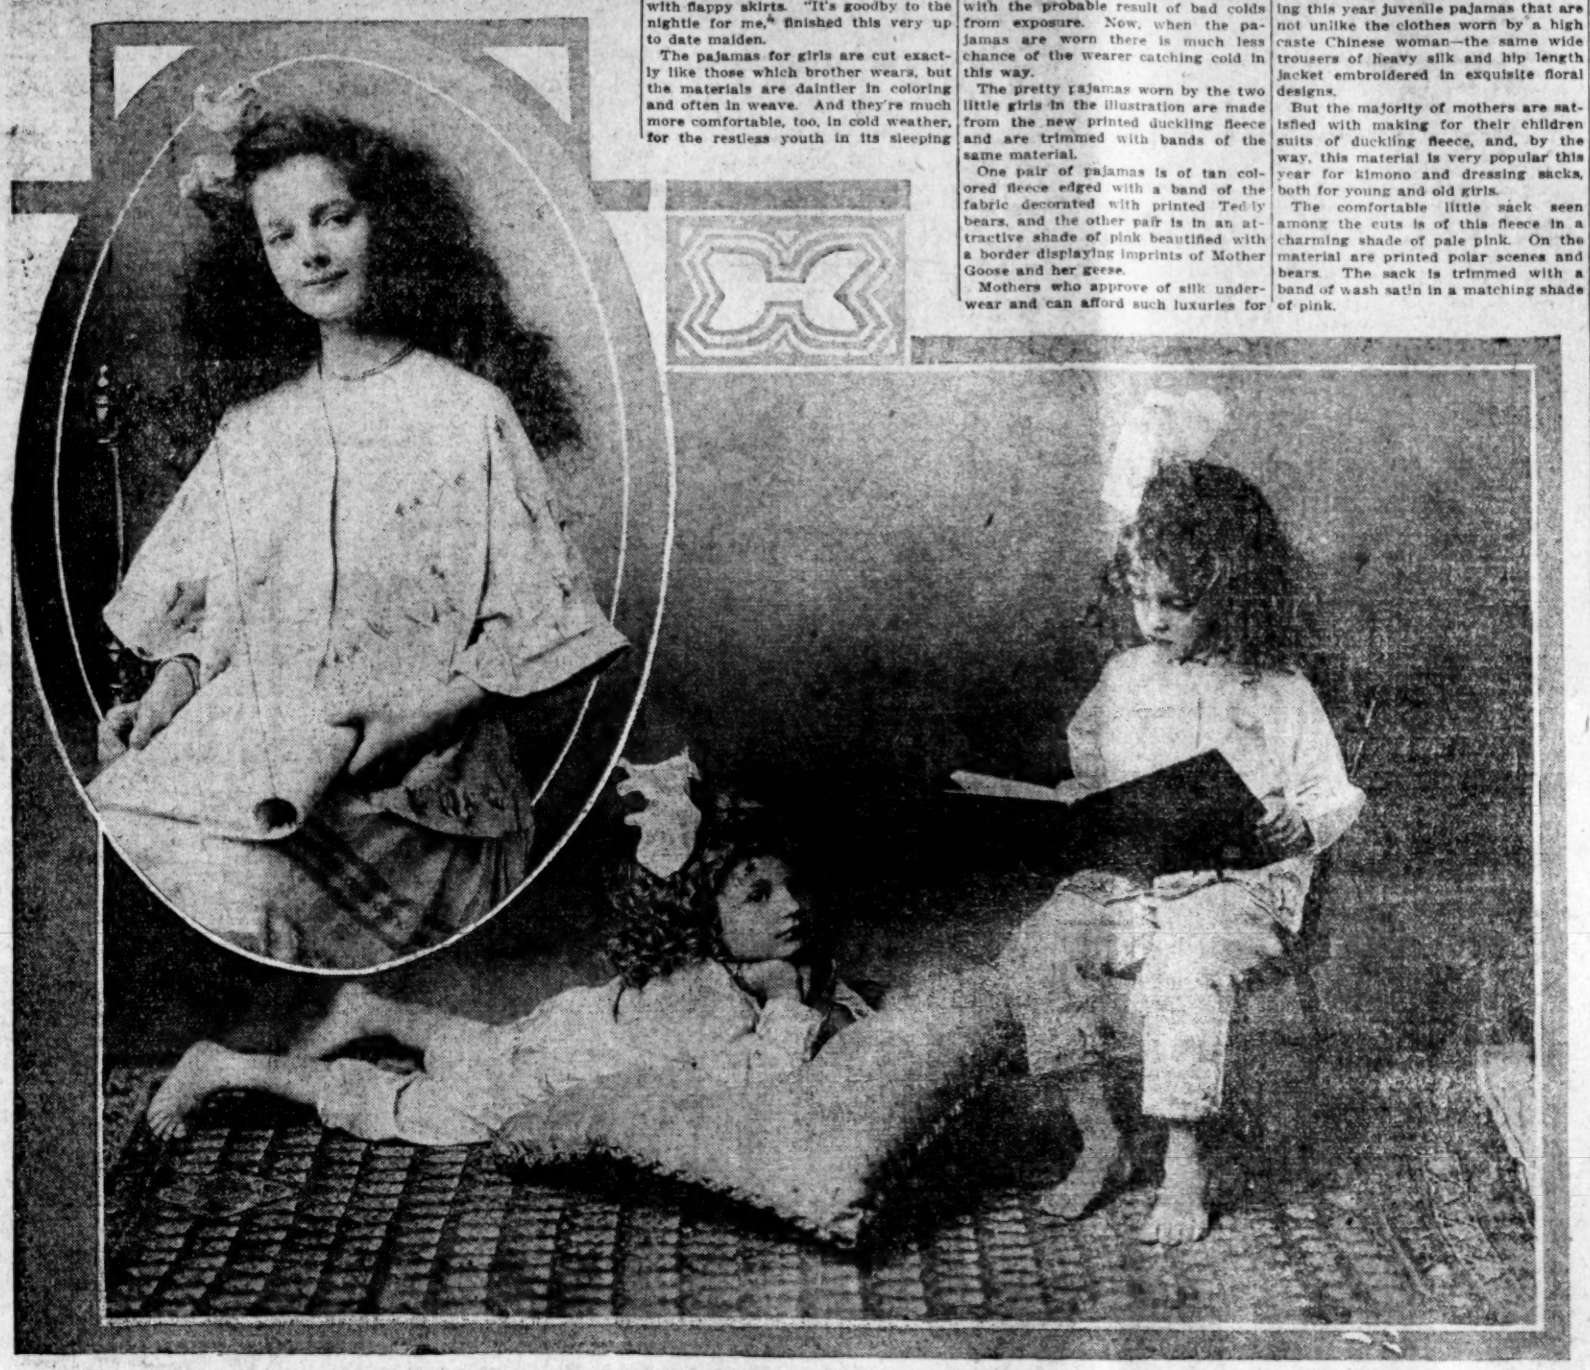
The pretty pajamas worn by the two little girls in the illustration are made from the new printed duckling fleece and are trimmed with bands of the same material.

One pair of pajamas is of tan colored fleece edged with a band of the fabric decorated with printed Teddy bears, and the other pair is in an attractive shade of pink beautified with a border displaying imprints of Mother Goose and her geese.

Mothers who approve of silk underwear and can afford such luxuries for their children as silk pajamas have a fascinating selection of these suits from which to choose. The shops are carrying this year juvenile pajamas that are not unlike the clothes worn by a high caste Chinese woman—the same wide trousers of heavy silk and hip length jacket embroidered in exquisite floral designs.

But the majority of mothers are satisfied with making for their children suits of duckling fleece, and, by the way, this material is very popular this year for kimono and dressing sacks, both for young and old girls.

The comfortable little sack seen among the cuts is of this fleece in a charming shade of pale pink. On the material are printed polar scenes and bears. The sack is trimmed with a band of wash satin in a matching shade of pink.



A SMART FLANNEL KIMONO—LISTENING TO THE BEDTIME STORY.

Turban With Muff to Match

TURBAN MUFF SET OF SERRY TONED MOIRE SILK AND FOX FUR.

ONE of the sights of Paris is the Ritz tea room at the fashionable tea hour. There the modish women of all nations assemble, drink the cheering cup and look each other over sartorially. The illustration shows a smart turban and muff to match which were worn there recently by an American woman.

There is a fad for these fabric and fur muff and turban sets this season, and the charming brunette who wore this set took on an added beauty from the deep berry toned moire silk combined with smoked fox fur that went into its making.

There are lots of possibilities in this combination of materials for the amateur milliner who has bits of fur and silk on hand.

When Decorating the House

"If won't scale, madam," said a house decorator to a women patron recently.

"Won't scale!" she reiterated. "What on earth do you mean?"

"'Scale,' my dear lady, is the technical term in wall decorating for correct proportions. For instance," he explained, "if a paper of a very large design is chosen for a small room it does not 'scale.' If the pattern is small—that is, proportionate to the room—then 'scale' has been observed, and the effect is better."

It is a good lesson in decorating for every woman to learn that in going from one room to the next the eye should not be disturbed by too sharp a change in wall colorings. The best way to impress this lesson is to tell the error just made by a woman who is papering a new house. The reception room on the right side of the lower hall is small and has a paper showing small fruit. Across the narrow hall is the living room, 12 by 15 feet, and that, too, has a paper of a small pattern. Opening from this room is the dining room, almost similar in size to the living room, and on its walls is a gray paper with a large colonial pattern. The result is no "scale" whatever.

If the dining room were large a large design would not have jarred even with the small living room walls, but when it is the same size as the other room and can be seen from the living room the walls should correspond in every respect.

This does not mean that either the pattern or coloring should be the same, although in many cases it is advisable, but merely that the general proportion is to be observed.

When one room opens from another colors which accord must be chosen for both. It would get on one's nerves horribly were the coloring a positive red in one room and in an adjoining room pink, for instance. It is only when rooms are entirely cut off from one another that such liberties may be taken.

As every room on a floor opens from a hall a tone for that part of a house must be one that will harmonize with all. A dull—not bright red—goes with almost everything; so, too, does green or dull yellow, and one of these three colors is apt to be safe. But the hall paper should be chosen last, that there may be no mistake in it.

The safest choice for hall papers is self tones which are combinations of soft shades showing only one color of foliage which are combinations of soft tones of the same colors. A hall paper whose background is one color with a positive pattern of another entirely different rarely works out well.

DELICIOUS HOT BREADS.

Virginia Rolls.—Take one pound of flour, one pint of milk, one egg, one ounce of butter, two tablespoonfuls of yeast or quarter of a cake of compressed yeast and a teaspoonful of salt. Heat the milk, butter and salt together to the scalding point and let cool. When lukewarm beat all together and set to rise in a warm place not less than three hours before being used. When light form into rolls with as little handling as possible. Let stand half an hour, or until the rolls are double their original size. Bake in tins until a nice brown.

Potato Biscuit.—Warm half a cupful of milk and pour over two tablespoonfuls of butter to melt it. Then stir into two cupfuls of hot mashed potatoes (they may be used cold or reheated over hot water). Season with a tablespoonful of salt, two dashes of white pepper and two eggs beaten light. Add enough sifted flour to make a moderately soft dough. Turn out on the biscuit board and roll out lightly to the thickness of an inch. Cut out with a cooky cutter and bake in a moderate oven for about twenty minutes. Split open and butter while they are hot.

Scotch Shortcake For Tea.—Make a good pie crust. Roll it out and spread with butter, sugar and a little nutmeg or cinnamon. Fold over and put the butter, sugar and spice on top. Bake for about fifteen minutes in a quick oven. This shortcake is very good for luncheon as well as supper.

Ojalda.—This is a delicious bread to serve with coffee or cocoa. Take a pint of sifted flour, put it on the bread board, make a well in the middle and drop in an unbeaten egg yolk and a heaping tablespoonful of lard or butter. Add slightly salted cold water, working the egg, shortening and water flour until you have a stiff paste. knead this well and lift from throwing it down again with a snap every few minutes until you have a velvety dough full of blisters. Roll very thin and cut into fancy shapes with pastry cutters and cut several slits in the middle of each cake or biscuit. Fry in deep hot fat like doughnuts. When served they should be crisp.

WALKING FOR HEALTH.

If you are one of those people who go in for walking for the sake of health and beauty, don't allow yourself to walk carelessly.

Keep the shoulders well back and throw the chest out so that you can breathe naturally.

Don't set off for a long walk immediately after a meal or when you are feeling tired.

Egyptian Jewelry Scores This Winter

TO possess quaint and historic jewels is the ambition of every woman who keeps abreast of the fads and fancies of the hour. And the timepiece of jewelry fashion points this winter to Egyptian ornaments. The woman, therefore, who has in her jewel cabinet treasures of this sort is envied of all her friends. Wanderers in the country of the Ptolemies have splendid opportunities for picking up rare specimens—often to the depletion of their letters of credit—of the gem baubles that adorned, perhaps, the women of Cleopatra's time or of adding to their jewel casket gems worn by some high priest or princess.

Miss Helen Ware, the popular young actress who is stirring New York audiences to heights of enthusiasm in her military play "The Deserters," is a collector of ancient Egyptian jewelry. Miss Ware has posed for the camera in some of her most cherished Egyptian jewels, which include the superb necklace and ear pendants illustrated. They belonged to a woman of the middle class in ancient Egypt.

The necklace of queer looking shells which she wears in one picture adorned the satiny brown throat of a belle of centuries ago who belonged to the lowest caste in Egyptian society. Today ladies of high degree are glad to wear such plebeian ornaments. Still another beautiful piece of ancient jewelry, also worn by Miss Ware in one of the illustrations, was the property of an Egyptian princess in the eighth dynasty.

Much exquisite work is being done nowadays by amateur jewelry makers, so that the opportunity to see reproduced, even in a newspaper picture, such works of art is not to be despised by them. Valuable ideas are to be gleaned in this way for modern antiques.

And in connection with quaint jewelry, the famous zodiac jewelry is to be extremely popular this season as Christmas, wedding and birthday gifts.

All kinds of quaint articles are to be found in this new fad, some of them wonderfully beautiful with precious or semiprecious stones set in gold, silver or platinum.

Among the zodiacal articles made are fobs, pins, pendants, necklaces, amulets, etc. The wearing of this kind of jewelry is said to bring good luck

An entire horoscope represented upon a scarfpin is a striking novelty. The astral colors are seen in enamel, the metal by the mounting, the birth stones providing the setting, while the realistic and astronomical signs are carried out in the metal work.

The exchange of zodiac rings between fiance and fiancee is usual either at the time of engagement or at the marriage.

EGYPTIAN ORNAMENTS OWNED AND POSED BY MISS HELEN WARE.

NOW'S THE TIME TO REUPHOLSTER.

When the summer covers have been taken off the upholstered furniture the permanent covers are apt to have a dingy and worn appearance in a number of cases. Upholstered chairs and even sofas which have wooden frames need have no terrors for the woman who would recover them herself. If the old cover is removed so that it is not torn it becomes a perfect pattern from which the new one may be cut. One must remember with the new material the thread must run the right way and always be in a straight line, and when necessary to piece it the pattern, if there is one, must be made to match perfectly.

Stitching to be firm enough to wear well should be done on the machine and the seam smoothly and heavily pressed open. It is always better to use wide material when the stuff is equally satisfactory in effect, for then the amateur avoids many seams and consequent labor.

If the material is such that the edge will not turn under neatly and smoothly gimpe may be made to cover a multitude of sins in that direction, and there will be no difficulty in putting in brass headed tacks evenly if a tape measure is pinned along the edges and the tacks put at regular intervals. If new springs or actual repairing of the inner structure of a chair is needed this must be done by a professional, but the furniture may then be returned for the owner to put on the covering.

BATHROOM TIPS.

A can of borax should be in every bathroom, and the pipes should have a daily flushing with hot water in which borax has been dissolved. Do not use sand soap for cleaning a porcelain tub or washstand. It will mar the surface and make it look like ground glass. Then if the porcelain becomes discolored you cannot make it white again.

Use ammonia in the water, but if dirt or grease requires an extra cleanser dampen the scrub cloth with kerosene and later wash the tub with warm water. If the tub is enameled scour with a cloth made of a salt bag which has been thoroughly moistened with turpentine and polish with a clean cloth.

A LINGERIE HINT.

When using a bodkin to run ribbon through a beading try running the eye end of the needle through the beading first instead of the usual end. This prevents very narrow ribbon from twisting.

ANOTHER BOOM IN FALSE HAIR.

What will the women do now, poor things? Paris has decreed more coils and curls than were worn last year. It seems this season the coils and curls are to be heaped in still larger quantities, and startling coiffures are expected to be the result. The hair is to be arranged quite low on the nape of the neck and to have unusual width. The hair will stand out on each side of the neck almost as wide as the schoolgirl has her ribbon in the same position.

The fashion is so extreme that a woman will never be able to arrange the coiffure herself. It is a difficult style to wear, and a woman must have an unusually large crop of her own hair or a generous supply of some one else's if she would experiment with it.

The hobble hairdressing is another new style. It is nothing more than a large, loosely coiled mass of hair worn low at the nape of the neck.

There is little change in the front hairdressing. Over the forehead the hair is waved slightly. For evening wear there will be used more ribbons and hair ornaments twisted in and among the coils and curls than last season.

A BABY CARRIAGE ADJUNCT.

A baby carriage that has recently been put on the market has an ingenious adjunct that should prove a great convenience to mothers with two small children to manage.

This is a cradlelike arrangement of heavy netting in navy blue, green or cream color with brass or nickel fittings. It slips over the rolled sides of the couch and forms a comfortable bed into which a tiny infant may be strapped.

The cradle is raised above the bottom of the couch, so while the infant is stretched flat taking his nap an older child may sit on the seat or can also lie flat comfortably.

TO KEEP BEDS IN GOOD CONDITION.

Every morning before breakfast beds should be stripped and thoroughly aired.

Mattresses should be turned and left in a draft, so that the air will play all round them. Pillows, too, require the same treatment to keep them sweet.

Mattresses should be cleaned and remade about once every three years if they are to keep their springiness. Very cheap mattresses, however, are not worth remaking.

Oriental Trend In Gowns

CHARMING HOUSE COSTUME.

THIS pretty gown shows the strong oriental tendencies in coloring and cut. The material in which it is developed is royal blue permo. Like all the dresses of the winter, it is elaborately trimmed with rich Turkish embroidery with bands of moleskin. The low Dutch collar of the fur is particularly new and becoming.

DON'T FORGET! MONDAY NOV. 7th., IS THE LAST DAY OF POPULARITY RACE.

At The Theatres.

The Academy will only offer one attraction this week, but that will be one of the most spectacular and one of the best of the season. It will be "Polly of the Circus" for Wednesday night, seats going on sale at Plummer's Tuesday morning, and this big play is splendidly remembered from last year.

ed for next week at the Academy will "Polly of the Circus" which will be the next attraction at the Academy. Wednesday of this week, November 2nd, is a wonderful play with a wonderful record. A circus story, wherein strongly contrasting characters meet, mingle and make a tale of absorbing human interest. The play ran for one solid year at the Liberty Theatre in New York City, and will be presented here with all its vast and elaborate scenic equipment and the wonderful circus features that won its fame and success in its original production.

MISS GEORGIA OLP.

As "Polly" in "Polly of the Circus," A cademy, Wednesday, November 2nd.

Charming, fascinating, petite Polly, the "circus ridin' girl," is born of generations of circus folk and when her mother, the greatest rider of her day, dies a victim of her own ambition, Polly is left alone. But she is not without friends, for "Big Jim", the boss canvasman, with a heart as generous as the breadth of his great shoulders, and "Uncle Toby," the clown, adopt the human mite and foster her like a delicate plant. "Muver"-Jim's intense and "Uncle Toby's" pathetic devotion in their ward is one of the most charming touches of the story.

The circus is Polly's world. She knows no other. She grows up in the atmosphere of sawdust and tinsel. Her mother's spirit lives in her and she becomes her worthy successor as a star of the sawdust ring. The reckless abandon of her riding brings her grief. She falls from the back of her horse, and is carried unconscious to the parsonage nearby, and there is set the combination of Mandy, the motherly old colored housekeeper; the manly, susceptible young parson, John Douglass; the fascinating little convalescent; the well-meaning but narrow church folks, and Polly's "parents" who want her back in the circus, all pulling wires that makes "Polly of the Circus" an appealing story from beginning to end.

In reviewing "Polly of the Circus" the New York Herald says: "It is a gripping story of the sawdust ring that brings us fond recollections." The World says: "It has originality; every boy and girl up to 70 years old should see it."

Rita Fornia.

Rita Fornia is a prominent member of the Metropolitan Opera Company, and she was recently declared by the management to be one of its most valuable members, and evidence being that she has been retained by a contract for a term of years to appear in the important soprano roles. Her voice is a beautiful lyric. She sings with great depth of expression, and possesses an unusually charming stage presence. There are few artists who have so great a repertoire of operas. Although she is one of the youngest singers appearing in important parts, her excellent work has made the name of Rita Fornia already well known, and the leading critics unite in the opinion that she will soon be recognized as one of the greatest singers this country has produced, for she is an American, having been born in San Francisco.

Two years ago, Mme Eames was cast for Leonora in "Il Trovatore." At a quarter past six the same evening Mme Eames was to sing, one of her officials of the opera house called up Miss Fornia on the telephone and asked her if she could sing "Leonora." It was a part in which she had never before appeared. She had been studying it, but had not yet had a rehearsal. Youth possesses nothing if not confidence in itself, and Miss Fornia replied that she not only could but would. There was no time to make the usual announcement of the change on the programme or on the posters outside, and it was not until the usual explainer of unpleasant difficulties came upon the stage to "beg the indulgence" of the audience, that it was known that there was to be any substitution. The first act was not yet over, as all the critics agreed the next day, before that audience realized that it had no need to exercise this indulgence; that they were having a performance of "Lenora" high-class in every particular; both in acting and in singing.

Miss Fornia was also called upon at the last moment to substitute for Mme. Sembrich in "Il Barbiere di Siviglia" at Philadelphia, when Mme Sembrich became suddenly indisposed and unable to sing her part.

Miss Fornia received her early training in New York and later made her debut in Hamburg. She also studied with Jean De Reszke in Paris, and two years ago was engaged to sing at the Metropolitan Opera House. Miss Fornia is still a member of the Metropolitan Opera Company, and will give twenty operatic performances at the Boston Opera House as these two opera companies are affiliated.

"Graustark."

The mere announcement that "Graustark," is coming should arouse an exceptional interest in all lovers of the theatre, for as a rule they are also readers of fiction, and if they have not seen the play, have read the novel. Mr. George Barr McCutcheon, the author is a product of that great center of agriculture and literature, Indiana James Whitcomb Riley, Booth Tarkington, George Ade and General Lew Wallace have all contributed to the State's fame, but no 'best sellers" ever came out of Indiana and achieved greater fame and poularity than the works of McCutcheon—and the greatest of these is "Graustark." It has had a larger output than the combined sale of all his other books and the demand for it still continues. Mr. George D. Baker, who dramatized the novel, realized that the public would wish to see as much of McCutcheon as possible; and therefore, kept as closely to the story as the dramatic unities would allow. A guarantee to the correctness and beauty of the production is the name of Jas. W. Castle, who staged Mme. Schuman Heink's productions, "Quo Vadis," "When Johnny Comes Marching Home," and other plays for Mr. D. C. Whitney, Mr. Edward Knowles and Mr. Alfred E. Aarons. His staging of "Graustark," has been a labor of love, and he has given all that thought, care, patience and skill can contribute to a sumptuous production.

At the Crystal This Week.

A splendid bill will be offered patrons of the Crystal Palace this week. The Texas Quartette and Hank Henry, "the music master," will lead the bill. The quartette is composed of four talented young men, two of whom are singers and two comedians, and they promise to furnish abundance of fun and amusement. In addition there will be the usual two reels of motion pictures.

At the Bijou Tomorrow.

"Back to Nature" will feature the bill at the Bijou tomorrow. It is a drama showing "That a man's a man for a' that," and demonstrates that "fame and fortune from no condition rise; act well your part; there all the honor lies." "His New Family" is the title of another picture that will be found exceedingly interesting.

WAR ON TUBERCULOSIS.

Great Work Done Last Two Years in South.

New York, Oct. 29.—Tuberculosis will again be the theme of an All-South campaign, which opens tomorrow in Jackson, Miss., with the American Exhibition of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, under the direction of E. G. Routzahn.

Within the past two years every large city east of the Mississippi and south of the Ohio, except Mobile, has been stirred to activity in the war against consumption as a result of the crusade that has been carried on. In Georgia, North Carolina, Florida, Alabama and Virginia, state sanatoria for the treatment of tuberculosis have been erected or provided for. Local sanatoria providing for the treatment of hundreds of patients have been established in fourteen cities in seven different states. Special tuberculosis dispensaries for the instruction and relief of needy consumptives have been opened in nine cities in seven different states. Four state and 46 local associations for the prevention of tuberculosis have been organized, three in Alabama; one in Florida, five in Georgia; seven in Kentucky; ten in North Carolina; nine in South Carolina; four in Tennessee; six in Virginia and five in west Virginia.

... the beginning of the All-South Campaign a little over two years ago there were not more than six centers in the South where the anti-tuberculosis movement had aroused any activity. In addition to the special anti-tuberculosis agencies enlisted in this work, health boards, women's clubs, churches, business associations, labor unions, and schools have all joined hands in a gigantic effort to reduce the large annual losses from consumption.

The campaign of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis ...is coming year will be carried on particularly in Mississippi and Louisiana. Already some excellent work has been done in these states and it is hoped to arouse every center of population before May, 1911.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Have You An Old Friend Who Drinks Too Much?

MOST of us have some old friend who needs to be saved from his one fatal weakness of inebriety. A man perhaps, whose very brilliance and rapid success were his own undoing. Who has gone from bad to worse—until your former envy has turned to pity. And people say—"he was too good a fellow"—and "he couldn't stand success."

Of course you feel sorry for your old friend. You have too much sympathy and humanity not to help "put him on his feet again" if you only knew a way. Perhaps you have talked to him and tried in vain to appeal to him. Until finally you have given up in despair.

But there is a way to put him on his feet. A way that never fails to succeed. The Keeley treatment that treats inebriety not as a moral question, but as the disease that it is. It builds up new health and takes the old appetite away. And the Keeley treatment means no humiliation, no inconvenience and no great expense.

If you persuade your friend to take the treatment now and advance him the money you will make a new man of him and he can pay you back as he earns it again. And you—you will have the solid satisfaction of helping a friend regain his old prosperity and his self-respect. Write today for booklet.

SILK O'LOUGHLIN PROUD OF HIS VOICE

Umpire Prides Himself on His Ability to Say "Strike Tuh!"

NOW, if there is one thing that Silk O'Loughlin is proud of it's his voice. He takes more care of his vocal cords than the average high priced singer. Nothing gives him greater delight than yelling "Strike tuh!" in his highest key.

Once Alice Roosevelt, now Mrs. Longworth, attended a game in Washington, and O'Loughlin, in order to thoroughly convince the daughter of Theodore that for strenuosity Teddy had nothing on him, put forth his best efforts. They do say that the echo could be plainly heard in Baltimore, but it's impossible to verify such a statement.

Naturally O'Loughlin is sensitive, as well as proud of his voice. Of course most of the players are familiar with this fact and take advantage of the situation every time an opportunity presents itself. Making comment on Silk's ability and voice caused a prominent American league player to get put out of a game last spring. The reason was rather unique.

Silk had a hard game on his hands and in the eyes of some of the players was having a rather tough time of it. The player in question was coaching at first, and he failed to agree with the arbitrator on several close plays. Finally Silk warned him that if he made any further objection he would be chased to the clubhouse. It was early in spring, and a trifle cool, so the clubhouse, with its fire, evidently appealed to the player more than the arctic wind that was blowing across the diamond. It was the very cue he was seeking.

"Go and umpire your game, pay less attention to me, and you will get along better. Say, if you ever lose your voice you will have to go back to driving a hack."

Hardly had he finished before Silk was frantically waving his arms in the direction of the clubhouse. The player went cheerfully.

Jim Delehanty, who played such great ball for the Tigers after being traded to Jennings by the Washington team, had a funny experience with Umpire Tim Hurst back in the fall of 1907. Delehanty as a result lays claim to having nearly won an argument from Sir Timothy.

Philadelphia and Washington were playing a double header on the last day of the season. As little depended on the outcome of the game, Delehanty wasn't very anxious to play. He figured on getting an early train for his home in Cleveland that evening, and if he was compelled to play both games it was anything but a good bet that he would be able to make his connections.

A rule had been promulgated by President Johnson that year, and it still stands, that if a player was put out of the first game he was not allowed to take part in the second contest. Now, Delehanty and Tim were always the best of friends, but Jim knew that if he requested Tim to put him out Hurst would keep him in just for spite. He decided the only thing to do was to try and politely kick himself out of the game.

Hurst and Connelly were umpiring the games, with Tim behind the bat in the opening contest. Delehanty started right off the reel to kick on perfect strikes, and before Tim got wise to him he almost sent him to the clubhouse.

"I see through you, Mr. Delehanty; you don't want to play in the second game. It's nice and warm today, so I guess I'll keep you at second all day, no matter what you do," said Timothy. The thermometer stood around 107.

Try as he might, Delehanty was unable to do anything that would make Tim toss him out of the game.

In the very first inning of the second game, with Tim working the bases, a Philadelphia player tried to steal second and was declared safe. Tim started to walk back to his position, and Delehanty followed closely. He protested loudly on the play and at each step managed to just catch the heels of Hurst's patent leather shoes with his spikes.

Now, if there is any hobby that Hurst has it's patent leather shoes. Tim had on a new pair that day, and he realized that Delehanty's spikes must be playing havoc with them. He kept threatening Delehanty with all kinds of dire penalties if Jim failed to return to his position immediately. Delehanty still pursued him, and Tim finally lost his temper.

"Get out of here, you Irish stiff, or I'll mop up the diamond with you!" fairly yelled Tim.

That was just what Delehanty wanted, and without another word he started for the clubhouse on a dead run. At the same moment it occurred to Tim that he had played right into Del's hands.

"Come back here and finish the game or it will cost you fifty!" shouted Tim in his best voice. Delehanty only ran all the harder.

"I didn't put you out. If you fail to return at once it will cost you a hundred," persisted Hurst. By this time Delehanty was closing the door of the clubhouse.

The players were wise in a moment, and everybody enjoyed a laugh at Tim's expense over the incident. It took Tim some time to appreciate it, but he finally fell in line.

That evening on thinking it over he decided that the joke was on him so strongly that he failed to send in either the five for fifty or the hundred.

Southpaw Pitchers Nearly All Midgets.

"Have you ever noticed that most of the southpaws in the American league are small men?" said Tommy Atkins of the Philadelphia Americans, himself a member of the southpawing brethren. "Well, it's true. Outside of Big Jim Vaughn in New York and Collins in Boston, the left handers are not big. Eddie Plank is not so big off the diamond as he seems in uniform. Dolly Gray is only a fair sized man. Eddie Karger is not so tall when you line alongside him, and you can go down the list and you will see that the big fellows are all in the right handers."

BOOTING THE BALL WILL BE GREAT FACTOR IN LATER FOOTBALL GAMES

THAT field goal and drop kicking is going to be one of the most important features of this year's football season is evident from the number of games won by the air line route and by the number of successful attempts made in other contests. In fact, the coaches at the many universities east and west have the men practicing harder at booting this year than has been the case for many seasons.

In the east Pennsylvania is well stocked up with good kickers. Hutchinson, Thayer and Scott have all three shown great accuracy and driving power in practice. Yet Penn accepted defeat from a minor team without making a very hard try to kick a field goal.

Undoubtedly this will be a favorite means of scoring later on. When two such teams as Yale and Harvard promise to get together it will be next to impossible to score except with field goals, forward passes, onside kicks and other trick plays. Just as soon as the ten yard line is reached the forward pass and onside kick are eliminated, leaving nothing but straight football and kicking.

Which, where there is any sort of defense, now practically amounts to kicking alone. The coaches of the big elevens are pretty nearly satisfied from what they have seen during practice and actual competition with outside teams that when two teams of equal or nearly equal strength meet it's going to be an all fired hard job to cross the strip between the ten yard line and the goal line by rushing tactics.

Lots of Good Ones.

Harvard has in T. Frothingham, O'Flaherty, Wiggleworth and Lewis a quartet of drop and placement kickers of better than average ability.

Princeton, while not up to either Harvard or Pennsylvania, expects to make much of field goals later on. McCormick in all likelihood will do most of the long distance punting. Pendleton is showing improved form every day, and there are a couple more who look good enough in practice to lend strength to the prediction that they will be point scorers in the most important games.

Cornell has two good ones in Eyrich and Pitcher. Libby is about the best of the Carlisle players. Dean of West Point is a dandy. It was his great work with his toe that helped the Army men defeat Yale. Annapolis men expect Dalton to do some great booting work before their annual game with West Point.

Minnesota is depending on "Little Johnny" McGovern to do most of the kicking this year. In the recent game with Nebraska his booting was very much in evidence. The Gophers' quarterback is about the best kicker in the middle west this season. In Wilson Chicago has a kicker who with more experience is sure to develop into one of the best booters ever seen in the west.

The Onside Kick.

The onside kick is another play of which little has been heard so far. It is a play that is illegal, except in the middle of the field, and for the most part the big elevens have preferred to trust to end runs and skin tackle plays rather than risk losing the ball.

The restrictions on the play have tended to lessen its value. It must go twenty yards before the team kicking it is permitted to recover it until after one of the opposing players has touched it. This makes it practically a short punt and gives the team trying it but little more chance to recover it. So far none of the coaches has been able to dig up a kicker with an accurate enough toe to make the play worth while.

SOME OF THE LEADING KICKERS OF THE BIG ELEVENS

BASEBALL MAGNATES PREPARING FOR TROUBLE

Expect a Clash With Players When Latter Make Demands For Extra Pay and Winter Freedom

THE baseball club owners in the two big leagues are quietly making preparations to fight the ball players who are organizing for a concerted move on the magnates when they meet in New York next December. The stars of the diamond maintain that they have stood by long enough watching the club owners accumulate large fortunes, while they who furnish the fuel, so to speak, must take the leavings. The leavings they refer to are their small stipends. There would not have been any troubls if the club owners had not barred the players from picking up extra money during the off season. Several barnstorming tours have been squelched by the magnates, who claim that, while the ball players are paid for only six months' work, they are the property of the clubs the year round and cannot indulge in baseball or anything that might cause injury that would impair their chances of playing baseball the following season.

The club owners cannot be censured for trying to prevent a ball player from taking active part in athletics during the winter. A star pitcher or a crack in some other position might play in a winter series or at handball and break an arm or a leg. This would practically end his career as a player, and the club would be the sufferer. But the club owner must not be too selfish. If he wants to make sure that his player will not take any chances during the off season, why does he not see that the player is paid enough extra money so that he can pass up the lucrative offers made by promoters who are always ready to finance a barnstorming tour of star ball players?

The only assets that a big league club has are its franchise and its team. Without a good team of ball players the franchise is worth very little. You must have a team that can win games to get money in through the box office. That is why the club owner with a good team does not want his players, the main asset, to go out in the winter and get so badly bunged up that they cannot give their best services during the playing season. Surely no one can blame a club owner for this; but, then, the ball player must be given some consideration.

We are for a square deal in this matter. If the ball player by being in good condition at all times can increase the box office receipts during the regular season, then he is entitled to some share of it. Give your players enough of a bonus to offset the offers of outside promoters and they can well afford to pass up these winter or after season exhibitions.

If the club owners attempt to fight the ball players it will give certain people a chance to organize a rival league. The present baseball administration would probably win in a long fight, but the loss would be greater than if they had compromised with the ball players. The club owners do not want another baseball war. The last one was very expensive, and they are just beginning to recover some of the losses.

SCHAEFER, CRACK BILLIARDIST

Son of Late Wizard of Cue Bids Fair to Fill His Father's Shoes Some Day.

At present there is one of the most interesting spectacles being offered the billiard public that could be easily imagined, for fifteen-year-old Jake Schaefer, son of the famous wizard, is not only touring the west on a 6,000 mile jaunt which will carry him from the coast to Mexico for the practice to be obtained, but is supporting his mother and sisters.

This boy, at the age when most youngsters are just feeling the delights of playing hookey, has shouldered the family cares and trouped out into the west which loved his father, play at his game being a life work and a matter of bread and butter to his family in Denver, for his father, like many other stars of the amusement world, died practically penniless.

Reports from Butte, Mont., clear through on a circuit which has just numbered Spokane, Wash., as his last place of play, say the boy is as gravely earnest and painstakingly studious as an old man.

The tour is to be completed in November, after which the boy will challenge the winner of the 18.2 balk line championship to be played in New York on Nov. 2 between George F. Slosson and Willie Hoppe. Hoppe, who appreciates fully what the youngster is up against, has taken quite a liking to him and hopes to be of great assistance to him in mastering 18.2 balk line, the game which young Jack likes above all others.

BAT NELSON ON WARPATH.

With Wolgast Laid Up, Ex-Champion Is Laying Claim to Old Title.

As soon as Battling Nelson heard that Wolgast was laid up with a broken arm that might keep him permanently out of the ring he lost no time in laying claim to the lightweight championship. Nelson now says he will defend the title against any man in the world at 133 pounds ringside, which, of course, eliminates Packy McFarland and Jack Goodman. Nelson may go over to England this fall to give Freddie Welsh a battle, in which even the British sporting element will back Welsh to win on points. Nelson never was a first class boxer, and more than a year ago he refused to meet Welsh on the other side because he feared that he would be outpointed. But since McFarland beat Welsh fairly and squarely, though deprived of victory by an unfair decision, Nelson has reached the conclusion that Welsh is not so formidable after all. If Nelson ever fights in England he will have to cut out the foul tactics which have consistently been employed by him in this country.

BATS AND MOSQUITOES.

Said to be Deadly Enemies of One Another—Instance.

San Antonio, Texas, Oct. 29.—Grow bats and kill off the mosquitoes is the advice given the citizens of San Antonio and the country at large as the result of experiments and a long study of the bat conducted at the United States Experimental Farm on the outskirts of San Antonio. Dr. Chas. A. B. Campbell has given the world what he believes is the solution of the mosquito problem in a paper, the first of its kind dealing with that subject that has ever been presented to the public. Its title is: "The Eradication of Mosquitoes by the Cultivation of Bats, Their Natural Enemy." The paper, presented before the medical society of this county, has started a movement that bids fair to sweep through the South, attracting the attention of Boards of Health and city administrations, for Dr. Campbell proves from his study of years and observation of the habits of the velvety-winged birds of night that better than oil or any other preventive measures is the turning loose of the bat to prey upon the disease-bringing and painfully-active mosquito.

The experiments have been kept secret, for the scientists at the government experimental station feared possible ridicule, until they had established beyond cavil their theory. Much curiosity has been aroused by a pyramid-like structure of timber about 100 feet in height built upon piles. It occupies a central position at the government farm and at twilight the air is darkened by great clouds of bats winging their way out of what is called "The Battery." It is built of slats permitting the winged inhabitants to enter at will and remain in the darkness within until the time for their mosquito hunting peregrinations. To populate the battery "want ads" were inserted in the daily papers addressed to the small boys of the city asking them to bring live bats to Dr. Campbell. A quarter for a pair of bats was the price and in a few days nearly a thousand bats were introduced to their new habitation. They were gathered from the caves within the city limits and in the environs of the city and the lads reported they had no trouble in securing all they desired. Caves of great size running for miles under San Antonio, some of which have never been explored, hold uncounted tons of guano. For two centuries there have been tales of fortunes, gold, gems and silver ware, buried by Spanish troops and the rich Spanish settlers in times of war, and to this day treasure hunting parties make systematic explorations of portions of these rocky caverns.

Dr. Campbell states is as a fact that a great number of bats inhabiting these caves one, if not the principal cause of keeping San Antonio comparatively free from mosquitoes. Summer visitors here express surprise at the absence of the mosquito pest. The doctor has discovered that the bat scents the mosquito and pounces upon it like a hawk on a chicken. It possesses a voracious appetite for the singing, stinging insect and it will keep eating them all night. Every householder his own mosquito destroyer" is the doctor's slogan. In other words, he says, there will be no mosquitoes if the householder will build his own "battery", placing a small structure of slats in his back yard and tenanting it with a family of bats. Not only will it keep the premises clean of mosquitoes, but of other insects. The novelty and cheapness, to say nothing of the proven worth of the doctor's suggestion, promises to rid San Antonio of all mosquitoes. The doctor admits the air at night may be filled with moving velvet clouds, but the clouds will be in rapid passage and the presence of the "mosquito fleet" will be hailed as a blessing as soon as the populace gets used to it.

Big Show in San Antonio, Tex., Attracts Prize Winners.

San Antonio, Texas, Oct. 29—From the raising of game cocks for what was the great Mexican sport on holidays and Sundays a few years ago in San Antonio, the cock fight given in pits built for that purpose, a great step forward, significant of the growth and progress of the city, is seen in the announcement of the big poultry show to be given here November 5th, to 20th.

It means that the aristocracy of poultrydom may be found today in southwest Texas and the breeder of fine stock has taken the place of the breeder of the long-spurred and belligerent fowl.

Each winter brings many inquiries from prominent breeders of the North, many of whom come to San Antonio, they bring the pick of their poultry yards with them, not caring to pay freight on any but the very best. The latest to arrive are S. L. Peterson and son from Benson, Illinois. They have brought a champion pen of White Langshams including cock, winner of first prize at Peoria, Ill., November 1908, and first at the National Fanciers & Breeders Association show at Chicago, December 1908; also a pen of Indian Funner ducks winners also of first prizes at the Peoria and Chicago shows.

In addition to this, the South Texas Poultry Association announces that many champion birds are shipped down to local breeders each month, the highest price so far paid being for a pair Cornish imported by W. S. Templeton of Dakota, Ill., from Cornwall England. They were winners of the first prize at Birmingham, England, and at Chicago in 1908, and third in the fall at Chicago in 1908 and first at the International Fair here in 1909.

South Texas breeders have made such strides that they are sending birds 1,200 miles to compete at the great northern shows. The most notable winning was made by Dan Root's Cockerel which took first prize in a class of 136, in competition with all the northern and eastern professional breeders at the Missouri State Fair at Kendalia October 1910. A pen of Black Minorcas, winners at the St. Louis Exposition, have also come south the local association is already the largest in the South and is growing every day. O. L. McCord of the Illinois Poultry Association will judge the poultry fair this year.

The Board is made up of some of the most prominent men of San Antonio including the president of the International Fair Association and directors of the Chamber of Commerce.

DURHAM NEWS.

Big Y. M. C. A. Rally—Booker Washington—Politics Warming Up.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Durham, N. C., Oct. 27.—Under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. of Durham, Dr. W. L. Poteat, president of Wake Forest College, will address the people of the city on the "Conservation of Life," at the Academy of Music tomorrow night. Dr. C. P. Norris, a member of the religious committee, will preside over the meeting, and the speaker will be introduced by Dr W. P. Few, president of Trinity College. Mr. T. E. Cheek will have charge of the musical programme, and he has selected 18 young men and women of the city's vocal talent to do the singing for the ocasion.

A neat folder containing the itinerary of Booker T. Washington, and other interesting information about his visit to this State was distributed here a few days ago by the committee that has the trip in charge. The famous negro will be in this city, under the auspices of the Negro Men's Business League, from 5:25 Tuesday afternoon, November 1st, until 11:30 the next day. He will make three speeches in Durham.

It is announced that Governor W W. Kitchin will make the last speech of the campaign here on November 7th, the night before the election. The occasion will be the final great rally of the Democratic hosts of the county. No politician is so popular in Durham as Governor Kitchin, and he is a speaker who says things when he gets on the floor. The campaign is at blood-heat in Durham just now, and both Democrats and Republicans are claiming that they will win out in the November elections. It will be remembered that Durham is in one o the present Republican districts, and the Republicans are making mighty efforts to hold it, and the Democrats are firing some of their biggest guns in the hope that they may gain it back and help to restore to North Carolina a solid Democratic delegation in Congress.

POLITICS IN WAKE.

Democratic Situation Clarifying Considerably in County.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 29.—There is a growing impression among close observers of the local and county political situation that both the Independent Democratic and the Republican status which have been co-operating to a considerable extent, have both lost ground considerably the past few weeks, the estimate being that the regular Democratic majority this year in the county will be probably as great as heretofore, although there will doubtless be a falling off in the total vote. This impression comes from an evident tendency on the part o some of those who bitterly resented the incriminations that were heaped upon the leaders of the element of the Democratic party defeated in the party primaries to conclude to stay away from the polls rather than walk up to the ballot box and put in a "bolter's ticket" or vote for the men whom they blame for the terrific assaults made on their candidates in the primary who were defeated. Large numbers of those who very strongly resent the campaign methods of the successful faction of the party in the primaries will at the last minute vote the straight ticekt purely for the purpose of maintaining party consistency. There will be a considerable tendency to scratch the ticket, especially as to State Senator, but this will be prevented to a considerable extent by managers of the regular wing keeping a close scrutiny on the preparation of the tickets as there won't be in all probability very active and influential workers out for the opposition. From a Democratic viewpoint the situation is clearing up very rapidly hereabouts with indications for small Republican vote owing to bitter party differences.

DRAINAGE IN STATE.

Reports to Wilmington Convention Will be Very Gratifying.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 29.—Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt, secretary of the North Carolina Good Roads Association and State Geologist, says that the reports to the State Drainage Convention to be held in Wilmington November 22nd and 23rd, will show wonderful progress in local drainage movements in many parts of the State under the operation of the State drainage district law, passed by the last Legislature. He says that 18 important undertakings of this character have been gotten under way and are assured of ultimate completion. The project for the drainage of Mattamuskeet Lake is the most extensive, involving as it does the entire 50,000 acre lake bed and extensive swamps that surround it. This has so far advanced that the district is definitely established through the prescribed steps for organization up to the appointment of the commissioners who will direct the actual work of drainage. The whole scheme is worekd out, the principal features being a canal drainage that will take off three feet of the lake water and the sinking of a big reservoir that will drain the bed of the lake to its lowest points, the reservoir to be relieved of acumulations of water by a pumping plant of immense capacity. The State is, through the State Board of Education the most extensively interested in the project, the lake-bed being the property of the State. It is yet to be determined whether the State will actually join in the drainage scheme or sell its holdings to private interests. The State education fund will profit by whatever revenue there is from this property.

WEEK'S NEWS AT LUMBERTON

Political Campaign Closes—North Carolina Actor—Romantic Marriage—Robeson County Court—Other Items.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumber, N. C., October 29—The political campaign proper closes in Robeson today at Maxton, and the balance of the time between now and the election will be devoted to beating the bushes by the different candidates in different sections of the county, some of them having appointments at several places next week. No one expects anything else but a big Democratic majority and anything else would be a big surprise.

The Democrats are working to see if they can't make a record-breaking majority for an off year. The registration books which closed today show about 100 new names registered, which makes the registration in Lumberton township about 700.

In the Music Hall Girl company which played at the opera house here last Monday night was a gentleman who was born in North Carolina 38 years ago but left the State when very young and had not been back within its bounds since he was six years old. Mr. George Paddison is the gentleman referred to. He is a nephew of Capt. R. P. Paddison, of Burgaw, and Mr. J. R. Paddison, of Mt. Airy, his father Mr. Edward Paddison, being a brother of the gentlemen named. His father was connected with the Memphis Appeal and died in that city many years ago. It was while his mother was visiting in North Carolina that he was born at the home of the late H. E. Newbury, at Magnolia. Mr. Newbury married a sister of the Messrs. Paddison. Mr Paddison stated, if we are not mistaken, that the last time he saw any of his relatives from this State was when Mr. Newbury visited him in Chicago during the world's fair in the early nineties. He says he can remember riding in a carriage or bus from Wilmington to the Sound on his last visit there when six years old. He has traveled from the Atlantic to the Pacific during his career on the stage, visiting possibly every State but this during the time, but not until this season did it come right for him to visit North Carolina. He was anxious to visit Wilmington and that section, but the route carried him from here into South Carolina. Mr. Paddison says his mother resides in San Francisco, but that he has not seen her in a long time.

The Boston Lyrics, the first of six attractions put on here this season by the Radcliffe Entertainment Bureau, of Washington, D. C., was the attraction at the opera house Thursday night. The concert was given under difficulties and a part of the programme had to be cut out, but the audience seemed to appreciate most of the numbers, and the concert was pronounced by some to be fine while others who do not care for such entertainment, did not like it. The company arrived two hours late from Fayetteville and did not get to work till after 9 o'clock The audience was tired and hungry, too having rushed from the train to the opera house without stopping to get supper. Everything being considered, we suppose the entertainment was as much enjoyed as any of the kind could be by a Lumberton audience.

A good deal of cotton is now coming tion have attended the Fayetteville Fair this week and reports the attendance large and exhibits fine. Several who were there Thursday were heard to make the remark yesterday that they never saw as many drunken people in one day as they saw on that day. They saw little disorder, however. The tiger victims generally were just "down and out."

Mr. Samuel V. Hunter, of the James Adams Show, and Miss Beatrice Bollinger, known on the stage as Miss Betrice Gibson, came down from Maxton Thursday morning and were married at 5 P. M., Rev. R. E. Sentelle performing the ceremony. Mr. Hunter is a native of Ironton, Ohio, and his bride of Fort Worth, Texas. Only a few days ago she played an engagement at the Crystal Palace in Wilmington. Mr. Hunter having played Lumberton twice, a week each time, has many friends here who extend him and his bride their best wishes.

A god deal of cotton is now coming in and all business seems to be good.

The November term of Robeson Superior Court for the trial of criminal cases will convene Wednesday, Nov. 9th, instead of Monday, the 7th, on acount of election on the 8th. There are 17 prisoners in jail awaiting court and, of course, several will be added before the convening of court.

The people of Lumberton regret exceedingly that there is among its inhabitants just a few young men who seem to be totally devoid of any respect for themselves or anybody else. Last Thursday night there were some strangers in town who had never been here before and knew no one. They arrived here late and found trouble to get lodging. Two ladies and a gentleman succeeded in getting rooms in the old Columbia Hotel and as a result of the bad conduct of two or three young men, were summoned before the Mayor yesterday morning as witnesses. They were already at the station ready to leave in a short time when an officer informed them that they must go with him to the Mayor's court. They lost no time in going back and Mayor Rowland, realizing the importance of quick action, allowed the ladies to tell him all they knew without getting out of the carriages. What do they think of Lumberton? Will they class the good people of the town with the two or three who have no regard for law, order or anything else. It is to be hoped that every law-abiding citizen who has any town pride and desire favorably to impress visitors will do all in their power to assist the town authorities in every way possible to put a stop to some of the rowdyism that is carried on here occasionally. Mayor Rowland and Chief Redfern are determined to teach some lessons if there is not some change in the conduct of some of those who seem to think they can run things just as they please. Lumberton at one time had a law which locked a man up if he was drunk enough on the street to stagger.

Our people are looking forward with much pleasure to the coming next week of the Demorest Comedy Company which will begin a week's engagement at the Lumberton opera house Monday night, presenting as the opening bill a beautiful new play which has not been seen here before. The company will arrive tomorrow (Sunday) morning from Rockingham and as nearly all the members of the company are well known here, it is expected they will be greeted by a packed house Monday night.

No one who saw the narrow escape of what came near being a disastrous fire here Thursday about 1 o'clock should ever kick on water tax. A small fire was discovered in the Chinese laundry and an effort was made to extinguish the flames without giving any alarm, but it could not be done, and when the fire whistle blew it was not long before the fire fighters had done the work. The wind was blowing hard at the time and everything was very dry. Only the water works aided by quick work saved the business part of town.

Mr. G. W. Pleasants, for the past two or three years engaged at McMillan's drug store, is now with Messrs. White & Gough.——The Republicans are expecting a large time here next Wednesday, when Mr. Meekins, of Pasquotank, is advertised to speak.

Quite a number of Bladen and Columbus shoppers arrived on the early train this morning. They realize that Lumberton is the place for them to do their trading.——Dr. and Mrs. H. B. McPhaul left this evening for Bay Minette, Ala., to visit their mother. They expect to be away about ten days, and during the time will witness the races in Atlanta.——It is a great pleasure to be able to report Col. N. A. McLean as improving. He hopes to be out again in a few days.——Mrs. W. S. Wishart and little daughter, Miss Elizabeth, spent yesterday in Rockingham.——Mrs. C. F. Cottingham, of Latta, S. C., who had been visiting relatives at Bellamy, came to Lumberton Thursday evening to visit relatives. She will leave for her home tomorrow evening.——Mrs. J. F. Wishart, and three children, of Wilmington, Del., arrived here Tuesday evening, and after spending two days with relatives, left Thursday evening for Maxton, where they will spend a short time.——Mrs. Wade Wishart, who had been spending some time with relatives at Whiteville, returned home Wednesday.——Mr. A. H. Hinds and family, who have been visiting in South Carolina, returned Thursday. Mr. Hinds is now able to get about with the aid of crutches.

"Polly of the Circus" will be in Fayetteville Thursday, November 3rd. It is expected that several will go over from Lumberton, but no special train will be operated for the occasion.

Many friends will regret to learn of the severe illness of Mrs. Ann Eliza Higley. She has been in feeble health for some time, but today was much worse.

CHRONIC ULCERS INDICATE BAD BLOOD

Where the blood is pure any wound or laceration of the flesh heals "by first intention." This is true because nature has provided a constituent to the circulation known as Plasma, which joins and holds the place together until the fibres and tissues can permanently knit and interweave. Whenever the ulcer becomes chronic it is because this healing quality of the blood has been impaired by some impurity in the circulation, and the place remains open, infecting all surrounding flesh, until the character of the circulation is changed. No sore can heal where the blood is bad; because the morbid impurities on which it thrives are constantly deposited into it by the burdened circulation. Cleanse the blood and the sore will heal of its own accord, because then its very source and foundation will have been destroyed. S. S. S. cures Chronic Ulcers of every kind for the one great reason that it thoroughly purifies the blood. It goes into the circulation and removes every particle of infectious or morbid matter, enriches the corpuscles, and assists nature in the formation of the necessary plasmic qualities of this vital fluid. No matter from what source the impurities of the blood came, S. S. S. will remove them. Book on Sores and Ulcers and any medical advice free to all who write.
